Cinesonidos Jacqueline Avila, 2019 During Mexico's silent 1896-1930 and early sound 1931-52 periods cinema saw the development of five significant genres the prostitute melodrama including the cabaretera subgenre the indigenista film on indigenous themes or topics the cine de oranza porfiriana films of Porfirian nostalgia the Revolution film and the comedia ranchera ranch comedy In this book author Jacqueline Avila looks at examples from all genres exploring the ways that the popular regional and orchestral music in these films contributed to the creation of tropes and archetypes now central to Mexican cultural nationalism Integrating primary source material including newspaper articles advertisements films with film music studies sound studies and Mexican film and cultural history Avila examines how these tropes and archetypes mirrored changing perceptions of mexicanidad manufactured by the State and popular and transnational culture As she shows several social and political agencies were heavily invested in creating a unified national identity in an attempt to merge the previously fragmented populace as a result of the Revolution The commercial medium of film became an important tool to acquaint a diverse urban audience with the nuances of Mexican national identity and music played an essential and persuasive role in the process In this heterogeneous environment cinema and its music continuously reshaped the contested fluctuating space of Mexican identity functioning both as a sign and symptom of social and political change

Motherhood in Mexican Cinema, 1941-1991 Isabel Arredondo, 2013-12-19 How were femininity and motherhood understood in Mexican cinema from the 1940s to the early 1990s Film analysis interviews with filmmakers academic articles and film reviews from newspapers are used to answer the question and trace the changes in such depictions Images of mothers in films by so called third wave filmmakers Busi Cortes Maria Novaro Dana Rotberg and Marisa Sistach are contrasted with those in Mexican classical films 1935 1950 and films from the 1970s and 1980s There are some surprising conclusions The most important restrictions in the depiction of mothers in classical cinema came not from the strict sexual norms of the 1940s but in reactions to women shown as having autonomous identities Also in contrast to classical films third wave films show a woman s problems within a social dimension making motherhood political in relation not to militancy within the left but to women s issues Third wave films approach the problems of Latin American society as those of individuals differentiated by gender sexuality and ethnicity in such films mothers are citizens directly affected by laws economic policies and cultural beliefs

The Migration of Musical Film Desirée J. Garcia, 2014-08-01 Movie musicals are among the most quintessentially American art forms often celebrating mobility self expression and the pursuit of one s dreams But like America itself the Hollywood musical draws from many distinct ethnic traditions In this illuminating new study Desirée J Garcia examines the lesser known folk musicals from early African American Yiddish and Mexican filmmakers revealing how these were essential ingredients in the melting pot of the Hollywood musical The Migration of Musical Film shows how the folk musical was rooted in the challenges faced by immigrants and migrants who had to adapt to new environments balancing American individualism with family values and cultural traditions Uncovering fresh material from film industry archives Garcia considers how folk musicals were initially marginal productions designed to appeal to specific minority audiences and yet introduced themes that were gradually assimilated into the Hollywood mainstream No other book offers a comparative historical study of the folk musical from the first sound films in the 1920s to the genre's resurgence in the 1970s and 1980s Using an illustrative rather than comprehensive approach Garcia focuses on significant moments in the sub genre and rarely studied films such as All en el Rancho Grande along with familiar favorites that drew inspiration from earlier folk musicals everything from The Wizard of Oz to Zoot Suit If you think of movie musicals simply as escapist mainstream entertainment The Migration of Musical Film is sure to leave you singing a different tune Journal of the University Film Association, 1975 Bunuel and Mexico Ernesto R. Acevedo-Muñoz, 2025-03-18 Though Luis Buñuel one of the most important filmmakers of the twentieth century spent his most productive years as a director in Mexico film histories and criticism invariably pay little attention to his work during this period The only book length English language study of Buñuel's Mexican films this book is the first to explore a significant but neglected area of this filmmaker's distinguished career and thus to fill a gap in our appreciation and understanding of both Buñuel's achievement and the history of Mexican film Ernesto Acevedo Muñoz considers Buñuel's Mexican films made between 1947 and 1965 within the context of a national and nationalist film industry comparing the filmmaker's employment of styles genres character types themes and techniques to those most characteristic of Mexican cinema In this study Buñuel's films emerge as a link between the Classical Mexican cinema of the 1930s through the 1950s and the new Cinema of the 1960s flourishing in a time of crisis for the national film industry and introducing some of the stylistic and conceptual changes that would revitalize Mexican cinema Framing Latin American Cinema Ann Marie Stock, 1997 Proposes new critical directions in Latin American film Framing Latin American Cinema embraces multiple modes of scholarship juxtaposing feature films and documentaries and locating cinema within larger cultural debates Considering works from Argentina Brazil Cuba Colombia Guatemala Mexico and Venezuela the contributors address a range of topics including studies of directors like Roman Chalbaud and Fernando Pérez examinations of viewer patterns and critical tendencies and analyses of Mexican melodrama revolutionary films and such internationally acclaimed works as Dona Herlinda and A Place in the World
