management Climate change Ulrich's International Periodicals Directory Carolyn Farquhar Ulrich,2001 Remote Sensing of Night-time Light Christopher Elvidge,Xi Li,Yuyu zhou,Changyong Cao,Timothy A. Warner,2021-08-09 Satellite images acquired at night provide a visually arresting perspective of the Earth and the human activities that light up the otherwise mostly dark Earth These night time light satellite images can be compiled into a geospatial time series that represent an invaluable source of information for both the natural and social sciences Night time light remote sensing has been shown to be particularly useful for a range of natural science and social science applications including studies relating to urban development demography sociology fishing activity light pollution and the consequences of civil war Key sensors for these time series include the Defense Meteorological Satellite Program s Operational Linescan System DMSP OLS and the Suomi National Polar orbiting Partnership Satellite s Visible Infrared Imaging Radiometer Suite Day Night Band Suomi NPP VIIRS DNB An increasing number of alternative sources are also available including high spatial resolution and multispectral sensors This book captures key methodological issues associated with pre processing night time light data documents state of the art analysis methods and explores a wide range of applications Major sections focus on NPP VIIRS DNB processing inter calibration between NPP VIIRS and DMSP OLS applications associated with socio economic activities applications in monitoring urbanization and fishing activity monitoring The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Remote Sensing Quantitative Remote Sensing of Land Surfaces Shunlin Liang,2003-12-12 Processing the vast amounts of data on the Earth s land surface environment generated by NASA s and other international satellite programs is a significant challenge Filling a gap between the theoretical physically based modelling and specific applications this in depth study presents practical quantitative algorithms for estimating various land surface variables from remotely sensed observations A concise review of the basic principles of optical remote sensing as well as practical algorithms for estimating land surface variables quantitatively from remotely sensed observations Emphasizes both the basic principles of optical remote sensing and practical algorithms for estimating land surface variables quantitatively from remotely sensed observations Presents the current physical understanding of remote sensing as a system with a focus on radiative transfer modelling of the atmosphere canopy soil and snow Gathers the state of the art quantitative algorithms for sensor calibration atmospheric and topographic correction estimation of a variety of biophysical and geophysical variables and four dimensional data assimilation Economic Activity and Land Use The Changing Information Base for Local and Regional Studies Michael J. Healey,2014-10-13 Concerned primarily with statistical data this text aims to provide a guide to the nature uses availability and limitations of the main data sources for interpreting and undertaking regional studies of economic activity It also considers the methods used for the collection of this data Dynamics of Forest Ecosystems in Central Africa During the Holocene: Past - Present - Future J. Runge,2008-02-19 This book consists of scientific papers resulting from an international workshop Environmental and Cultural Change in West and Central Africa

organized by the German Research Foundation DFG in Yaound Cameroon March 2006 Problems of Holocene and Late Pleistocene modifications of the rain forest savanna fringe and their possible influence on cultural innovations are discussed The book will be of interest to all concerned with tropical forests and related development problems of third world countries especially ecologists botanists and earth scientists It will be valuable for advanced undergraduates and postgraduates as a reference for review and overview articles as well as a source of information for new original manuscripts on the topic of Late Pleistocene and Holocene landscape evolution in the lower latitudes of Africa Palaeobotanists Palynologists and Quaternarists equally will find this edition useful for their work

Imaging Floods and Glacier Geohazards with Remote Sensing Francesca Cigna,Hongjie Xie,Karem Chokmani,2021-05-11 Remote sensing plays a pivotal role in understanding where and how floods and glacier geohazards occur their severity causes and types and the risk that they may pose to populations activities and properties By providing a spectrum of imaging capabilities resolutions and temporal and spatial coverage remote sensing data acquired from satellite aerial and ground based platforms provide key geo information to characterize and model these processes This book includes research papers on novel technologies e g sensors platforms data e g multi spectral radar laser scanning GPS gravity and analysis methods e g change detection offset tracking structure from motion 3D modeling radar interferometry automated classification machine learning spectral indices probabilistic approaches for flood and glacier imaging Through target applications and case studies distributed globally these articles contribute to the discussion on the current potential and limitations of remote sensing in this specialist research field as well as the identification of trends and future perspectives

Information Sources in Architecture and Construction Valerie J. Nurcombe,1996 The new edition first 1983 comprises 24 chapters each written by an expert in the field who describes sources and in addition provides instructions in methodology and hints on keeping up with advances in information Coverage includes architectural history conservation contracts and liability

Visualization in Modern Cartography A.M. MacEachren,D.R. Fraser Taylor,2013-10-22 Visualization in Modern Cartography explores links between the centuries old discipline of cartography and today s revolutionary developments in scientific visualization The book has three main goals 1 to pass on design and symbolization expertise to the scientific visualization community information that comes from centuries of pre computer visualization by cartographers and their more recent experiences with computerizing the discipline 2 to help cartographers cope with the dramatic shift from print cartography to a dynamic virtual cartography for which their role is changing from that of map designer to one of spatial information display and or interface designer 3 to illustrate the expanded role for cartography in geographic environmental planning and earth science applications that comes with the development of interactive geographic visualization tools To achieve these goals the book is divided into three parts The first sets the historical cognitive and technological context for geographic cartographic visualization tool development The second covers key technological symbolization and user interface issues The third provides a detailed look at selected prototype geographic cartographic visualization tools and their applications
