Christian Green, 2019-05-19 A shared interest of law and religion is the advancement of human flourishing yet there is no common understanding of what it means for humans to flourish and the means by which to attain a flourishing life The concept of human flourishing is especially important for Africa where community and national development compete with forces of conflict and scarce resources In the broadest sense the concept of human flourishing focuses our attention on having a comprehensively good or worthwhile life but various religious and legal traditions suggest different norms for measuring the quality of life and designing the institutional structures that could best facilitate and preserve it

Debate Emma Long,2012-03-29 The Establishment Clause of the First Amendment governs the relationship between the institutions of the church and those of the state the Supreme Court as arbiter of the Constitution has since 1947 sought to determine where the line between the two should be drawn This book shows how and why the Court drew the line in particular cases and how and why the lines that were drawn by the Court had an impact on the relationship between institutions of government and the Church shaping US politics and society Using the Supreme Court s cases as a framework the book shows how the constitutional underpinnings of church state debates shaped the political economic and social debate

Constitutional Argument and Institutional Structure in the United States Nicholas Papaspyrou, 2018-03-22. US constitutional jurisprudence often conflates two distinct enquiries: how to interpret the Constitution and how to allocate interpretive authority. This book explains the distinct role of judgements about interpretive authority in constitutional practice. It argues that these judgements do not determine what qualifies as good constitutional argument and cannot substitute for it. Rather, they specify the division of labour between the political branches and the judiciary in forming applicable constitutional determinations. This explanation of the structure of constitutional reasoning sets the stage for the development of a normative theory about each enquiry. The book advances a theory of substantive constitutional argument. It argues that constitutional interpretation is a special kind of practical reasoning aiming to construct and specify morally sound accounts of the Constitution and surrounding constitutional practice. Yet this task is entrusted to a scheme of institutions as agents of free and equal citizens. The standard of review is an interlocking component of that scheme regulating the judicial assignment. As such, it should aim to facilitate best performance of the overall interpretive task so that the judicial process settles on appropriate constitutional determinations grounded on morally sound reasons that reach all citizens and uphold the fundamental commitments to freedom and equal citizenship.
