a Nonagenarian Sarah Anna Emery,2016-09-27 Excerpt from Reminiscences of a Nonagenarian Edited and Illustrated My grandmother after her afternoon nap usually joined her daughters with a pretence at knitting but she was not an industrious old lady There was no necessity for work and if idle hours are a sin I fear the good woman had much to answer for Leaning back in her easy chair she beguiled the time with watching the splendid prospect with its ever varying lights and shades or joined in the harmless gossip of some neighboring woman who had run in with her sewing for an hour s chat About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Newburyport John Hardy Wright,1999-11-01 Formerly the smallest city in Massachusetts Newburyport is considered to be one of the architectural gems of New England Its history both public and private is intertwined with and expressed by its structures Newburyport was incorporated in 1764 when it broke away from the early settlement of Newbury which was founded in 1635 by English livestock investors The port supplied England with large timbers for shipbuilding in the 1700s As international trade grew many merchants acquired great wealth which in turn helped build the city The devastating fire of 1811 prompted building ordinances requiring non wooden material and the beautiful Federal period brick structures in the downtown area are the result Today Newburyport is an historical destination the consummation of years of work in architectural preservation enriched by Yankee European and French Canadian cultures
