Berlin Divided City, 1945-1989 Philip Broadbent, Sabine Hake, 2010 A great deal of attention continues to focus on Berlin's cultural and political landscape after the fall of the Berlin Wall but as yet no single volume looks at the divided city through an interdisciplinary analysis This volume examines how the city was conceived perceived and represented during the four decades preceding reunification and thereby offers a unique perspective on divided Berlin's identities German historians art historians architectural historians and literary and cultural studies scholars explore the divisions and antagonisms that defined East and West Berlin and by tracing the little studied similarities and extensive exchanges that occurred despite the presence of the Berlin Wall they present an indispensable study on the politics and culture of the Cold War Berlin nach 45 Michael Schmidt, Janos Frey, 2005 Schmidt's work has always focused on his hometown of Berlin and the book format has always been a fundamental element of his work One of his most important bodies of work Berlin Nach 1945 has never been published as a whole He has elaborated a powerful visual record of a city in a state of flux Photography and Place Donna West Brett, 2015-12-07 As a recording device photography plays a unique role in how we remember places and events that happened there This includes recording events as they happen or recording places where something occurred before the photograph was taken commonly referred to as aftermath photography This book presents a theoretical and historical analysis of German photography of place after 1945 It analyses how major historical ruptures in twentieth century Germany and associated places of trauma memory and history affected the visual field and the circumstances of looking These ruptures are used to generate a new reading of postwar German photography of place The analysis includes original research on world renowned German photographers such as Thomas Struth Thomas Demand Michael Schmidt Boris Becker and Thomas Ruff as well as photographers largely unknown in the Anglophone world Art & the City John Stathatos, 1996 With the link between the city and civilization in mind this text describes the varied views of the metropolis from the classical Greek city state to London under Margaret Thatcher and outlines the virtues and vices of the city compared with those of the surrounding countryside It presents a contrasting array of contemporary views of the city by artists architects and writers who through image and text offer their own dreams of urbanity in an attempt to define the magnetic attraction that is the city
