Malloy,2019-10-29 Christopher J Malloy s Aquinas on Beatific Charity and the Problem of Love examines the relationship between the desire for happiness and the love of another chiefly the love of God for His own sake Great thinkers judge the matters connected with this problem differently Aristotle and others contend that the desire for happiness grounds ethical activity Others contend that a pure love of God or of the other is not founded on desire for happiness The former charge the latter with leaving love groundless and the latter charge the former with reducing love to egoism Aquinas s appreciation of the Aristotelian tradition is forefront in his classic treatment of human action which begins with the desire for happiness Accordingly many readers proponents and critics read Aquinas as simply eudaimonistic There are however other principles at work in his thought these suggest a simple but profound difficulty in his thought one reflective of the subtlety of real life Are the two sets of principles contradictory Juxtaposed Considering beatific charity as the ultimate lens for this problem Malloy proposes that Aquinas s texts and principles are hierarchically harmonious while developmentally complex They indicate that love of happiness has a foundational role in human action and that love of God for His own sake has priority in the order of finality This ordered balance depends upon a conception of the common good in accord with a metaphysics of participation as having existence and formal perfection from and in likeness to the One Who Is created persons incline to love God more than and more intensely than themselves Thus love of the Divine Other while indeed the supreme love especially as deified through charity does not demand disinterested love God truly is man's good His true lover longs to be with Him

GOD, The Active Principle of Infinite Love M.J. Azhikannickal, 2022-01-04 Thought provoking and enlightening God The Active Principle of Love examines the dual componentency of the metaphysical and the physical that encompasses human existence Addressing the traditional teachings of a variety of world religions M J Azhikannickal deconstructs the conventional understanding of God and spirituality and presents a refreshing view of our relationship with the Divine Human spirituality is a Theo-centric metaphysical ideation attained by disciplined physical instrumentation Humans have a built in free will through which they choose to tilt to the positive or the negative Their choices impact society in general because as individual entities they are still intricately connected in the human aggregate Tendencies to the negative have led to the degeneration and disintegration of all society but an awareness of the Divine within us and a move to more positive choices will usher in a new era and a new civilization where every human being born and unborn matters Although philosophical in nature the book also touches on the practical implications of God as the active principle of love including justice relationships sexuality and charity Readers will be challenged to expand their understanding of reality and align their actions with their understanding of divine love
