Reinventing The University:

Reinventing the University Jan D. Sinnott, Lynn Johnson, 1996 This book offers a radically new vision of how the university might become a special sort of workplace community of thinkers and doers working together to understand and solve real human problems in a competitive global market It is a practical vision created by experienced authors Can the finest minds traditionally associated with universities devote themselves to the long term interests of the planet and our descendants What would happen if they could join together worldwide to find solutions to complex human problems What will happen to the university and to us if they do not

Reinventing the University, 1802 Christopher Schroeder spends almost no time disputing David Bartholomae's famous essay but throughout Reinventing the University he elaborates an approach to teaching composition that is at odds with the tradition that essay has come to represent On the other hand his approach is also at odds with elements of the pedagogies of such theorists as Berlin Bizzell and Shor Schroeder argues that for students postmodern instability in literacy and meaning has become a question of the legitimacy of current discourse of education Schroeder is committed then to constructing literacies jointly with students and by so doing to bringing students to engage more deeply with education and society

Reinventing the Research University Weber L. (ed), Duderstadt J. J. (ed), 2004 The fourth Glion Colloquium held in June 2003 brought together leaders of major higher education institutions or organizations along with guests from industry to compare perspectives on the future of the research university in America and Europe In part 1 papers by Frank Rhodes

Robert Zemsky and James Duderstadt Luc Weber and Pavel Zgaga as well as Howard Newby set the stage In part 2 Roger Downer James Duderstadt and Frans van Vught discuss the changing nature of education and scholarship Part 3 continues with papers by Robert Zemsky Andre Oosterlink Nils Hasselmo Marcel Crochet and Wayne Johnson on the changing interaction between the research university and broader society In part 4 Luc Weber Marye Anne Fox Frank Rhodes and Marcel Crochet discuss the challenges of financing and governing the contemporary research university Reinventing the University PriceWaterhouseCoopers LLP,1998-08-18 Real world solutions to the strategic problems confronting institutions of higher learning in the Digital Age Powerful market forces are rapidly expanding the landscape of higher education At issue is the traditional resident institution learning to accommodate a growing trend towards online and video education In this age of rampant technological advancement new standards for learning products and experiences will be developed and only the expeditionary institutions will be able to compete In this stand alone supplement to PricewaterhouseCoopers Reinventing the University a high profile group of administrators educators and business people explore the competitive challenges facing today s colleges and universities and outline proven strategies for meeting those challenges head on Never losing sight of the unique fiscal and regulatory demands associated with managing an institution of higher education these experts explore an array of strategic issues of vital concern to administrators including Applying lessons learned from the healthcare revolution to higher education Transformational strategy structuring your organization to take full advantage of new technologies and emerging market opportunities Expeditionary strategies for testing hypotheses and developing core competencies Forming partnerships and alliances with other schools and corporations Personalized marketing and other mass customization techniques for cultivating a loyal customer base Reinventing the University is a valuable source of insights and ideas for college administrators and board members as well as management and financial consultants who work with institutions of higher learning Psychosocial Pathways Towards Reinventing the South African University Sabrina Liccardo,2020-11-02 This book proposes a conceptual empirical framework for exploring forms of continuity and change along psychosocial pathways in South African universities It illustrates how the psychosocial pathways are grounded in the symbolic narratives and knowledges of young scientists engineers and architects all interlocutors in the research from which this book is based Alala Mamoratwa Welile Odirile Kaiya Amirah Takalani Nosakhele Naila Ambani Khanyisile Itumeleng Ethwasa and Kgnaya provide collective standpoints in the multiplicities within and between the lived lives and told stories of young Black South African women in Science Technology Engineering and Mathematics STEM fields In doing so this compelling work advances possibilities for demythologising scientific endeavour as a white male achievement and shifting knowledge communities across gendered racialised class and national divides This book presents an innovative narrative methodology utilising the myth of the Minotaur to examine the state of the university at the heart of the hierarchical labyrinth in post apartheid South Africa Throughout the work the author wrestles with and self reflexively highlights her own positionality as a white middle class South African woman to examine how this affects the production of this research in ways which serve to preserve the colonial knowledge system With the rise of the Rhodes Must Fall and Fees Must Fall student movement in South Africa demanding for the fall of institutionalised racial hierarchies the author uses the cover image of narrative formations in the spirit of exploration to think with and through undulating networked forms that could possibly forge new psychosocial pathways towards decolonising and reinventing South African universities This work offers a unique conceptual and methodological resource for students and scholars of psychosocial and narrative theory as well as those who are concerned about the politics of higher education both in South Africa and in other contexts around the world Conceptualising the Digital University Bill Johnston, Sheila MacNeill, Keith Smyth, 2019-01-16 Despite the increasing ubiquity of the term the concept of the digital university remains diffuse and indeterminate This book examines what the term digital university should encapsulate and the resulting challenges possibilities and implications that digital technology and practice brings to higher education Critiquing the current state of definition of the digital university construct the authors propose a more holistic integrated account that acknowledges the inherent diffuseness of the concept The authors also question the extent to which digital technologies and practices can allow us to re think the location of universities and curricula and how they can extend higher education as a public good within the current wider political context Framed inside a critical pedagogy perspective this volume debates the role of the university in fostering the learning environments skills and capabilities needed for critical engagement active open participation and reflection in the digital age This pioneering volume will be of interest and value to students and scholars of digital education as well as policy makers and practitioners Planet U R. Michael M'Gonigle, Justine Starke, 2006 Planet U places the university at the forefront of the sustainability movement Questioning the university's ability to equip society to deal with today's serious challenges such as economic growth democratic citizenship and planetary survival it calls for a new social movement to take a lead in reforming the university The book reviews the university's 900 year history from medieval religious philosopher to Renaissance nation builder to its modern function as training grounds for the world's managerial class and the world's largest industry It examines diverse campus initiatives across North America and Europe and their traditional concerns of green buildings renewable energy and transportation demand management But it also demonstrates the promise for social and ecological progress open to the planetary university once the university takes its place seriously and discovers its new mission to create diverse models of local and global innovation centered around tough new questions about what universities and their societies can achieve How might the university help move us to a post automobile energy saving society How might universities help refashion the city to be sustainable How might universities be governed for sustainability Lively engaging and perfectly timed for the UN Decade for Sustainability in Education launched in 2005 Planet U will have wide appeal Michael M'Gonigle Professor and Eco Research Chair of Environmental Law and Policy at the University of Victoria is a co founder of Greenpeace International and has published widely on sustainability issues Justine Starke is a Research Associate in the POLIS Project on Ecological Governance at the University of Victoria

Prefiguring the Idea of the University for a Post-Capitalist Society Gary Saunders, 2023-12-06 Using an Open Marxist theoretical framework this book provides a critique of the neoliberal reforms made to higher education since the late 1970s and the impact this has had on the sector Rather than arguing for a return to the idea of the public university the book argues that public and private models of higher education are both forms of capitalist accumulation and have historically perpetuated forms of oppression exploitation and discrimination thus a more radical solution that addresses both the current crisis of higher education and the contradictory and exploitative nature of late capitalism is required This book critically examines the autonomous learning spaces that emerged out of the UK student protests 2009 2010 and documents what can be learned from them to prefigure the idea of the university for a post capitalist society

Getting Published in the Humanities Jeffrey Kahan, 2014-01-10 In academia the mantra publish or perish is more than a cliché In most humanities fields securing tenure proves impossible without at least one book under your belt Yet despite the obvious importance of academic publishing the process remains an enigma to most young scholars In this helpful guide a seasoned author offers essential advice for novice academic writers seeking publication He explains why not all publications are equal why e books are not as widely respected as printed books in the academic world how to schedule publications prior to tenure how to spot a publishable idea how to approach the right publisher and a host of other useful tips that greatly increase one's chances of publication By outlining a step by step approach to publishing this indispensable manual removes much of the mystery surrounding an essential component of an academic career

The Search for New Governance of Higher Education in Asia K. Mok, 2010-08-16 The present volume sets out in the wider context of globalization to critically examine how selected countries societies in Asia have responded to the growing pressures of globalization for improving university performance in the global market place In order to enhance the global competitiveness of their higher education systems many governments in Asia have started comprehensive reforms and adopted new governance measures to enhance their universities Incorporation and corporatization have been identified as important strategies to restructure and re engineer university governance around the world Contributors in this volume critically examine how the quest for world class university status as a global movement has affected the way their universities are governed Despite the popularity of management reforms and restructuring exercises in line with neoliberalism and managerialism worldwide whether and how these reforms have actually transformed the heart of the public sector is still subject to debate This book offers critical reflections on the governance change taking place in the Asian university systems and examines how far the restructuring of higher education governance through incorporation privatization and corporatization has really transformed the values and practices of those who work in the higher education sector

The Routledge Companion to Reinventing Management Education Chris Steyaert, Timon Beyes, Martin Parker, 2016-06-17

The position and role of the business school and its educational programmes have become increasingly prominent yet also questioned and contested What management education entails and how it is enacted has become a matter of profound concern in the field of higher education and more generally for the development of the organized world Drawing upon the humanities and social sciences The Routledge Companion to Reinventing Management Education imagines a different and better education offered to students of management entrepreneurship and organization studies It is an intervention into the debates on what is taught and how learning takes place demonstrating both the potential and the limits of what the humanities and social sciences can do for management education Divided into six sections the book traces the history and theory of management education reimagining central educational principles and outlining an emerging practice based approach With an international cast of authors The Routledge Companion to Reinventing Management Education has been written for contemporary and future educators and for students and scholars who seek to make a difference through their practice

Reinventing Fire Amory Lovins, 2013-10 Oil and coal have built our civilisation created our wealth and enriched the lives of billions Yet their rising costs to our security economy health and environment are starting to outweigh their benefits Moreover the tipping point where alternatives work better and compete purely on cost is not decades in the future it is here and now And that tipping point has become the fulcrum of economic transformation In Reinventing Fire Amory Lovins and the Rocky Mountain Institute offer a new vision to revitalise business models and win the clean energy race not forced by public policy but led by business for long term advantage This independent and rigorous account offers market based solutions integrating transportation buildings industry and electricity It maps pathways for running a 158% bigger US economy in 2050 but needing no oil no coal no nuclear energy one third less natural gas and no new inventions This transition would cost 5 trillion less than business as usual without counting fossil fuels huge hidden costs Whether you care most about profits and jobs or national security or environmental stewardship climate and health Reinventing Fire makes sense It s a story of astounding opportunities for creating the new energy era Publisher description

The University as a Business Iris Saliterer, Paolo Rondo-Brovetto, 2011-05-13 Worldwide universities have recently been the object of large reform processes facing strong pressure not only from their institutional environment to offer new programs and to adopt new governance and management systems to keep up with the growing competition in the higher education sector but also because of calls for an increase in the efficiency and effectiveness of academic institutions The authors discuss the introduction of managerial approaches of university governance and the effects on the challenges and threats to treat universities like private for profit businesses The book is valuable reading for researchers and managers in the field of university governance

Reinventing U.P. as the National University Jose Veloso Abueva, 2008

Reinventing Richard Nixon Daniel E. Frick, 2008 Examining Nixon s autobiographies and political memorabilia Frick offers far reaching perceptions not only of the man but of Nixon s version of himself contrasted with those who would interpret him differently

He cites reinventions of Nixon from the late 1980s particularly the museum at the Richard Nixon Library and Birthplace to demonstrate the resilience of certain national mythic narratives in the face of liberal critiques And he recounts how celebrants at Nixon's state funeral at which Bob Dole's eulogy depicted a God fearing American hero attempted to bury the sources of our divisions over him rendering in some minds the judgment of redeemed statesman to erase his status as disgraced president With dozens of illustrations Nixon posing with Elvis the National Archives most requested photo Nixonian cultural artifacts classic editorial cartoons no other book collects in one place such varied images of Nixon from so many diverse media These reinforce Frick's probing analysis to help us understand why we disagree about Nixon and why it matters how we resolve our disagreements BOOK JACKET Organizational Learning Contracts Paul S.

Goodman, 2011-04-29 This book addresses a new concept the organizational learning contract a shared agreement among the faculty staff and students in an educational institution about what how where and when learning should take place Goodman who has pioneered the concept in his work with new and traditional institutions examines the consequences of strong and weak contracts while bridging theory with practice In the first section Goodman develops the concept of the organizational learning contract builds measures and looks at the consequences of strong versus weak contracts on student and institutional effectiveness indicators The second section which includes the perspectives of two leaders of start up institutions who have created new organizational contracts explores issues of design and change in introducing the concept into new and existing institutions
