Cerebral Cortex Alan Peters,John H. Morrison,1999-09-30 This volume of Cerebral Cortex is dedicated to Sir

John Eccles who was an active member of the advisory board for the series until his death in May 1997 His input as to what topics should be covered in future volumes of this series will be sorely missed The present volume is concerned with neurodegenerative disorders and age related changes in the structure and function of the cerebral cortex a topic that has attracted increasing interest as longevity and the number of aged individuals in the population increase Although much of the research on the neurodegenerative effects of aging has been centered on Alzheimer s disease most of the aging population will not be afflicted by this disease They will however be affected by the consequences of normal aging so the first few chapters of this volume are concerned with that topic Chapter 1 by Marilyn S Albert and Mark B Moss gives an account of the cognitive changes that accompany normal human aging Chapter 2 by Mark B Transforming Ethos Rosanne Carlo,2020-09-01 In Transforming Ethos Rosanne Carlo synthesizes philosophy rhetorical theory and composition theory to clarify the role of ethos and its potential for identification and pedagogy for writing studies Carlo renews focus on the ethos appeal and highlights its connection to materiality and place as a powerful instrument for writing and its teaching one that insists on the relational and multimodal aspects of writing and makes prominent its inherent ethical considerations and possibilities Through case studies of professional and student writings as well as narrative reflections Transforming Ethos imagines the ethos appeal as not only connected to style and voice but also a process of habituation related to practices of everyday interaction in places and with things Carlo addresses how ethos aids in creating identification transcending divisions between the self and other She shows that when writers tell their experiences they create and reveal the ethos appeal and this type of narrative multimodal writing is central to scholarship in rhetoric and composition as well as the teaching of writing In addition Carlo considers how composition is becoming compromised by professionalization particularly through the idea of transfer which is overtaking the critical work of self development with others that a writing classroom should encourage in college students Transforming Ethos cements ethos as an essential term for the modern practice and teaching of rhetoric and places it at the heart of writing studies This book will be significant for students and scholars in rhetoric and composition as well as those interested in higher education more broadly
