Performance and Performativity in Contemporary Indian Fiction in English Maria-Sabina Draga Alexandru, 2015-02-04 This book starts with a consideration of a 1997 issue of the New Yorker that celebrated fifty years of Indian independence and goes on to explore the development of a pattern of performance and performativity in contemporary Indian fiction in English Salman Rushdie Arundhati Roy and Vikram Chandra Such fiction which constructs identity through performative acts is built around a nomadic understanding of the self and implies an evolution of narrative language towards performativity whereby the text itself becomes nomadic. A comparison with theatrical performance Peter Brook's Mahabharata and Girish Karnad's theatre of roots serves to support the argument that in both theatre and fiction the concepts of performance and performativity transform classical Indian mythic poetics. In the mythic symbiosis of performance and storytelling in Indian tradition within a cyclical pattern of estrangement from and return to the motherland and/or its traditions, myth becomes a liberating space of consciousness where rigid categories and boundaries are transcended.

On the Road to Baghdad, Or, Traveling Biculturalism Gönül Pultar, 2005. About the Book: This is a collection of essays on fiction written in English, Spanish, and Bengali that has emerged recently. This fiction is seen to reflect biculturalism that is the amalgam of two cultures that are both hegemonic in their own ways. This approach provides insight into the works discussed by uncovering elements of the seemingly other, non-Euroculture, and elevates both cultures to the same level. Authors discussed in the essays include Black British Caryl Phillips, Chicana Sandra Cisneros, Chinese American Maxine Hong Kingston, Cuban American Dolores Prida, Danish Izak Dinesen, Greek Americans Nikos Papandreou and Catherine Temma Davidson, Kenyan Ngugi wa Thiong'o, Japanese American John Okada, New Zealander Patricia Grace, Peruvian Jos Maria Arguedas, Turkish American G. neli G. n, and contemporary English language Indian authors Vikram Chandra, Chitra B. Divakaruni, Attia Hosain, Manju Kapur, Arundhati Roy, Salman Rushdie, as well as Rabindranath Tagore. Praise: Perhaps only a decade ago such an ambitious world-spanning project would have seemed absurd outside a congress of anthropologists or bankers. Today it represents a state-of-the-art sensibility reflecting the efforts of an equally various geocultural assembly of scholars. The implications for a community of readers not only interested in but competently sensitive to such far-flung narrative geographies is equally stunning. William Boelhower, University of Padua, Italy. Author of Through a Glass Darkly: Ethnic Semiosis in American Literature.

Nobel Prize in Literature: a case for India Professor AK Ghosh, 2024-09-05. Indian subcontinental writers of English fiction have always been confronted with onerous choices. Inheritors of literary tradition, riddled with regional and linguistic finitude, the mere choice of a proper name hopelessly parochialize their stories. Many critics wonder why such writers did not write in their regional languages; the answer to which is that that would invite self-exile from the common market of world literature. Translations, even the best of them, remain surrogate. It is therefore all the more satisfying that during the recent decades writers born on the subcontinent like Salman Rushdie, Hanif Kureishi, Vikram Seth, Amitav Ghosh, and others have leaped into mainstream English fiction and elicited critical acclaim. Indian writers in English, despite being largely confined to a small, typical Indian backwater, perhaps because of it have attracted a good deal of attention here and abroad They have brought to Indian literature a style and feel a conviction and maturity all its own We have started feeling like heading for a modern reconstituted Indian sensibility But after a long gap of Rabindranath Tagore s success we may ask ourselves as to why Indians cannot write great literature Perhaps Matthew Arnold s phrase lack of epochal significance applies to the literary works emerging from our soil Can we claim honestly that we have produced a single author who could match the great masters of Western literature A Flaubert A Faulkner Joyce A Tolstoy Family Relationships in Contemporary Crime Fiction Bill Phillips, 2019-04-23 Behind every crime novel there is a family The author s the hero s or the heroine s and that of the villains themselves Some families organise themselves into crime syndicates controlling drugs prostitution and illegal gambling Others are simply dysfunctional tearing themselves apart fathers against sons mothers against daughters sisters against brothers husbands against wives Not everyone escapes alive However families do not exist in a vacuum They are an important part of our society for many one of its most essential building blocks That being said society itself can impinge disastrously on personal relationships War that greatest of crimes leaves children bereft of parents Generations of children are stolen by cynical racist administrators in supposedly civilised countries Religion requires its followers to flourish and multiply while abandoning all including family for their faith All of these issues and more are explored in this collection of essays about crime fiction and the family
