Metropolis A Cinematic Laboratory For Modern Architecture:

Metropolis Wolfgang Jacobsen, Werner Sudendorf, 2000-10-31 The film that Fritz Lang made in the Babelsberg studios near Berlin in 1925 includes one of the first 20th century city fantasies Architecture in Cinema Nevnihal Erdoğan, Hikmet Temel Akarsu, 2024-04-26 In Architecture in Cinema more than 40 architects writers thinkers and academicians examine the magnificent works of cinema that contribute to the art of architecture and bring them to the attention of the architectural community The contributors have compiled essays on fifty masterpieces of classic and contemporary cinema including films such as The Cabinet of Dr Caligari Ben Hur The Lord of The Rings trilogy Nomadland and more The book aims to stimulate the imagination of readers and offer approaches to understanding fantasy sociological concepts ecological problems and political ideas The contributors also focus on the elements of creativity such as utopian or dystopian themes aesthetics and artistry Architecture in Cinema is an informative reference for anyone interested in how architecture is featured in the cinematic medium Scholars of architecture urban planning fine arts humanities social sciences and various design disciplines will also find the book refreshing Film Music Peter Larsen, 2007 Peter Larsen traces the history of music in film and discusses central theoretical questions concerning its narrative and psychological functions He looks in depth at film classics such as Howard Hawks's The Big Sleep and Hitchcock's North by Northwest as well as later blockbusters such as Star Wars and Bladerunner The Chameleon Effect Dietmar Froehlich, 2018-04-09 Architecture and film have many things in common Film narratives are embedded in scenes that visually support the story Sometimes architecture even performs the role of an actor Conversely film with its multifaceted changing atmospheres reveals new layers of architecture which outside the cinema would remain concealed In conclusion film as a mass medium influences the way architecture is perceived and its image in society Since the beginning of cinema architecture has formed a symbiosis with film With its systematic analysis this book offers a scientifically researched history of mutual influence starting with filmography as a typology of well known film sets through to the description of the chameleon effect between film and architecture Lumen Naturae Matilde Marcolli, 2020-05-26 Exploring common themes in modern art mathematics and science including the concept of space the notion of randomness and the shape of the cosmos This is a book about art and a book about mathematics and physics In Lumen Naturae the title refers to a purely immanent non supernatural form of enlightenment mathematical physicist Matilde Marcolli explores common themes in modern art and modern science the concept of space the notion of randomness the shape of the cosmos and other puzzles of the universe while mapping convergences with the work of such artists as Paul Cezanne Mark Rothko Sol LeWitt and Lee Krasner Her account focusing on questions she has investigated in her own scientific work is illustrated by more than two hundred color images of artworks by modern and contemporary artists Thus Marcolli finds in still life paintings broad and deep philosophical reflections on space and time and connects notions of space in mathematics to works by Paul Klee Salvador Dal and others She considers the relation of entropy and art and how notions of entropy have been expressed by such artists as Hans Arp and Fernand Léger and traces the evolution of randomness as a mode of artistic expression. She analyzes the relation between graphical illustration and scientific text and offers her own watercolor decorated mathematical notebooks. Throughout she balances discussions of science with explorations of art using one to inform the other. She employs some formal notation which can easily be skipped by general readers. Marcolli is not simply explaining art to scientists and science to artists; she charts unexpected interdependencies that illuminate the universe.

Weimar Surfaces Janet Ward, 2001-04-04 Germany of the 1920s offers a stunning moment in modernity: a time when surface values first became determinants of taste, activity and occupation. Modernity was still modern, spectacle was still spectacular. Janet Ward's luminous study revisits Weimar Germany via the lens of metropolitan visual culture, analyzing the power that 1920s Germany holds for today's visual codes of consumerism.

Shell Shock Cinema Anton Kaes, 2009-08-24 How war trauma haunted the films of Weimar Germany. Shell Shock Cinema explores how the classical German cinema of the Weimar Republic was haunted by the horrors of World War I and the devastating effects of the nation's defeat. In this exciting new book, Anton Kaes argues that masterworks such as The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari, Nosferatu, The Nibelungen and Metropolis even though they do not depict battle scenes or soldiers in combat, engaged the war and registered its tragic aftermath. These films reveal a wounded nation in post-traumatic shock, reeling from a devastating defeat that it never officially acknowledged, let alone accepted. Kaes uses the term shell shock, coined during World War I to describe soldiers suffering from nervous breakdowns, as a metaphor for the psychological wounds that found expression in Weimar cinema. Directors like Robert Wiene, F. W. Murnau and Fritz Lang portrayed paranoia, panic and fear of invasion in films peopled with serial killers, mad scientists and troubled young men. Combining original close textual analysis with extensive archival research, Kaes shows how this post-traumatic cinema of shell shock transformed extreme psychological states into visual expression, how it pushed the limits of cinematic representation with its fragmented story lines, distorted perspectives and stark lighting, and how it helped create a modernist film language that anticipated film noir and remains incredibly influential today. A compelling contribution to the cultural history of trauma, Shell Shock Cinema exposes how German film gave expression to the loss and acute grief that lay behind Weimar's sleek façade.

In addition to providing more than 150 encyclopedia articles on a large and representative sample of dystopian apocalyptic narratives in fiction film television and video games including popular works that often escape critical inquiry Dystopian States of America features a suite of critical essays on five themes war pandemics totalitarianism environmental calamity and technological overreach that serve as the foundation for most dystopian worlds of the imagination These offerings complement one another enabling readers to explore dystopian conceptions of America and the world from multiple perspectives and vantage points Red Vienna, White Socialism, and the Blues Robert B. McFarland, 2015 Reveals Ann Tizia Leitich American correspondent for Austrian newspapers in the 1920s and 1930s as an important cultural mediator between the two countries Music in Films on the Middle Ages John Haines, 2013-10-30 This book explores the role of music in the some five hundred feature length films on the Middle Ages produced between the late 1890s and the present day Haines focuses on the tension in these films between the surviving evidence for medieval music and the idiomatic tradition of cinematic music The latter is taken broadly as any musical sound occurring in a film from the clang of a bell off screen to a minstrel singing his song Medieval film music must be considered in the broader historical context of pre cinematic medievalisms and of medievalist cinema s main development in the course of the twentieth century as an American appropriation of European culture The book treats six pervasive moments that define the genre of medieval film the church tower bell the trumpet fanfare or horn call the music of banquets and courts the singing minstrel performances of Gregorian chant and the music that accompanies horse riding knights with each chapter visiting representative films as case studies These six signal musical moments that create a fundamental visual aural core central to making a film feel medieval to modern audiences originate in medievalist works predating cinema by some three centuries
