Mexico in the 21st Century, 2003 A collection of multidisciplinary essays by Mexico's foremost scholars on Mexico into the 21st century Mexican Philosophy for the 21st Century Carlos Alberto Sánchez, 2023-09-07 Mexican philosophy has been relegated for far too long to the margins of philosophy's global scene Carlos Alberto Sánchez brings it to the front and centre by demonstrating that its figures methods and texts supplement enrich and broaden the scope and depth of both philosophy and our everyday understanding Explaining the context and thinkers associated with relajo zozobra nepantla corazonada tik and Mexistentialism Sánchez goes beyond a standard introduction of Mexican philosophy His sustained analysis of prominent concepts gives us a new vocabulary for understanding ourselves and the world we live in Based on the concrete experience of Mexican life we are introduced to influential thinkers and uniquely Mexican themes the primacy of history and circumstance and the intrinsic value of community Powered by a commitment to use Mexican philosophy to navigate the perplexing world we inhabit Sánchez challenges the blanket application of Eurocentric philosophy to our 21st century concerns This is an essential starting point for Latin American philosophy scholars and anyone approaching Mexican philosophy for the very first time RetroSpace: Collected Essays on Chicano Literature Juan Bruce-Novoa, 1990-01-01

RetroSpace is a collection of the seminal articles of the noted critic Bruce Novoa on the history and theory of Chicano literature The Bahamas in the 21st Century Nikolaos Karagiannis & Olivia C. Saund, 2009-03-05 Economies in the Caribbean and all over the world are grappling with the consequences of globalisation and the accompanying changes in the rules of international trade including loss of preferential markets and erosion of preferences This has resulted in increasing global competition for traditional products from these economies a situation compounded by rising energy costs and accompanying negative social ills such as unemployment rising criminality health and educational challenges and the like Besides many of these economies are facing a serious threat from climate change and the accompanying environmental problems What are realistic socio economic development options for The Bahamas given the policy space now available to its government In this era of neoliberal globalisation however we would find that there has been little of worth contributed to the concrete task of working out thorough strategies and consistent policies i.e. the local response for coping with these socio economic problems in The Bahamas Indeed it is surprising how little attention has been paid to developing rational strategies and policies aimed at providing a planning frame to deal with the multi dimensional problems of the Bahamian underdevelopment The edited volume The Bahamas in the 21st Century seeks to answer questions like these and to offer concrete policy recommendations while engaging scholars policy makers professionals students and all persons interested in the burning issues associated with this theme Mexico Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), Los Angeles County Museum of Art, 1990 Precolumbian art Viceregal art Nineteenth century art Twentieth century art Intellectuals and the State in Twentieth-Century Mexico Roderic Ai Camp, 1985 In developing countries the extent to which intellectuals disengage themselves in state activities has widespread consequences for the social political and economic development of those societies Roderic Camps examination of intellectuals in Mexico is the first study of a Latin American country to detail the structure of intellectual life rather than merely considering intellectual ideas Camp has used original sources including extensive interviews to provide new data about the evolution of leading Mexican intellectuals and their relationship to politics and politicians since 1920

Collaborative Social Design with Mexican Indigenous Communities Carmen Malvar,2023-03-16 This book builds on the work of anthropologists designers and ethnographers to develop an original methodology and framework for indigenous engagement and designer non designer collaboration in the field of social design Following a collaborative case study conducted over a five year period between the author project team and indigenous artisans in Mexico the book outlines the practical challenges of design research including funding logistics relationships between designers and communities failures successes and pivots Social design literature has often focused on introducing important questions to the design research process but fails to deeply interrogate and demonstrate how these theories inform research projects in action which can then be open to misinterpretation bias and unintended harmful consequences Centering the indigenous communities this book provides a detailed and clear example of not just why but how design and designers can work authentically and responsibly through different approaches and systems The book examines the specific cultural epistemological and socio political history of Mexico as it relates to colonization and indigenous peoples exploring the systemic influences of globalization and grounding the research in its unique context It includes field notes conversations with the indigenous artisan communities workshops and prototypes to offer unique insight into a detailed collaborative social design initiative This book intersects with the growing awareness of the necessity of decolonial approaches to design across the world and will be an important and useful study for academics students and researchers in social design sustainable development cultural studies and anthropology
