Islam on Campus Alison Scott-Baumann, Mathew Guest, Shuruq Naguib, Saria Cheruvallil-Contractor, Aisha Phoenix, 2020-10-16 Islam on Campus explores how Islam is represented perceived and lived within higher education in Britain It is a book about the changing nature of university life and the place of religion within it Even while many universities maintain ambiguous or affirming orientations to religious institutions for reasons to do with history and ethos much western scholarship has presumed higher education to be a strongly secularizing force This framing has resulted in religion often being marginalized or ignored as a cultural irrelevance by the university sector However recent times have seen higher education increasingly drawn into political discourses that problematize religion in general and Islam in particular as an object of risk Using the largest data set yet collected in the UK this book explores university life and the ways in which ideas about Islam and Muslim identities are produced experienced perceived appropriated and objectified It asks what role universities and Muslim higher education institutions play in the production reinforcement and contestation of emerging narratives about religious difference This is a culturally nuanced treatment of universities as sites of knowledge production and contexts for the negotiation of perspectives on culture and religion among an emerging generation It demonstrates the urgent need to release Islam from its official role as the othered the feared When universities achieve this we will be able to help students of all affiliations and of none to be citizens of the campus in preparation for being citizens of the world
