Michael Foster and the Cambridge School of Physiology Gerald Lynn Geison, 1978 Michael Foster and the Cambridge School of Physiology Gerald L. Geison, 2015-03-08 Despite great ferment and activity among historians of science in recent years the history of physiology after 1850 has received little attention Gerald Geison makes an important contribution to our knowledge of this neglected area by investigating the achievements of English physiologists at the Cambridge School from 1870 to 1900 He describes individual scientists their research the scientific issues affecting their work and socio institutional influences on the group He pays special attention to the personality and contributions of Michael Foster founding father of the Cambridge School Foster s specific research interest was the origin of the rhythmic heartbeat and the author contends that the school itself descended from and developed around this concern Originally published in 1978 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 Michael Foster and the Rise of the Cambridge School of Physiology, 1870-1900 Gerald L. Geison, 1970 Michael Foster and the Rise of the Cambridge School of Physiology, 1870-1900 Gerald Lynn Geison, 1971 Sir Michael Foster and the Rise of the Cambridge School of Physiology, 1870-1900 Gerald L. Geison, 1971 Studies from the Physiological Laboratory in the University of Cambridge, Edited by the Trinity Prælector in Physiology [Sir Michael Foster]. University of Cambridge. School of Physiology. Physiological Laboratory, Sir Michael Foster, 1876 Blake in Our Time Karen Mulhallen, 2010-01-01 Blake in Our Time explores the work of British poet and artist William Blake in the context of the material culture of his era In the 1960s University of Toronto scholar G E Bentley Jr almost singlehandedly shifted the focus of Blake criticism from formalism and symbolism to the materiality that contextualizes Blake s work Following in the footsteps of Bentley s pioneering scholarship this collection richly illustrated demonstrates that the locus of Blake s work lies in the elements that are historically particular to his place and time Topics include the impact of the town of Chichester on Blake s imagination the material processes of Blake s painting the detection of a Blake forgery and new biographical materials using archives and online resources on Blake s contemporaries patrons peers and friends Essays on the importance of Blake collections world wide on variant printings and on the heirs of Blake in British painting extend the focus of this remarkable investigation to include chalcography and book history The Organisation of Knowledge in Victorian Britain Martin Daunton, 2005-05-26 This collection of essays explores the questions of what counted as knowledge in Victorian Britain who defined knowledge and the knowledgeable by what means and by what criteria During the Victorian period the structure of knowledge took on a new and recognizably modern form and the disciplines we now take for granted took shape The ways in which knowledge was tested also took on a new form with the rise of written examinations New institutions of knowledge were created museums were important at the start of the period universities had become prominent by the end Victorians needed to make sense of the sheer scale of new information to popularize it and at the same time to exclude ignorance and error a role carried out by encyclopaedias and popular publications By studying the Victorian organization of knowledge in its institutional social and intellectual settings these essays contribute to our wider consideration of the complex and much debated concept of knowledge

Animals and Agency Sarah McFarland, Ryan Hediger, 2009-06-02 While many scholars who write about animals deal with animal agency in some way this volume is the first to position the question of nonhuman agency as the primary focus of inquiry Section I presents studies of actual animals demonstrating agency Section II moves agency into new terrain while considering key representations of animal agency in literature Section III analyzes animals as mediators and as conveyances of human to human communication and Section IV investigates the agency of beings who defy conventional species categories The Envoi demonstrates how the microscopic polyp is interwoven into notions of agency and mythical superagency This volume's interdisciplinary explorations press hard on issues of agency to open up space for more questions about how we can understand relationships between the human and the nonhuman
