Unsuspecting Souls Barry Sanders, 2010-03-05 During the nineteenth century something vital went missing the human being In Unsuspecting Souls Barry Sanders examines modern society s indifference to the individual From the Industrial Revolution where the disappearance of care for human beings begins slowly to our own age where societal events require less person to person interaction Sanders laments that what makes us most human is slowly dying Our days are filled with little but a continuous bombardment of information demands on our attention that brings us out of our world and into one of inhumanity and abstraction We are losing entirely any palpable attachment to our physical reality And we ve also lost the original sense of a collective consciousness This loss has been fomenting for two centuries now dating back to the rise of European powers and worldwide colonization This has led to the notion that we need to define what is torture an idea that not long ago would have seemed absurd and need to pick our poisons among several forms of radical fundamentalisms each one not only a threat to the other but a threat to humanity itself From Edgar Allen Poe to Abu Ghraib this is a fascinating and worrisome story impeccably researched and compellingly written Molecules of Nature Paul F. Torrence, 2017-12-13

Molecules of nature are created by living organisms in their quest to survive and thrive in Earth's challenging environments This ages old evolutionary struggle has produced an immense library of chemicals from which humans have selected invaluable therapeutics critical to modern medicine Natural products presently provide half of all prescription medications and 70% of all cancer drugs The success of continued drug development from natural products depends upon the diversity of molecules of nature which in turn depends upon biodiversity Unfortunately human caused damage to the environment from pollution to habitat loss to overexploitation of resources is causing unprecedented ecological damage and death of species a mass extinction event Unless this biotic crisis is obviated humanity will lose a primary source of future novel medicines This book assembles a powerful argument for nature's critical role in providing medicines for humanity and how that irreplaceable service is threatened by the extinction crisis A sampling of the molecules of nature employed in modern medicine reads like a catalog of biodiversity For example one of the most prescribed drugs in the United States is lisinopril which controls high blood pressure Lisinopril originated from the venom of a deadly viper from the Amazonian forests A denizen of US southwestern deserts provided a therapeutic for type II diabetes The ancient horseshoe crab of the US Atlantic coast enables a critical test for deadly endotoxins in medical products of all kinds Once a diagnosis of acute lymphocytic leukemia in children was a death sentence A tropical flower from Madagascar provided two natural products that changed a 90% fatality rate to a 90% cure rate The Pacific Yew tree from the US northwest was discovered to contain the potent anticancer agent Taxol now vital in the treatment of breast and ovarian cancers and Kaposi's sarcoma This book tells the fascinating story of these and other medicines It also summarizes some of the driving forces of the Sixth Mass Extinction and shows how it threatens at least half of the planet's species with extinction We rightly ask What will be the future of medicine without the contribution of millions of species How many treatments for disease will be forever lost What cures are we asking future generations to forgo As we willy nilly extinguish the future of one organism after another together with all the knowledge they hold we are like the looters of the Great Library of Alexandria The final chapter challenges readers to pursue a different outcome By uniting our efforts we can still preserve many of the remaining species on our blue green planet and the invaluable gifts they offer Wicked Plants Amy Stewart, 2025-04-08
