Ramet, 1998 Eastern Europe addresses the emergence of uncertain pluralism such as PhDs in the region following the disintegration of the communist regimes in 1989 Taking a broad historical approach the volume considers issues and challenges that have marked Eastern Europe from 1939 through World War II and the era of socialism up to the present Eight comprehensive country studies are augmented by detailed assessments of economic developments security issues religious currents cultural policies and gender relations in the region Orthodox Christianity and the Politics of Transition Tornike Metreveli, 2020-11-29 This book discusses in detail how Orthodox Christianity was involved in and influenced political transition in Ukraine Serbia and Georgia after the collapse of communism Based on original research including extensive interviews with clergy and parishioners as well as historical legal and policy analysis the book argues that the nature of the involvement of churches in post communist politics depended on whether the interests of the church for example in education the legal system or economic activity were accommodated or threatened if accommodated churches confined themselves to the sacred domain if threatened they engaged in daily politics If churches competed with each other for organizational interests they evoked the support of nationalism while remaining within the religious domain Nihil

Obstat Sabrina P. Ramet, 1998 Politics religion and social change in the post communist world of Eastern Europe and Russia Spirit of the Totem Irena Maryniak, 1995 The book presents an original interdisciplinary analysis of religious and mythological perspectives in fiction published in the Soviet Union between the mid 1960s and the mid 1980s In doing so it points to ways in which anthropological theory can be used as a framework for literary criticism It also shows how in the two decades before perestroika religion and mythology served as alternative models for the intellectual and political reorientation of Soviet society Selected works are explored with reference to a formative debate in anthropological studies on the nature and development of religion based on Edward B Tylor's theory of animism and Emile Durkheim's theory of totemism It is shown how the animist totemist dichotomy highlighted by the controversy is reflected in Russian religious thought before 1917 and particularly in the literature of the Soviet era Within the framework of this debate a selection of novels is discussed in the light of a range of mythological and religious systems Attention is drawn to the connection between Valentin Rasputin s religious vision and traditional Siberian beliefs particularly those of the Buryat The Georgian novel Data Tutashkia by Chabua Amiredzhibi is analysed with reference to Zoroastrian thought Daniil Granin's Kartina The Picture serves as an example of a work where in accordance with Tylor's theory notions of art and beauty take on an animist quality It is argued that early fiction by Chingiz Aitmatov reveals a tension between animist perceptions and the totemic understanding of religion and mirrors aspects of pre Islamic Central Asian religious tradition The writing of Vladimir Tendriakov offers an example of a vision divided between an awareness of Christian dilemmas and loyalty to Marxist Leninist sociological models The study also shows how Durkheim's theory of religion as an expression of a group's awareness of its identity can be related to ideas put forward by Russian nationalist writers Iurii Bondarev Sergei Alekseev and Vasilii Belov It suggests that examples of fiction by Petr Proskurin and later works by Chingiz Aitmatov and Vladimir Tendriakov indicate revived interest in the God building theory of Maksim Gor kii and Anatolii Lunacharskii In conclusion the book argues that subtextual religious and mythological narratives in Soviet fiction published in the years between the fall of Khrushchev and the Millenium of Christianity in Rus provided a model for new literary discourse under perestroika and for subsequent political Antireligious Activities in the Soviet Union and in Eastern Europe United States.
