Reinventing Public Education Paul Thomas Hill,2009 A heated debate is raging over our nation s public schools and how they should be reformed with proposals ranging from imposing national standards to replacing public education altogether with a voucher system for private schools Combining decades of experience in education the authors propose an innovative approach to solving the problems of our school system and find a middle ground between these extremes Reinventing Public Education shows how contracting would radically change the way we operate our schools while keeping them public and accessible to all and making them better able to

Reinventing Public Education Paul Hill, Lawrence C. Pierce, James W. Guthrie,2009-02-15 A heated debate is raging over our nation s public schools and how they should be reformed with proposals ranging from imposing national standards to replacing public education altogether with a voucher system for private schools Combining decades of experience in education the authors propose an innovative approach to solving the problems of our school system and find a middle ground between these extremes Reinventing Public Education shows how contracting would radically change the way we operate our schools while keeping them public and accessible to all and making them better able to meet standards of achievement and equity Using public funds local school boards would select private providers to operate individual schools under formal contracts specifying the type and quality of instruction In a hands on concrete fashion the authors provide a thorough explanation of the pros and cons of school contracting and how it would work in practice They show how contracting would free local school boards from operating schools so they can focus on improving educational policy how it would allow parents to choose the best school for their children and finally how it would ensure that schools are held accountable and academic standards are met While retaining a strong public role in education contracting enables schools to be more imaginative adaptable and suited to the needs of children and families In presenting an alternative vision for America s schools Reinventing Public Education is too important to be ignored

University of Washington A Primer on America's Schools Terry M. Moe, 2013-09-01 In this volume the eleven members of the Koret Task Force on K 12 Education provide a broad overview of the American education system pulling together basic facts about its structure and operation identifying key problems that hinder its performance and offering perspectives on the requirements of genuine reform

Charter Schools and Accountability in Public Education Paul T. Hill, Robin J. Lake, 2004-05-13 Charter schools are among the most debated and least understood phenomena in American education today At the heart of these matters is a contested question of accountability To survive charter schools must make and keep promises about what students will experience and learn under their purview However unlike public schools charter schools do not rely exclusively on their relationship with school districts They must also look to parents teachers and donors to cooperatively establish expectations of a particular school and its mission Aimed toward elected officials school reform activists and educators this book is the result of the first national scale study of charter school accountability The authors researched one hundred fifty schools and sixty authorizing agencies in Arizona California Colorado Georgia Massachusetts and Michigan These states contain the majority of charter schools that have been operating for three years or more and represent the major differences in state charter school legislation The authors include interviews from a range of participants in the field from state legislators and administrators to principals teachers and parents In assessing the structure of accountability as it works internally to bolster external confidence Hill and Lake suggest the struggle of charter schools actually complements those of standards based reform Both seek to transform public education to make schools responsible for performance not compliance

Making School Reform Work Paul T. Hill, James Harvey, 2004-09-30 Bringing change to our public school system is hard and the current system of education governance creates barriers that can make that reform even harder Here six authorities in public education discuss how local philanthropies can overcome them even if school districts cannot Making School Reform Work identifies new institutions that can be created by foundations and civic groups to remedy deficiencies in local school governance formulate bold reforms and guarantee implementation These institutions include incubators for starting new schools independent data analysis centers public private partnerships for recruitment and training of school leaders and new ways of funding and managing school facilities The contributors are Sarah Brooks Carleton College Michael DeArmond University of Washington Marguerite Roza University of Washington and Abigail Winger Milwaukee consultant

American School Reform Joseph P. McDonald, Cities and Schools Research Group, 2014-04-22 Dissecting twenty years of educational politics in our nation s largest cities American School Reform offers one of the clearest assessments of school reform as it has played out in our recent history Joseph P McDonald and his colleagues evaluate the half billion dollar Annenberg Challenge launched in 1994 alongside other large scale reform efforts that have taken place in New York Chicago Philadelphia and the San Francisco Bay Area They look deeply at what school reform really is how it works how it fails and what differences it can make nonetheless McDonald and his colleagues lay out several interrelated ideas in what they call a theory of action space Frequently education policy gets so ambitious that implementing it becomes a near impossibility Action space however is what takes shape when talented educators leaders and reformers guide the social capital of civic leaders and the financial capital of governments foundations corporations and other backers toward true results Exploring these extraordinary collaborations through their lifespans and their influences on future efforts the authors provide political hope that reform efforts can work and that our schools can be made better

Educational Inequality and School Finance Bruce D. Baker, 2021-02-09 In Educational Inequality and School Finance Bruce D Baker offers a comprehensive examination of how US public schools receive and spend money Drawing on extensive longitudinal data and numerous studies of states and districts he provides a vivid and dismaying portrait of the stagnation of state investment in public education and the continuing challenges of achieving equity and adequacy in school funding Baker explores school finance the school and classroom resources derived from school funding and how and why those resources matter He provides a critical examination of popular assumptions that undergird the policy discourse around school funding notably that money doesn t matter and that we are spending more and getting less and shows how these misunderstandings contribute to our reluctance to increase investment in education at a time when the demands on our educational system are rising Through an introduction to the concepts of adequacy equity productivity and efficiency Baker shows how these can be used to evaluate policy reforms He argues that we know a great deal about the role and importance of money in schools the mechanisms through which money matters for student outcomes and the trade offs involved and he presents a framework for designing and financing an equitable and adequate public education system with balanced and stable sources of revenue Educational Inequality and School Finance takes an issue all too often relegated to technical experts and makes it accessible for broader public empowerment and engagement

Homeschooling in America Joseph Murphy, 2014-02-04 This revealing and balanced portrait of homeschooling today provides a full history of the movement demographic insights and extensive research on how homeschooled children fare in the United States Delving into a movement that impacts more students nationwide than the entire charter school movement this book explores The history of homeschooling in America How this movement has grown in credibility and enrollment exponentially The current state of homeschooling including questions about who gets homeschooled why and what is the success academically and in life of students who are homeschooled The impact of homeschooling on the student and on American society In 2010 more than two million students were homeschooled In the most extensive survey and analysis of research on homeschooling spanning the birth of the movement in the 1970s to today Homeschooling in America shines a light on one of the most important yet least understood social movements of the last forty years and explores what it means for education today The Futures of School Reform Jal Mehta,Robert B. Schwartz,Frederick M. Hess,2012-09-01 The Futures of School Reform represents the culminating work of a three year discussion among national education leaders convened by the Harvard Graduate School of Education Based on the recognition that current education reform efforts have reached their limits the volume maps out a variety of bold visions that push the boundaries of our current thinking Taken together these visions identify the leverage points for generating dramatic change and highlight critical trade offs among different courses of action The goal of this book is not to present a menu of options Rather it is to surface contrasting assumptions tensions constraints and opportunities so that together we can better understand and act on the choices that lie before us City Schools Diane Ravitch,Joseph P. Viteritti,2003-05-01 How the story of NYC s schools contain lessons for other cities City Schools brings together a distinguished group of researchers and educators for an in depth look at the nation s largest school system Topics covered include the changing demographics of city schools the impending teacher shortage reading instruction special education bilingual education school governance charter schools choice school finance reform and the role of teacher unions City Schools also provides fresh and fascinating perspectives on Catholic schools Jewish day schools and historically black independent schools Diane Ravitch Joseph P Viteritti and their coauthors explore pedagogical institutional and policy issues in an urban school system whose challenges are those of American urban education writ large The authors conclude that we know a lot more about how to provide effective educational services for a diverse population of urban school children than performance data would suggest Contributors Dale Ballou University of Massachusetts Amherst Stephan F Brumberg Brooklyn College Mary Beth Celio University of Washington Gail Foster Toussaint Institute Michael Heise Case Western University Clara Hemphill Public Education Association Paul T Hill University of Washington William G Howell Harvard University Pearl Rock Kane Columbia University Frank J Macchiarola Saint Francis College Melissa Marschall University of South Carolina Thomas Nechyba Duke University Paul E Peterson Harvard University Christine Roch Georgia State University Christine H Rossell Boston University Marvin Schick Avi Chai Foundation Mark Schneider SUNY Stony Brook Lee Stuart South Bronx Churches Paul Teske SUNY Stony Brook Emanuel Tobier New York University Joanna P Williams Columbia University School Choice and Social Controversy Stephen D. Sugarman, Frank R. Kemerer,2011-12-01 In this important new volume distinguished legal and public policy scholars address issues that are critical to the successful drafting and implementation of school choice programs yet are usually overlooked in the choice debate They explore whether school choice is a threat or an opportunity to the many children who are largely deprived of choice today and they offer a variety of perspectives with some authors enthusiastic others more skeptical The book begins with a discussion of the types and extent of school choice what is known about its consequences and how politics has influenced its development It then focuses on three important public policy issues how school choice can revolutionize the way schools are financed what policy interventions are necessary to increase the supply of choice schools and how choice programs can be held accountable to parents and the state without undermining institutional autonomy The book addresses legal issues including whether public and private choice schools will be required to observe student and teacher rights generally recognized in traditional public schools how the religion and speech clauses of the First Amendment may affect the participation of religious schools in school choice programs whether school choice will enhance or aggravate opportunities for racial justice what the implications of school choice are for teacher unions and collective bargaining and whether children with disabilities will be accommodated in school choice programs under federal disability law Throughout the book the authors offer recommendations for public policy development The contributors are Jeffrey Henig Robert Bulman and David L Kirp Paul T Hill Robert M O Neil Jesse H Choper Betsy Levin William G Buss and Laura F Rothstein Stephen D Sugarman is Agnes Roddy Robb Professor of Law at the University of California Berkeley Frank R Kemerer is Regents Professor and director of the Center for A Democratic Constitution for Public Education Paul T. Hill, Ashley E. Jochim, 2015 This study focuses on governance of K 12 public schools Governance the work of institutions that set the rules under which schools must operate can protect children and prevent misuse of public funds but it can also prevent teachers and principals from doing their best for children There are proposals to simplify governance changing by giving control to mayors eliminating elected school boards or eliminating local oversight entirely This book approaches governance from a new angle who governs is less important than what powers government has Reconstructing the Common Good in Education Larry Cuban, Dorothy Shipps, 2000 What constitutes the common good in American public education This volume explores the ongoing debate between those who expect schools to cultivate citizens through personal moral and social development as well as to bind diverse groups into one nation and a new generation of school reformers intent on using schools to solve the nation s economic problems by equipping students with marketable skills Fix Schools First Jack E. Bowsher, 2001 An educator working with big corporations Bowsher argues that schools damage children that poverty minorities and low parental involvement are the result rather than the cause of poor student learning that appropriate responsibilities need to be established for teachers and administrators and School Choice Or Best Systems Margaret C Wang, Herbert J. Walberg, 2001-03-01 This book addresses one of the most urgent questions in American society today one that is currently in the spotlight and hotly debated on all sides Who shall rule the schools parents or educators

School Choice or Best Systems What Improves Education presents an overview of research and practical applications of innovative even radical school reforms being implemented across the United States These fall along a continuum ranging from parental choice to best systems At the one extreme are schools of choice which allow parents to choose and even govern schools for their children These include charter schools traditional private and parochial schools schools that are privately governed but publicly funded through vouchers and those that are funded by private scholarships provided by both corporations and wealthy individuals At the other extreme are centralized state or district systems based on reform initiatives and new systems of education that have been developed in response to views of citizens and legislators that schools can do much better These schools which specify uniform goals policies and programs for each school are highly innovative systems based on research or representing advanced thinking about what works and have attracted wide interest Important questions related to schools of choice and best systems are addressed How can we choose among schools of choice and best systems Among the various approaches within each of these alternatives How can we understand their guiding principles and operational practices What results do they produce How can we evaluate their claims In choosing among the alternatives how should issues of student achievement accountability costs feasibility and equity be factored in This volume brings together leading researchers and education leaders who have carried out the latest studies and advances in the field providing a forum for them to set forth the arguments and evidence that will be most helpful in making choices for tomorrow's schools It does not provide a single right answer values and preferences differ across parents schools districts and states However there are benefits for all from seeing the rigorous research challenging thinking and alternate points of view this volume presents
