Methodisch knüpfen die Studien an die Forschungen zur literarischen Übertragung der exegetischen Typologie in die Literatur durch Auerbach, Schwietering, Ohly u. a. an, bedienen sich aber eines in der neueren Forschung gebräuchlich werdenden der obigen Beschreibung entsprechenden Typologiebegriffs. Religious Experience and the Modernist Novel Pericles Lewis, 2010-01-07 The modernist period witnessed attempts to explain religious experience in non religious terms. Such novelists as Henry James, Marcel Proust, James Joyce, Virginia Woolf and Franz Kafka found methods to describe through fiction the sorts of experiences that had traditionally been the domain of religious mystics and believers. In Religious Experience and the Modernist Novel Pericles Lewis considers the development of modernism in the novel in relation to changing attitudes to religion. Through comparisons of major novelists with sociologists and psychologists from the same period, Lewis identifies the unique ways that literature addressed the changing spiritual situation of the early twentieth century. He challenges accounts that assume secularisation as the main narrative for understanding twentieth century literature. Lewis explores the experiments that modernists undertook in order to invoke the sacred without directly naming it, resulting in a compelling study for readers of twentieth century modernist literature.

Dimensions of Madeleine L'Engle Suzanne Bray, 2017-01-03 Best known for her Newbery Medal winning novel A Wrinkle in Time, Madeleine L'Engle (1918-2007) had a long and successful writing career. Her books enjoyed popular acclaim and she was in constant demand to give speeches, write forewords and advise and encourage younger authors. Yet her work, particularly her adult fiction, has been largely ignored by scholars. This collection of new essays gives overdue critical attention to L'Engle's complete body of work, from her familiar young adult fiction to her religious writings, poems and short stories.

Sentiments of a British-American Woman Owen S. Ireland, 2017-12-14 At the time of her death in 1780, British-born Esther DeBerdt Reed, a name few know today, was one of the most politically important women in Revolutionary America. Her treatise The Sentiments of an American Woman articulated the aspirations of female patriots and the Ladies Association of Philadelphia, which she founded, taught generations of women how to translate their political responsibilities into action. DeBerdt Reed's social connections and political sophistication helped transform her husband, Joseph Reed, from a military leader into the president of the Supreme Executive Council of Pennsylvania, a position analogous to the modern office of governor. DeBerdt Reed's life yields remarkable insight into the scope of women's political influence in an age ruled by the strict social norms structured by religion and motherhood. The story of her courtship, marriage and political career sheds light both on the private and political lives of women during the Revolution and on how society, religion and gender interacted as a new nation struggled to build its own identity. Engaging comprehensive and built on primary source material that allows DeBerdt Reed's own voice to shine Owen Ireland's expertly researched biography rightly places her in a prominent position in the pantheon of our founders both female and male
