Latina Magazine, 2005. Familia Latina, 1984. The Development of a Gay Latino Identity Bernardo Garcia, 1997. Deconstructing Dads Laura Tropp, Janice Kelly, 2015-12-24. In the twenty first century fatherhood is shifting from simply being a sidekick in the parental team to taking center stage with new expectations of involvement and caretaking. The social expectations of fathers start even before the children are born. Mr Mom is now displaced with fathers who don't think of themselves as babysitting their own children but as central decision makers along with mothers as parents. Deconstructing Dads: Changing Images of Fathers in Popular Culture is an interdisciplinary edited collection of essays authored by prominent scholars in the fields of media sociology and cultural studies who address how media represent the image of the father in popular culture. This collection explores the history of representation of fathers like the bumbling dad to question and challenge how far popular culture has come in its representation of paternal figures. Each chapter of this book focuses on a different aspect of media including how advertising creates expectations of play and father crime shows and the new hero father and men as paternal figures in horror films. The book also explores changing definitions of fatherhood by looking at such subjects as how the media represents sperm donation as complicating the definition of father and how specific groups have been represented as fathers including gay men as dads and Latino fathers in film. This collection examines the media's depiction of the good father to study how it both challenges and reshapes the ways in which we think of family masculinity and gender roles. Speaking from the Body Angie Chabram, Adela de la Torre, 2008-11-20. In compelling first person accounts Latinas speak freely about dealing with serious health episodes as patients, family caregivers or friends. They show how the complex interweaving of gender, class and race impacts the health status of Latinas and how family spirituality and culture affect the experience of illness. Here are stories of Latinas living with conditions common to many: hypertension, breast cancer, obesity, diabetes, depression, osteoarthritis, rheumatoid arthritis, dementia, Parkinson's, lupus and hyper/hypothyroidism. By bringing these narratives out from the shadows of private lives they demonstrate how such ailments form part of the larger whole of Latina lives that encompasses family, community, the medical profession and society. They show how personal identity and community intersect to affect the interpretation of illness, compliance with treatment and the utilization of allopathic medicine, alternative therapies and traditional healing practices. The book also includes a retrospective analysis of the narratives and a discussion of Latina health issues and policy recommendations. These Latina cultural narratives illustrate important aspects of the social contexts and real world family relationships crucial to understanding illness Speaking from the Body is a trailblazing collection of personal testimonies that integrates professional and personal perspectives and shows that our understanding of health remains incomplete if Latina cultural narratives are not included
