Diversifying the Teaching Force in Transnational Contexts Clea Schmidt, Jens Schneider, 2016-10-26 Diversifying the teaching force has become a priority in many migrant receiving jurisdictions worldwide with the growing mismatch between the ethnic backgrounds cultures languages and religions of teachers and those of students and families Arguments for diversification tend to be couched in terms of disproportionate representation and students from minority backgrounds needing positive role models yet research identifies other compelling reasons for diversification including the fact that teachers of migrant backgrounds often possess outstanding qualifications when multilingualism and internationally obtained education and experience are taken into account and the fact that all students including majority background students benefit from a diversity of role models in schools. Nevertheless the process of diversification is fraught with complexity. Depending on the context systemic discrimination, an oversupply of teachers in the profession generally and outdated hiring policies and practices can all impede efforts to diversify the teaching force. This volume comprises original research from Canada, the U.S., Germany, Ireland, Scotland, and England that problematizes issues of diversifying the teaching force and identifies promising practices. A foreword written by Charlene Bearhead of the National Centre for Truth and Reconciliation questions the very purpose of education in and for diverse societies. An introduction written by the editors defines key concepts and establishes a rationale for diversifying the teaching force in migrant receiving contexts. Following this, key international scholars offer empirical perspectives using a range of methodologies and theories rooted in critical social science paradigms. The volume informs future research programming and policy development in this area. The Times Literary Supplement, 1982 Race, Ethnicity, and Place in a Changing America, Third Edition John W. Frazier, Eugene L. Tettey-Fio, Norah F. Henry, 2016-12-29

Uses both historical and contemporary case studies to examine how race and ethnicity affect the places we live, work, and visit. This book examines major Hispanic, African, and Asian diasporas in the continental United States and Puerto Rico from the nineteenth century to the present, with particular attention on the diverse ways in which these immigrant groups have shaped and reshaped American places and landscapes. Through both historical and contemporary case studies, the contributors examine how race and ethnicity affect the places we live, work, and visit, illustrating along the way the behaviors and concepts that comprise the modern ethnic and racial geography of immigrant and minority groups. While primarily addressed to students and scholars in the fields of racial and ethnic geography, these case studies will be accessible to anyone interested in race-place connections, race-ethnicity boundaries, the development of racialization, and the complexity of human settlement patterns and landscapes that make up the United States and Puerto Rico. Taken together, they show how individuals and culture groups, through their ideologies, social organization, and social institutions, reflect both local and regional processes of place-making and place-remaking that occur within and beyond the continental United States. Cloud Services Race Zuri Deepwater, AI, 2025-02-18 Cloud Services Race examines the escalating competition in cloud infrastructure and AI services, revealing how a few dominant players are shaping the technology market.
