Tu Fu: Remembered Jean Elizabeth, Poet Laureate Ward,2008-08-11 Du Fu Remembered is illustrated with both Chinese and English translations and poetry inspired by and given homage to by American Poet Laureate Jean Elizabeth Ward, who has not attempted to be perfectly concise or figure out what Du Fu is saying. She writes whatever comes into her mind when she reads Du Fu's poetry. The Memory of Nature in Aboriginal, Canadian and American Contexts Françoise Besson, Claire Omhové, Héliane Ventura,2014-06-12 This volume engages the reader's interest in the relationship that binds man to nature, a relationship which makes itself manifest through certain literary or visual artefacts produced by Native or non-Native writers and artists. It ranges from the study of literatures, mainly from Canada including Quebec and Acadia, but also from Britain, the United States of America, France, Turkey, and Australia, to the exploration of films, photographs, paintings, and sculptures produced by Aboriginal artists from North America. Thanks to a relational paradigm founded on spatial and temporal enlargement, it reimagines the critical outlook on indigenous production by instigating a dialogue between endogenous and exogenous scholars, novelists, and artists, and by weaving together interdisciplinary approaches spanning anthropology, geology, ecocriticism, and the study of myths. From the writings by Scott Momaday to those by Tomson Highway, from Pauline Johnson to Louise Erdrich, or from the photographs by William McFarlane, Notman, and Edward Burtynsky, or the films by Randy Redroad, to the paintings by Emily Carr, it explores art as the sedimentation of nature. It simultaneously interrogates the representation of nature and the nature of representation as a geological and generic process inscribed in the history of mankind. Without eclipsing differences and imposing a reified Eurocentric critical discourse upon indigenous productions, this volume does not colonize indigenous texts or indulge in cultural appropriation of works of art, but looks for historical, mythological, or geological traces of the past, a past characterized by the intimacy between man and animal, man and rock, or man and plant, a past which is allowed to resurface through the creative and critical outlooks that are bestowed upon its subjugated or subterranean existence. It resurfaces not as nostalgic memory, but as an interactive fertilization giving the present a new life in which the non-human provides a key to the understanding of the human bond to nature.

The Suburban Alexander McNeil,1907 Memory Formation in Isaiah 40-55 Megan C. Roberts,2025-08-11 While scholars recognize that comfort and memory are dominant interconnected themes in Isaiah 40 55 the phenomenon of collective memory itself has not received specific attention to clarify why memory is connected to comfort Sociological memory studies and trauma theory fill this methodological gap by explaining the nature of memory framework formation within Second Isaiah Jacob Israel and Zion as poetic figures exemplify the broken memory frameworks of exilic Judeans that do not lead to comfort This analysis of Isa 40 55 then reveals Yahweh s poetic process by which he re forms his people s memory frameworks so that they can receive comfort

A Complete Word and Phrase Concordance to the Poems and Songs of Robert Burns Joseph B. Reid,1889 C. S. Lewis Remembered Harry Lee Poe,2009-05-26 What was it like to have C S Lewis as a teacher Most people know C S Lewis through his writings but in his lifetime he was first and foremost a teacher Now those who were influenced by what they learned from his teaching offer a unique view of one of the most influential Christian writers of all time What was it like to study under C S Lewis when he taught at Oxford and Cambridge How did his influence and teaching create a legacy that has influenced educators since C S

Lewis Remembered is a collection of interviews and essays that offer personal perspectives on Lewis the teacher and Lewis the man. These recollections portray him in all his humanity both the irascibility and the brilliance both the ferocity of his intellectual precision and the eagerness of his curiosity. Some of this book's contributors chose to study with Lewis because of his Christian faith. Others admired him as a scholar but never shared Lewis's interest in religion. Still others shared his mere Christianity but differed with him over his Protestantism. But all of them came into contact with Lewis when they were young adults whether they were students, colleagues or those who knew him informally as a teacher. Many of them followed in his footsteps and became educators as well. Former students such as W. Brown Patterson, Peter Milward and Peter Bayley talk about what it was like to study under Lewis. A recent lecture by Walter Hooper and essays by such noted scholars as Barbara Reynolds offer additional insight on Lewis and his influence. Also included are pieces by Lewis's godson, Lawrence Harwood, a transcript of an interview with Owen Barfield, a friend who knew Lewis from the time Lewis returned to Oxford after World War I and who played an important role in Lewis's shift from atheism to belief in God, and a hitherto unpublished sketch of Lewis by Mary Shelley Neylan. In addition, an article that appeared in SF Horizons, a magazine for science fiction fans, offers a transcript of a taped conversation between C. S. Lewis, Kingsley Amis and Brian Aldiss.

Remembered Words Alastair Fowler, 2021-07-22 Remembered Words is a selection of Alastair Fowler's essays on genre, realism and the emblem, three interrelated subjects published over six decades. It offers readers a way to arrive at a sense of how approaches to these subjects have changed over that period. Specifically, it shows how genre has come to be understood in terms of family resemblance theory. Remembered Words argues that realism can be seen as altering historically so that Renaissance realism, for example, differs from those of later periods. Similar changes are traced in the emblem, which Fowler shows to be not only a particular genre but an element of various kinds of realism. Famous passages in ancient literature are remembered in the familiar emblems of the Renaissance, and Renaissance emblems form the basis of metaphors in later literature. Meanwhile, the general approach of the critic and the reader has been altering over the years, as becomes evident when one takes into account the time scale of sixty years, an unusually long working life for a critic. Modern theoretical approaches, which are often casually regarded as self-evident, may appear less inevitable and more arbitrary. This is not to say that they are necessarily wrong, just that they need to be argued for. Remembered Words is intended for senior undergraduates and for graduate students who may use it to form ideas of Fowler's approach and that of his contemporaries and predecessors over the last half century.

Recalling Recitation in the Americas Janet Neigh, 2017-01-01 Spoken word is one of the most popular styles of poetry in North America. While its prevalence is often attributed to the form's strong ties to oral culture, Recalling Recitation in the Americas reveals how poetry memorization and recitation curricula shaped by British Imperial policy influenced contemporary performance practices. During the early twentieth century, educators frequently used the recitation of canonical poems to instill proper speech and behaviour in classrooms in Canada, the Caribbean and the United States Janet Neigh critically analyses three celebrated performance poets E Pauline Johnson Tekahionwake 1861 1913 Langston Hughes 1902 1967 and Louise Bennett 1919 2006 who refashioned recitation to cultivate linguistic diversity and to resist its disciplinary force Through an examination of the dialogues among their poetic projects Neigh illuminates how their complicated legacies as national icons obscure their similar approaches to resisting Anglicization Recalling Recitation in the Americas focuses on the unexplored relationship between education history and literary form and establishes the far reaching effects of poetry memorization and recitation on the development of modern performance poetry in North America

The Myth of War in British and Polish Poetry, 1939-1945 Marzena Sokołowska-Paryż, 2002 In recent decades there has been a marked tendency to look at war literature from a perspective that reaches beyond the experiences of particular nations Characteristically though poetry and prose from Poland Hungary and former Czechoslovakia are included in multi national anthologies the war literatures of Eastern Europe seem to have been ignored in critical studies The Myth of War in British and Polish Poetry 1939 1945 aims to fill in this critical vacuum This study concentrates on the processes through which British and Polish poetry contributed to the shaping of myths of war each offering creative interpretations of historical facts and developments Both poetic traditions are analysed in the context of their national literary heritage and historical background in order to explain the discrepancies characterising these imaginative versions of war Yet the ultimate objective is to discover spheres of convergence within a network of differences This comparative analysis of British and Polish war poetry paves the way for discussions about the relationships between national and individual experiences of history inviting consideration of how seemingly unsurpassable borders can be crossed Poetry and Memory in Karaite Prayer Joachim Yeshaya, 2013-11-07 In Poetry and Memory in Karaite Prayer Joachim Yeshaya offers an edition of liturgical poems which the Karaite poet Moses Dar composed in twelfth century Egypt as introductory poems for the Torah readings on each Sabbath
