Working Within Diversity Myra Khan, 2023-07-21 In this reflective guide Myra Khan tackles what it means to work within diversity as a therapist to actively reflect on your own identity and experiences and how they affect the therapeutic relationships between you and your clients Presenting a model of anti oppressive practice the book examines topics such as power and privilege cultural humility and how professionals can work to remove barriers to counselling and therapy It focuses specifically on race ethnicity and faith while also considering the implications of intersectional identities The workbook elements of this book encourage self reflection and the implementation of new ideas within the therapeutic process There is an emphasis on practical application throughout the book and it will inspire readers to consider what working within diversity and working cross culturally really looks like in the therapy room itself

Racism in Psychology Craig Newnes, 2021-04-28 Racism in Psychology examines the history of racism in psychological theory practice and institutions The book offers critical reviews by scholars and practising therapists from the US Africa Asia Aotearoa New Zealand Australia and Europe on racism on the couch and in the wider socio historical context The authors present a mixed experience of the success of efforts to counter racism in theory institutions and organisations and differing views on the possibility of institutional change Chapters discuss the experience of therapists anti-Semitism intersectionality and how psychological praxis is part of a colonialist project The book will appeal to practising psychologists and counsellors socially minded psychotherapists social workers sociologists and students of psychology social studies and race relations

The Influence of Race and Racial Identity in Psychotherapy Robert T. Carter, 1995 A revolutionary theory a clinical watershed a masterful text The Influence of Race and Racial Identity in Psychotherapy Robert T Carter changes the course of a century of psychological theory practice and education He debunks the traditional belief that race has a marginal impact on personality development and with compelling empirical evidence demonstrates that race is the defining factor above other experiences of living in the United States and a crucial ingredient in the therapeutic process Carter presents models of racial identity for all racial groups and offers numerous case studies of various psychosocial resolutions within racial groups He constructs the first racially inclusive model of psychotherapy a rigorous conceptual framework that affords clinicians a deeper awareness of how racial issues affect their dealings with patients and creates a means of integrating that knowledge into their practices The Influence of Race and Racial Identity in Psychotherapy Defines the decisive role of racial identity in personality development Presents a racially inclusive model of psychotherapy Describes how this model is applied in a clinical context Proposes new counselor training programs based on this model This immensely valuable text helps students in multicultural counseling and psychotherapy develop an awareness of their own levels of racial identity as well as those of their patients For practicing therapists it opens new vistas in the therapeutic process and provides new avenues through which to better understand and serve their patients Race, Culture And Counselling Lago, Colin, 2005-11-01 This substantially revised edition builds upon the foundations laid down in the first edition which addressed amongst other subjects issues of race and power cultures and their impact upon communication and a review of the dominant theoretical discourses influencing counselling and psychotherapy and how these might impact upon mixed identity therapeutic relationships Difference and Diversity in Counselling Sue Wheeler, 2006-07-13 All counsellors are compelled to take account of the diverse society in which they practice and to inform themselves of best practice with all client groups This book provides a contemporary psychodynamic perspective on difference and diversity to bring practitioners up to date with current thinking when faced with a client who is in some way different References to race culture or disability in classical psychoanalytic literature are few In a society that embraces diversity and seeks to afford equality for all theories of male and female identity development need revisiting Older people make up a large proportion of the population and religious beliefs make headline news but psychodynamic perspectives on clinical work with such groups are limited Indeed the social context of the 21st century that provides the backdrop for the hopes fears and aspirations of our clients warrants attention as people and organisations are shaped by the social systems that prevail In the past decade equal opportunities legislation and the need to be proactive in thinking about diversity has begun to make its mark Complacency is no longer tolerated This book is essential reading for counsellors and psychotherapists in training and for experienced practitioners whose continuous professional development will be enhanced by re evaluating how diversity affects their practice Black Issues in the Therapeutic Process Isha McKenzie-Mavinga, 2009-01-15 The impact of slavery and colonialism still reverberates in black and ethnic minority communities but counsellors are often given little training on how to respond effectively to the profound effects on their clients Inspired by the author's own research this book explores creatively how the therapeutic relationship with people of African or Caribbean heritage can better take account of such deep seated intercultural issues Offering real life stories examples and poetry extracts the author reflects on students and practitioners understanding of their own connections with black issues and draws on layers of experience to give practical advice Filled with thoughtful and supportive guidance the book Provides direct techniques to assist empathic therapeutic work with the hurt of racism Explores questions that have been asked by practising and trainee therapists Develops readers understanding of key issues in a global and historical context Encourages practitioners to broaden their experience of working with black issues This unique and engaging book offers invaluable insight for all students counsellors and health care professionals who are seeking better understanding in their work with people of black African Caribbean origin

Arts - Therapies - Communication European Arts Therapy Line Kossolapow, Sarah Scoble, 2005 Stipulation of a present actual position of Art Therapy however inevitably leads to further thoughts about ongoing development Everything required for the theoretical practical founding of a European Art Therapy as discipline still has to be done including construction of a communicative bridge to partners in other continents or countries This development work has two strands of development One follows a more theoretical direction with European Art Therapy as a research and teaching subject as an objective in view The other is directed more towards practical fieldwork which in turn can lead to the establishment of funds of experience as well as quantitative and qualitative investigations and thus to theoretical methodical statements In the contributions on hand both connections pervade Naturally the individual articles in this collection do not fully expound the volume of art therapeutic work throughout Europe but they are a source of information and inspiration for the user from theory and or practice who can then find his particular niche with his own specific interests within the cross section and subsequently continue the discourse spatially and objectively

Black and Sexy Tracie Gilbert, 2021-11-29 This book offers a unique understanding of African American populations and their articulation of sexuality and race by introducing a comprehensive sexological model Black Sexual Epistemology Tracie Q Gilbert draws from theoretical perspectives of anti Blackness ethno sexuality Performative Blackness and African centered epistemology to implicate race as an inextricable factor in the sexual structures and schema of African American people Chapters identify and introduce a sex positive and comprehensive sexological model Black Sexual Epistemology through which Black sexuality can be understood and navigated in the contemporary era This model presents empirical data for effectively applying previous critical race perspectives and uniquely demonstrates how Black sexual experience can be better understood and reimaged for greater community development and healing This book is essential reading for practicing sex therapists marriage and family therapists and clinical social workers working with these populations as well as for academics and students of sexology sex education sex therapy social work marriage and family therapy public health Black African American studies and LGBTQ studies It will also be of interest to general audiences who appreciate culturally centered sexological scholarship Key
