Remaking the Middle East: The Long Arab 19th Century

The Current events stirring the Middle East can be discerned most easily as a matter of politics, economic, or culture, but steeped in complexity they are much more. In order to explain the rise of ISIL (Islamic State in Iraq and the Levant), the Syrian refugee question, the Palestinian Uprising, and the failure of the Arab Uprisings, this lecture reconstructs the regional history. It traces the roots of these events to the early 19th century (with emphasis on specific significant historical moments throughout since 1871 e.g. 19-48 Palestinian Nakba, the late 1970s expansion of neoliberalism).

It argues that the existing accounts of the regional historical accounts do not explain the political present or the unfolding geopolitical regional order. As such, and in order to explain the current geopolitical conditions, identify the root causes of the current events and their possible outcomes, a reconstruction of the regional history is essential.

The lecture will address the following interrelated topics:
The Rise of ISIL: Why ISIL?
The Syrian Refugee Question
The Palestinian Question and Colonial Zionism

Remaking The Middle East:

Remaking the Middle East: A Lowy Institute Paper: Penguin Special Anthony Bubalo, 2018-04-30 Not since the collapse of the Ottoman Empire has the Middle East been convulsed by so many events in such a short period of time Uprisings coups and wars have seen governments overthrown hundreds of thousands killed and millions displaced Parts of the region have become ungoverned or ungovernable Refugees and terrorists have become the Middle East's most noteworthy exports In Remaking the Middle East Anthony Bubalo argues that the current turmoil is the result of the irrevocable decay of the nizam the system by which most states in the modern region are ruled But if you look hard enough it is possible to spot green shoots of change that could remake the Middle East in ways that are more inclusive more democratic less corrupt and less violent Such an outcome is not inevitable but with so much commentary focused on what is going wrong in the region it is also important to identify what may well go right Remaking the Middle East Paul J. White, William S. Logan, 1997-04-01

How realistic is peace in the Middle East Certainly there appears to be a reduction in conflict and concrete improvements are clearly visible the Gulf War opened the door to regional realignments that paved the way for the PLO Israel peace agreement which in turn made peace negotiations possible between Israel and Syria Lebanon is rebuilding its cities following a cessation of its civil war Iran has evidenced signs of a rapprochement with the West Yet some analysts predict that these changes are doomed to failure With its longstanding territorial disputes and pronounced ethnic and religious divides will this troubled region ever resolve its conflicts Pessimists further contend that vexed problems such as gender relations and human rights violations remain unaffected by the processes of international political readjustment This provocative and interdisciplinary book tackles these controversial questions from a wide range of perspectives in an effort to unravel the complexities of this exciting area which is the spotlight of tremendous global concern never more so than at the present

Social Entrepreneurship in the Middle East Dima Jamali, Alessandro Lanteri, 2016-04-29 This two volume book unveils trends strengths weaknesses and overall dynamics and implications of social entrepreneurship in the Middle East region whilst identifying both opportunities and threats facing social entrepreneurship and supplements through a wealth of insights and examples inspired from practice and current applications The Regional Impacts on Turkey's Zero Problems with Neighbors Policy towards Iraqi Kurdistan Zeravan Muhsin, 2022-09-29 The combination of the war in Syria and the rise of ISIS has increased the role of non state actors in the Middle East politics This is of particular concern for Turkey on account of its long standing concerns regarding Kurdish nationalism particularly after the Syrian war which provides Kurds with a significant role in regional security affairs This book aims to examine the regional impacts of the Turkish government's Zero Policy with Neighbors ZPN in respect to Iraqi Kurdistan This has been achieved through an analysis of the impact on the ZPN policy of the following non state actors between 2011 and 2016 The Syrian Kurdish group represented by the Democratic Union Party PYD ISIS and the Kurdistan Workers party PKK State, Power and Politics in the Making of the Modern Middle East Roger Owen, 2013-01-11 Roger Owen has fully revised and updated his authoritative text to take into account the latest developments in the Middle East This book continues to serve as an excellent introduction for newcomers to the modern history and politics of this fascinating region This third edition continues to explore the emergence of individual Middle Eastern states since the fall of the Ottoman Empire at the end of the First World War and the key themes that have characterized the region since then

Remaking Islam in African Portugal Michelle C. Johnson, 2021-12-22 A portrait of Muslim migrants adapting to a new world and a new understanding of their own religious and cultural identity in a European city When Guinean Muslims leave their homeland they encounter radically new versions of Islam and new approaches to religion more generally In Remaking Islam in African Portugal Michelle C Johnson explores the religious lives of these migrants in the context of diaspora Since Islam arrived in West Africa centuries ago Muslims in this region have long conflated ethnicity and Islam such that to be Mandinga or Fula is also to be Muslim But as they increasingly encounter Muslims not from Africa as well as other ways of being Muslim they must question and revise their understanding of proper Muslim belief and practice Many men in particular begin to separate African custom from global Islam Johnson maintains that this cultural intersection is highly gendered as she shows how Guinean Muslim men in Lisbon especially those who can read Arabic have made the pilgrimage to Mecca and attend Friday prayer at Lisbon's central mosque aspire to be cosmopolitan Muslims By contrast Guinean women many of whom never studied the Qur'an do not read Arabic and feel excluded from the mosque remain more comfortably rooted in African custom In response these women have created a culture club as an alternative Muslim space where they can celebrate life course rituals and Muslim holidays on their own terms Remaking Islam in African Portugal highlights what being Muslim means in urban Europe and how Guinean migrants relationships to their ritual practices must change as they remake themselves and their religion

Evolving Security Threats and Identity in the United Arab Emirates Anna Reuß, 2025-09-26 This book examines and conceptualises the determinants of threat perceptions in the United Arab Emirates UAE and contributes to a better understanding of how a nation's self-conception shapes its perceptions of insecurity and emphasises the relevance of these dynamics for policymaking It combines the societal approach of the English School of IR with securitization theory to offer a novel framework for analyzing threat perceptions This book is relevant to students of Middle Eastern studies gulf studies international relations and scholars who are interested in theoretical perspectives

Turkish-Qatari Relations Özgür Pala, Khalid Al-Jaber, 2022-04-04 This book examines domestic and regional geopolitical dynamics behind Turkish-Qatari relations from the past to the present Utilizing arguments of practical geopolitical reasoning Özgür Pala and Khaled Al-Jaber situate their analysis of evolving relations in the contexts of Ottoman-British geopolitical rivalry in the Persian Gulf the Turkish Republic's fluctuating relations with the Middle East until the 2000s the AKP government's opening to the region and finally the Arab Spring and its aftermath Contextualizing the trajectory of Turkish-Qatari relations within the larger Middle East and the Gulf Arab region the authors argue that material interests and identity politics have generally determined relations until the turn of the millennium Under Erdogan and Sheikh Hamad s assertive leadership and ambitious foreign policy Turkey and Qatar came to witness various foreign policy convergences on critically important regional issues Pala and Al Jaber argue that these convergences coupled with their geopolitical and security goals facilitated a political alignment between Ankara and Doha throughout the Arab Spring They argue that despite facing major geopolitical setbacks Turkey and Qatar were able to chart a much deeper cooperation which later evolved into a strategic partnership in various areas Iraq Craig M. White,2012-07-10 Iraq The Moral Reckoning applies classic just war theory to the U S decision to go to war in 2003 That theory which evolved over several millennia is a simple profound tool for evaluating the rightness and wisdom of starting a war The Bush administration and its supporters referred directly and indirectly to the theory in making a pro war case to the world The theory provides three core moral criteria for a just war sovereign authority just cause and right intention which includes an aim of peace It adds three practical criteria proportionality of ends last resort and reasonable chance of success For a just war each criterion should be substantially met Since war is destructive and each country is presumed to have the right to live in peace the evidence in favor of war must be clearly stronger than evidence against it For each criterion Iraq The Moral Reckoning painstakingly weighs Bush administration statements or those of its supporters against evidence available at the time A wide range of viewpoints and evidence is considered and contrary arguments are refuted One full chapter is given to neoconservative arguments on just war theory and its application from prominent war supporters Each criterion except sovereign authority is shown not to have been met The book concludes with a discussion of the implications of an unjust war for the United States and the world The intensive weighing of each criterion against the facts and the balanced approach make the book unique By demonstrating a comprehensive application of the theory to one war it not only sets a new standard for evaluating the 2003 Iraq war but also shows how present and future wars can be better evaluated in moral and practical terms based on knowledge available at the time Regional Competition and Conflicts in MENA Dania Kolehlat Khatib,2025-10-31 This book studies four cases where competing regional players greatly shaped the ongoing conflicts in Syria Yemen Somalia the Horn of Africa and Libya Based on John Mearsheimer s theory of great power competition detailed in his book The Tragedy of Great Power Politics this publication examines an important period in the modern history of the MENA region starting from the Arab Spring until the beginning of the Gaza war The Arab Spring and the demands for democratization created a disruption leading to the fall of several dictatorships creating both a threat and an opportunity for regional dominant powers Those cases are studied in an instrumental manner Regional Competition and Conflicts in MENA helps readers interested in the MENA region understand the nature of the competition among regional powers and its effect on the course of those conflicts This book will be of particular use to students with an interest in Middle East studies Middle East politics conflict studies and international relations Remaking Area Studies
