Articles in English as a Second Language Justyna Leśniewska, 2019-06-02 The aim of this study is twofold firstly to provide an overview of research findings on the acquisition and use of articles in English as a second language secondly to investigate this issue from a phraseological perspective The book also presents an examination of various linguistic accounts of the English article system with respect to their application to English language teaching In view of the growing body of theoretical and empirical studies indicating that language use is to a considerable degree phraseologically motivated this book argues for a connection between formulaicity and correct article use This possibility is explored in two studies presented in the final chapter which suggest that correctness in the use of articles depends on the frequency of the phrases in which they appear These findings support the view that frequency driven conventionality in language may play a role in the acquisition and use of articles in L2 English This is a very important contribution to the discussion of the L2 acquisition of articles with particular regard to the L2 acquisition of English Such a discussion is required in view of the confusing variety of opinions expressed on this matter and the unsatisfactory nature of the pedagogical advice on offer to teachers of English as an L2 Dr Le niewska s study reviews the relevant literature interestingly and fully and it proposes an approach to article acquisition in L2 English which is long overdue Prof David Singleton Fellow Emeritus Trinity College Corpus Applications in Applied Linguistics Ken Hyland,Chau Meng Huat,Michael Handford,2012-04-26 Demonstrates the importance of corpus research to applied linguistics covering a range of areas Second Language Pronunciation Ubiratã Kickhöfel Alves,Jeniffer Imaregna Alcantara de Albuquerque,2022-12-19 In the field of second language L2 acquisition the number of studies focusing on L2 pronunciation instruction and perceptual production training has increased as new classroom methodologies have been proposed and new goals for L2 pronunciation have been set This book brings together different approaches to L2 pronunciation research in the classroom or in the language laboratory 13 chapters written by well known researchers focusing on a variety of first and target languages are divided into four parts Pronunciation development and intelligibility implications for teaching and training studies L2 pronunciation teaching L2 pronunciation training implications for the classroom and Pronunciation in the laboratory High Variability Phonetic Training Intended for researchers in the fields of second language acquisition phonetics phonology psycholinguistics speech therapies speech technology as well as second language teaching this book not only summarizes the current research questions on L2 pronunciation teaching and training but also predicts future scenarios for both researchers and practitioners in the field Linguistic Relativity in SLA ZhaoHong Han,Teresa Cadierno,2010-06-18 Crosslinguistic influence is an established area of second language research and as such it has been subject to extensive scrutiny Although the field has come a long way in understanding its general character many issues still remain a conundrum for example why does transfer appear selective and why does transfer never seem to go away for certain linguistic elements Unlike most existing studies which have focused on transfer at the surface form level the present volume examines the relationship between thought and language in particular thought as shaped by first language development and use and its interaction with second language use The chapters in this collection conceptually explore and empirically investigate the relevance of Slobin s Thinking for Speaking Hypothesis to adult second language acquisition offering compelling and enlightening evidence of the fundamental nature of crosslinguistic influence in adult second language acquisition
