Rehabilitation Within Communities:

Community Rehabilitation in Neurology Michael P. Barnes, Harriet Radermacher, 2003-09-04 Rehabilitation should not stop when the disabled person is discharged from hospital and many neurological patients require ongoing rehabilitation in order to maximize their functional abilities minimize complications and promote full participation at home and in the community This book analyses community rehabilitation needs from many different perspectives including the views of disabled people rehabilitation clinicians and service providers Many examples of community rehabilitation schemes are presented with evidence for their effectiveness and case studies are used to highlight the main issues The authors take an international view and there are chapters dealing with the disabled child in the community and with neuropsychological rehabilitation This important book examines the growing trend towards community rehabilitation in neurology and is directed towards all clinicians involved with neurorehabilitation

Community Rehabilitation Services for People with Disabilities Orv C. Karan, Stephen Greenspan, 2014-05-16 Community Rehabilitation Services for People with Disabilities delves into the changes happening in the disability services in the United States The book focuses on how these changes are affecting the way professionals and agencies relate to people with disabilities and their families The text aims to provide an introductory view of the community revolution in disability services The book is divided into three parts Part 1 breaks down the underlying principles of the community revolution in disability services Part 2 discusses the problems and issues in the implementation of these principles Part 3 accounts for the changes in practices and value orientations of professionals involved in providing services for people with disabilities The book will provide a rich source of insight for healthcare professionals social workers nurses caregivers teachers counselors psychiatrists therapists and community planners

Neurological Rehabilitation Michael P. Barnes, David C. Good, 2013-01-10 Neurological Rehabilitation is the latest volume in the definitive Handbook of Clinical Neurology series It is the first time that this increasingly important subject has been included in the series and this reflects the growing interest and quality of scientific data on topics around neural recovery and the practical applications of new research The volume will appeal to clinicians from both neurological and rehabilitation backgrounds and contains topics of interest to all members of the multidisciplinary clinical team as well as the neuroscience community The volume is divided into five key sections The first is a summary of current research on neural repair recovery and plasticity The authors have kept the topics readable for a non scientific audience and focused on the aspects of basic neuroscience that should be most relevant to clinical practice The next section covers the basic principles of neurorehabilitation including excellent chapters on learning and skill acquisition outcome measurement and functional neuroimaging The key clinical section comes next and includes updates and reviews on the management of the main neurological disabling physical problems such as spasticity pain sexual functioning and dysphagia Cognitive emotional and behavioural problems are just as important and are covered in the next section with excellent chapters for example on memory and management of executive dysfunction The final part draws the sections on symptom management together by discussing the individual diseases that are most commonly seen in neurorehabilitation and providing an overview of the management of the disability associated with those disorders The volume is a definitive review of current neurorehabilitation practice and will be valuable to a wide range of clinicians and scientists working in this rapidly developing field A volume in the Handbook of Clinical Neurology series which has an unparalleled reputation as the world's most comprehensive source of information in neurology International list of contributors including the leading workers in the field Describes the advances which have occurred in clinical neurology and the neurosciences their impact on the understanding of neurological disorders and on patient care
