Glyphs and Gallows Peter Wilton Johnson, 1999 In 1995 Peter Johnson went looking for a rare set of petroglyphs located on the outer coast of Vancouver Island near an abandoned whaling village Encouraged by archival research that yielded court records 90 year old correspondence and a tantalizing 1926 newspaper article Peter sought to tie these glyphs to the 1869 wreck of the trading barque John Bright and the bizarre colonial trial that followed He found more questions than answers Why for example were two Nuuchah-nulth men so readily hung from a gallows erected in front of their village at Hesquiat And how did this event relate to the rock carvings that Peter knew existed in a cove many miles south along the life saving West Coast Trail by the Graveyard of the Pacific This story explores the significance of particular petroglyphs colonial injustice and the European trading mentality on the west coast at the time of contact Peter interweaves a personal journal with historical narrative in order to Wong, 2018-10-30 A timely intriguing collection of the overlooked stories of Victoria's pioneers, trailblazers and community builders who were also diverse people of colour. Significant contributions were made by many people of colour with fascinating stories including the Kanaka or Hawaiian Islanders who constructed Fort Victoria and members of the Kanaka community such as Maria Mahoi and William Naukana, three Metis matriarchs Amelia Connolly, Douglas Josette Legac Work and Isabelle M. Mainville. Ross the Victoria Voltigeurs, the earliest police presence in the Colony of Vancouver Island and who were primarily men of colour, Grafton Tyler Brown, now known in the United States as one of the first and best African American artists of the American West, Manzo Nagano, Canada's first recorded immigrant from Japan and many more. With information about various cultural communities in early Victoria and significant dates, May Wong's City in Colour is a collection of fascinating stories of unsung characters whose stories are at the heart of Victoria's history.

Historical Dictionary of the Discovery and Exploration of the Northwest Coast of America Robin Inglis, 2008-04-02 The Northwest Coast of America, ranging from northern California through Oregon, Washington and British Columbia all the way up to Alaska, was the last temperate coastline to be placed on the world map. First visited by Russians in 1741 and thought to contain a navigable passage between the Pacific and the Atlantic, it was systematically revealed during an intense period of exploratory and commercial activity from the 1770s to the 1790s. Subsequently, the imperial ambitions of Russia, Spain and Britain and an assumption of manifest destiny by the United States led to further exploration and ensured that the region would become disputed territory before national boundaries were determined in the mid 19th century. The Historical Dictionary of the Discovery and Exploration of the Northwest Coast of America tells of the heroic endeavors and remarkable achievements, the endless speculation about a northwest passage and the fighting and manipulation for commercial advantage that surrounded this terrain. This is done through an introductory essay, a detailed chronology, an extensive bibliography, modern maps and selected historical maps and drawings, and over 400 cross-referenced dictionary entries. Entries cover the native people encountered, the scientists and artists who left an invaluable documentary and visual record of people, places, flora and fauna, the numerous voyages taken by men such as Vitus Bering, James Cook, Juan Francisco de la Bodega y Quadra and George Vancouver, overland expeditions like those of Alexander Mackenzie, Simon Fraser, Meriwether Lewis and William Clark and David Thompson, and maritime fur traders including George Dixon, Grigori Shelikhov, Robert Gray and William Sturgis. No other dictionary exists that is dedicated solely to the coverage of this region.

Possessing Meares Island Barry Gough, 2021-11-13 A fascinating account that links early maritime history, Indigenous land rights and modern environmental advocacy in the Clayoquot Sound region by award-winning author and historian Barry Gough. Centred on Meares Island, located near Tofino on Vancouver Island's west coast, Possessing Meares Island weaves a unique history out of the mists of time by connecting eighteenth century Indigenous colonial trade relations to more recent historical upheavals Gough invites readers to enter a dramatic epoch of BC's coastal history and watch the Nuuchah nations spearhead the maritime sea otter trade led by powerful chiefs like Wicannish and Maquinna Eventually Meares Island declines into an economic backwater due to overhunting the sea otter the bloody Clayoquot War of 1855 and most importantly the proxy of empire the Hudson's Bay Company establishing colonial roots in nearby Victoria Caught up in the tides of change the Treaty of 1846 ushers in a new era as the island is officially declared property of the British crown Gough bridges the gap between centuries as he describes how the Nuuchah Tribal Council draw on this complicated history of ownership to invoke their legal claim to the land and defend the majestic wilderness from the indiscriminate clear cut saw Possessing Meares Island will not only appeal to history buffs but to anyone interested in a momentous triumph for Indigenous rights and environmental protection that echoes across the nation today
