The Madness of Art

Robert Phillips, 2003-03-01 Robert Phillips's conversational yet penetrating approach yields self assessments that read like new essays by the writers themselves Conducted over the course of twenty years many of these pieces were first published in the Paris Review Taken from a passage Henry James the title speaks to the madness that drives our greatest works of creativity Phillips's interviews bring out this madness in its most important sense the writers are seers and visionaries whose works inspire us beyond the limits of reason The conversations recorded in The Madness of Art attain that same level of inspiration and power Phillips questions his interviewees about their work methods daily lives influences sources of inspiration relationship to other literary figures response to critics choice of genre audience and reasons for writing

American Women Writing Fiction Mickey Pearlman, 2021-03-17 American literature is no longer the refuge of the solitary hero Like the society it mirrors it is now a far richer many faceted explication of a complicated and diverse society racially culturally and ethnically interwoven and at the same time fractured and fractious Ten women writing fiction in America today Toni Cade Bambara Joan Didion Louise Erdrich Gail Godwin Mary Gordon Alison Lurie Joyce Carol Oates Jayne Anne Phillips Susan Fromberg Schaeffer and Mary Lee Settle represent that geographic ethnic and racial diversity that is distinctively American Their differing perspectives on literature and the American experience have produced Erdrich's stolid North Dakota plainswomen Didion's sun baked dreamers and screamers the urban ethnics Irish Jewish and black of Gordon Schaeffer and Bambara Oates's small town often violent neurotics Lurie's intellectual sophisticates and the southern survivors and victims male and female of Phillips Settle and Godwin The ten original essays in this collection focus on the traditional themes of identity memory family and enclosure that pervade the fiction of these writers The fictional women who emerge here as these critics show are often caught in the interwoven strands of memory perceive literal and emotional space as entrapping find identity elusive and frustrating and experience the interweaving of silence solitude and family in complex patterns Each essay in this collection is followed by bibliographies of works by and about the writer in question that will be invaluable resources for scholars and general readers alike Here is a readable critical discussion of ten important contemporary novelists who have broadened the pages of American literature to reflect more clearly the people we are

Expensive People Joyce Carol Oates, 2009-04-22 Joyce Carol Oates's Wonderland Quartet comprises four remarkable novels that explore social class in America and the inner lives of young Americans In Expensive People Oates takes a provocative and suspenseful look at the roiling secrets of America's affluent suburbs Set in the late 1960s this first person confession is narrated by Richard Everett a precocious and obese boy who sees himself as a minor character in the alarming drama unfolding around him Fascinated by yet alienated from his attractive self absorbed parents and the privileged world they inhabit Richard incisively analyzes his own mismanaged childhood his pretentious private schooling his successful executive father and his elusive mother In an act of defiance and desperation eleven year old Richard strikes out in a way that presages the violence of ever younger Americans in the turbulent decades to come A National Book Award finalist

Expensive People is a stunning combination of social satire and gothic horror You cannot put this novel away after you have opened it said The Detroit News This is that kind of book hypnotic fascinating and electrifying Expensive People is the second novel in the Wonderland Quartet The books that complete this acclaimed series A Garden of Earthly Delights them and Wonderland are also available from the Modern Library
