Corrosion of Archaeological and Heritage Artefacts EFC 45 Philippe Dillmann, 2017-12-02 This special issue of Corrosion Engineering Science and Technology is dedicated to the study of corrosion of objects from historical sites. The issue contains contributions from the 2009 EUROCORN session on Corrosion of Archaeological and Heritage Artefacts organised by the European Federation of Corrosion's working party and commissioned articles on other key issues. The objective is to give the reader a broad understanding of corrosion of ancient materials for the most part metal but also glass. Articles shed light on a range of analytical approaches related to the study of the complex systems that make up historical artifacts. In order to arrive at an understanding of the nanometric organisation of rust layers and interphases such studies must be approached on a macroscopic scale. Techniques used include macrophotography, synchrotron radiation and transmission electron microscopy (TEM) that ensure results that are both exhaustive and representative of particular observations. This issue demonstrates the wealth of approaches possible in the study of the corrosion of ancient materials.

Paris and Her Treasures Ethel E. Bicknell, 1912 A History of World Egyptology Andrew Bednarski, Aidan Dodson, Salima Ikram, 2021-05-27 A History of World Egyptology is a ground-breaking reference work that traces the study of ancient Egypt over the past 150 years. Global in purview it enlarges our understanding of how and why people have looked and continue to look into humankind's distant past through the lens of the enduring allure of ancient Egypt. Written by an international team of scholars the volume investigates how territories around the world have engaged with and have been inspired by ancient Egypt and its study and how that engagement has evolved over time. Chapters present a specific territory from different perspectives including institutional and national while examining a range of transnational links as well. The volume thus touches on multiple strands of scholarship embracing not only Egyptology but also social history, the history of science and reception studies. It will appeal to amateurs and professionals with an interest in the histories of Egypt, archaeology and science. Expect the Unexpected Shane O'Connell, 2013-10 Overview coming soon The Journal of Egyptian Archaeology, 1923 Who Was Who in Egyptology Morris L. Bierbrier, 2021-12-31 The civilization of ancient Egypt has been a source of fascination for explorers and scholars for centuries and has occupied a special place in the imagination of the public ever since early travellers descriptions and illustrations of the strange culture of temples tombs and hieroglyphs began to circulate around the world The story of Egyptology from a hobby for the educated and wealthy to a highly formalized academic discipline provides the key to understanding how and why we know what we know about ancient Egypt This biographical dictionary tells the stories of the most important contributors and will be an indispensable reference tool for scholars and enthusiasts alike Who Was Who in Egyptology remains one of the most important reference works for understanding the characters that contributed to the field of Egyptology and Egyptian archaeology from the Napoleonic invasion of Egypt through to the present day The fifth edition bring entries up to 2019 and is expected to be the last volume produced in print

Confronting Colonial Objects Carsten Stahn,2023-10-06 The treatment of cultural colonial objects is one of the most debated questions of our time Calls for a new international cultural order go back to decolonization However for decades the issue has been treated as a matter of comity or been reduced to a Shakespearean dilemma to return or not to return Confronting Colonial Objects seeks to go beyond these classic dichotomies and argues that contemporary practices are at a tipping point The book shows that cultural takings were material to the colonial project throughout different periods and went far beyond looting It presents micro histories and object biographies to trace recurring justifications and contestations of takings and returns while outlining the complicity of anthropology racial science and professional networks that enabled colonial collecting The book demonstrates the dual role of law and cultural heritage regulation in facilitating colonial injustices and mobilizing resistance thereto Drawing on the interplay between justice ethics and human rights Stahn develops principles of relational cultural justice He challenges the argument that takings were acceptable according to the standards of the time and outlines how future engagement requires a re invention of knowledge systems and relations towards objects including new forms of consent provenance research and partnership and a re thinking of the role of museums themselves Following the life story and transformation of cultural objects this book provides a fresh perspective on international law and colonial history that appeals to audiences across a variety of disciplines This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4 0 International licence It is free to read on the Oxford Academic platform and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations
