Religion in Late Modernity Robert Cummings Neville, 2012-02-01 Religion in Late Modernity runs against the grain of common suppositions of contemporary theology and philosophy of religion Against the common supposition that basic religious terms have no real reference but are mere functions of human need the book presents a pragmatic theory of religious symbolism in terms of which the cognitive engagement of the Ultimate is of a piece with the cognitive engagement of nature and persons Throughout this discussion Neville develops a late modern conception of God that is defensible in a global theological public Against the common supposition that religion is on the retreat in late modernity except in fundamentalist forms the author argues that religion in our time is a stimulus to religiously oriented scholarship a civilizing force among world societies a foundation for obligation in politics a source for healthy social experimentation and the most important mover of soul Against the common supposition that religious thinking or theology is confessional and inevitably biased in favor of the thinker s community Neville argues for the public character of theology the need for history and phenomenology of religion in philosophy of religion and the possibility of objectivity through the contextualization of philosophy contrary to the fashionable claims of neo pragmatism This vigorous analysis and program for religious thinking is straightforwardly pro late modern and anti postmodern a rousing gallop along the high road around modernism Religion in Late Modernity Robert C. Collectivistic Religions Slavica Jakelic, 2016-05-23 Collectivistic Religions draws upon empirical studies of Christianity in Europe to address questions of religion and collective identity religion and nationalism religion and public life and religion and conflict It moves beyond the attempts to tackle such questions in terms of choice and religious nationalism by introducing the notion of collectivistic religions to contemporary debates surrounding public religions Using a comparison of several case studies this book challenges the modernist bias in understanding of collectivistic religions as reducible to national identities A significant contribution to both the study of religious change in contemporary Europe and the theoretical debates that surround religion and secularization it will be of key interest to scholars across a range of disciplines including sociology political science religious studies and geography Religion in Late Modernity Inger Furseth, 2007

Nonreligion in Late Modern Societies Anne-Laure Zwillig, Helge Årsheim, 2022-06-14 This volume presents results from new and ongoing research efforts into the role of nonreligion in education politics law and society from a variety of different countries Featuring data from a wide range of quantitative and qualitative studies the book exposes the relational dynamics of religion and nonreligion Firstly it highlights the extent to which nonreligion is defined and understood by legal and institutional actors on the basis of religions and often replicates the organisation of society and majority religions At the same time it displays how essential it is to approach nonreligion on its own by freeing oneself from the frameworks from which religion is thought The book addresses pressing questions such as How can nonreligion be defined and how can the nones be grasped and taken into account in studies on religion How does the sociocultural and religious backdrop of different countries affect the regulation and representation of nonreligion in law and policymaking Where and how do nonreligious individuals and collectives fit into institutions in contemporary societies How does nonreligion affect notions of citizenship and national belonging Despite growing scholarly interest in the increasing number of people without religion the role of nonreligion in legal and institutional settings is still largely unexplored This volume helps fill the gap and will be of interest to students researchers policymakers and others seeking deeper understanding of the changing role of nonreligion in modern societies

The Mainline in Late Modernity Maren Freudenberg, 2017-12-21 In the last fifty years religion in America has changed dramatically and Mainline Protestantism is following suit This book reveals a fundamental transformation taking place in the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America The ELCA is looking to postdenominational Christianity for inspiration on how to attract people to the pews but is at the same time intent on preserving its confessional liturgical tradition as much as possible in late modernity As American religion grows increasingly experiential and individualistic the ELCA is caught between its church heritage and a highly innovative culture that demands participative structures and a personal relationship with the divine In the midst of this tension the ELCA is deflating its church hierarchy and encouraging people to become involved in congregations on their own terms while it continues to celebrate its confessional liturgical identity But can this balance between individual and institution be upheld in the long run Or will the democratization and pluralization of the faith ultimately undermine the church This book explores how the ELCA attempts to resist the forces of Americanization in late modernity even as it slowly but surely comes to resemble mainstream American religion more and more
