Expertise Jessica Gerrard, Jessica Holloway, 2023-01-26 This book offers an important and timely critique of expertise showing how it is a keyword shaped by social historical and political debates about what counts as knowledge and truth and who counts as experts Using teacher expertise as an illustrative case Jessica Gerrard and Jessica Holloway reflect on recent events including COVID 19 and the climate crisis to examine how expertise is never neutral objective or fixed They argue that getting political is not just an inevitable part of teacher expertise but a necessary basis of any claim to it Across the chapters Expertise explores how expertise is socially constructed in relation to governance uses of data and evidence understandings of ignorance and the unknown and ultimately power Using contemporary and historical examples from international contexts the authors address the political positioning of expertise and how this creates boundaries between who is an expert and who is not and what is and is not expertise Gerrard and Holloway argue that ongoing policy debates about teacher expertise cannot be resolved by neutral definitions of good teaching Rather expertise is unavoidably political in its expression

Gender, Governance and Feminist Analysis Christine M Hudson, Malin Rönnblom, Katherine Teghtsoonian, 2017-07-14

This edited volume presents critical scholarship analysing governance practices in diverse jurisdictions in Europe and North America at multiple scales and in relation to several different arenas of policy and practice. The contributors address shortcomings in the mainstream literature on governance within the discipline of political science. The volume as a whole is marked by geographical and topical diversity. However, what the individual chapters have in common is that each considers whether and how gender, racialized identity and/or other axes of marginalization are visible within the conceptualizations and/or practices of governance under discussion. Drawing together insights and conceptual tools from both feminist and post-structuralist frameworks in analysing governance practices, this volume will be of great interest to scholars and graduates who engage with feminist and/or post-structural analysis of policy and governance. It will also be of use to critical policy scholars in anthropology, geography, sociology and women's studies.

Political Representation in the European Union
 Sandra Kröger, 2014-04-03. In recent years, the financial and economic crisis of 2008-9 has progressed into an equally important political and democratic crisis of the EU. These troubled times have set the framework to reassess a number of important questions in regard to representative democracy in the EU, such as the normative foundation of political representation, the institutional relationship between representatives and represented, the link between democracy and representation and new arenas and actors. This book examines the diverse avenues through which different sorts of actors have expressed their voices during the Euro crisis and how their various interests are translated into the decision-making process. It offers a state-of-the-art assessment of what political representation means in this context, as well as a contribution to the representative turn in democratic theory. The authors address three key themes: The main actors and channels of political representation in the EU; Interlocking levels of representation in the EU and the way in which national and supranational representation works; How the European institutional system represents EU citizens through law and administration. Focusing on the importance of representation in the legitimation of democracy, this book will be of interest to students and scholars of European Union politics, European studies, democratic theory, representation studies, civil society and transnational democracy.

Human-Centered System Design for Electronic Governance Saeed, Saqib, Reddick, Christopher G., 2013-03-31 As e government policies and procedures become widely practiced and implemented it is apparent that the success of technology in e government hangs on its consistency with human practices Human Centered System Design for Electronic Governance provides special attention to the most successful practices for implementing e government technologies This highly regarded publication highlights the benefits of well designed systems in this field while investigating the implications of poor practices and designs This book is beneficial for academics researchers government officials and graduate students interested and involved in design of information systems within the context of e government Ethics Sarah Banks, 2014-03-01 The past few years have seen a renewed interest in social work ethics and this volume argues that this phenomenon can be seen as reflecting two very different agendas On the one hand this interest is part of a progressive movement that critiques market oriented approaches to managing the public sector often called New Public Management NPM by emphasizing the role of social workers as agents for social justice On the other hand the growth of interest in ethics could be viewed as part of the NPM and its efforts toward controlling the conduct of professionals and service users The contributors explore both of these viewpoints emphasizing the importance of reclaiming professional ethics for social work and outlining a preliminary framework for doing so Adult Social Care Ferguson, Iain, Lavalette, Michael, 2013-10-23 Adult social care in Britain has been at the centre of much media and public attention in recent years Revelations of horrific abuse in learning disability settings the collapse of major private care home providers abject failures of inspection and regulation and uncertainty over how long term care of older people should be funded have all given rise to serious public concern In this short form book part of the Critical and Radical Debates in Social Work series Iain Ferguson and Michael Lavalette give an historical overview of adult social care The roots of the current crisis are located in the under valuing of older people and adults with disabilities and in the marketisation of social care over the past two decades The authors critically examine recent developments in social work with adults including the personalisation agenda and the prospects for adult social care and social work in a context of seemingly never ending austerity Equality and Public Policy Paul

Chaney,2011-01-31 Equality of opportunity is a contested concept It evokes strong emotions from proponents and opponents alike Enduring issues of inequality and discrimination mean that it remains at the forefront of political priorities in the twenty first century Traditional analyses tend to focus on developments at the level of the unitary state or European Union In contrast this book underlines the salience of multi level governance and offers the first detailed comparative analysis of contemporary efforts to promote equality of opportunity in the wake of constitutional reform in the UK It presents a summary of social theory on equalities in relation to gender and a full range of social groups and identities such as disability ethnicity sexual orientation and age It outlines the contemporary evidence base relating to patterns and processes of inequality in the devolved nations A governance perspective is also advanced one that details how constitutional law establishing the devolved legislatures contains equality clauses that enable and empower government to promote equality in public policy and law Analysis reveals the development of distinctive regulatory structures and equalities policy lobbies in each territory Overall this volume charts the development of divergent legal rights and public policy on the promotion of equality in the wake of constitutional reform in the UK Notwithstanding ongoing challenges it is argued that the move to quasi federalism is significant for it marks a shift from the predominant centralised administration of social policy witnessed throughout the twentieth century to divergent approaches designed to address contrasting socio economic patterns and processes in Wales Scotland and Northern Ireland
