Berhow,2019-02-02 The conflicts occurring in the Washington Territory in the 1850s provide an interesting case study of the Native American Indian Wars It is an excellent story not only of the conflict itself but also the interplay between the natives early settlers missionaries and army personalities involved There is a wealth of contemporary documentation available but modern histories often center on only certain aspects of those conflicts Many of the tribes on the Washington coast and in the interior had strong ties with one another and the events of the Washington Territory Indian wars in the Puget Sound area and the Inland Empire area are tied to one another This is not often been brought together in a single work This is short history of those conflicts along with an extensive bibliography of references of both contemporary works and original source material Most of the sites where the major events that occurred during this conflict are marked today and a guide to those sites is

Stephanie Stidham Rogers,2024-03-06 Suffragist Migration West after Seneca Falls 1848 1871 Catharine Paine Blaine by Stephanie Stidham Rogers explores the surprising link between Elizabeth Cady Stanton the Seneca Falls Women's Rights Conference of 1848 and the Women's Suffrage Bill presented at the 1854 Washington State Territorial Legislature It shows how Seattle's first Suffragist educator clothing protestor and activist Catharine Paine Blaine planted the seeds of the Western feminist movement and this book redresses her prior omission as the founder of the University of Washington

Catharine drew upon the political tools and discursive skills she acquired during her abolitionist upbringing in the nascent days of Washington State. However, like many suffragists of her time, she rejected Native culture and regarded Native men as competitors for the vote. Rogers examines Seattle within the broader context of the Western suffrage column that would only gain similar widespread acceptance in the East in 1885 when Catharine Paine Blaine became the first signer of the Seneca Falls Declaration to legally cast her vote in the City of Seattle. Stidham Rogers unveils the unique contributions of Western suffragists in the comparatively liberating frontier context leading to the passage of the Nineteenth Amendment.
