The Study of Judaism Aaron W. Hughes, 2013 The relationship between Jewish studies and religious studies is a long and complicated one full of tensions and possibilities Whereas the majority of scholars working within Jewish studies contend that the discipline is in a very healthy state many who work in theory and method in religious studies disagree For them Jewish studies represents all that is wrong with the modern academic study of religion too introspective too ethnic too navel gazing and too willing to reify or essentialize data that it constructs in its own image In this book Aaron W Hughes explores the unique situation of Jewish studies and how it intersects with religious studies noting particular areas of concern for those interested in the field s intellectual health and future flourishing Hughes provides a detailed study of origins principles and assumptions documenting the rise of Jewish studies in Germany and its migration to Israel and the United States Current issues facing the academic study of Judaism are discussed including the role of private foundations that seek inroads into the academy

The Transformation of Judaism Jacob Neusner, 2011-03-31 Jacob Neusner describes analyzes and interprets the transformation of one system of the Israelite social order by a connected but autonomous successor system He characterizes the successive systems classifying the one as philosophical and the other as religious He explains the categorical account of each and sets forth the outcome of a number of topical studies on the category formations of Rabbinic Judaism with special attention to the social order politics philosophy and economics These systems emerged as 1 autonomous when viewed synchronically 2 connected when seen diachronically and 3 as a continuous construction when seen at the end of their formative age In their successive stages of categorical autonomy connection and finally continuity the three distinct systems may be classified respectively as philosophical religious and theological each one taking over and revising the definitive categories of the former and framing its own fresh generative categories as well The formative history of Judaism is the story of the presentations and re presentations of categorical structures In method it is the exegesis of taxonomy and taxic systems Now after more than two decades Neusner has decided to review the initial statement Since the book summarizes ten years of work from 1980 to 1990 on the Rabbinic category formations of social science politics philosophy and economics in the setting of the law and theology of Rabbinic Judaism from the Mishnah through the Bavli 200 600 C E it seemed well worth the effort to recapitulate the original work The revised introduction explains the omission of theology in his category formation philosophy religion theology Neusner s account of the Bavli produced the decade after this title was completed did not make possible the continuous description of the unfolding of the Rabbinic system The pattern that appealed to Neusner from philosophy to religion to theology has not yet come to a satisfactory account In the twenty years
