Sparks,2023-05-18 Southern Africa s maritime interests are considerable its oceans and ports are essential to the wealth of the region are crucial for trade and are an important source of employment food and energy However regional governments do not place sufficient attention on the Blue Economy and its potential to stimulate economic growth Of the 17 UN Sustainable Development Goals goal Number 14 Life Below Water is the least funded Less than 1% of Official Development Assistance goes toward this goal and even private investment and funding from philanthropic organizations is grossly inadequate to meet Africa's blue economy needs. It is vital for the international community to face up to the challenges of Africa's Blue Economy and start working on solutions and for southern Africa's Blue Economy policies and goals to be expanded. Just as sustainable development green initiatives show promise so too could Blue Economy projects and activities. Southern Africa's rich coastal and marine resources need to be managed on both a national and regional level if they are to be used in a long term sustainable way. This book provides for the first time a concise study of the constraints and opportunities that the Blue Economy offers for southern Africa and the role that the Southern African Development Community SADC could play in fostering a sustainable use of its ocean and coastal resources. Strike! Stephanus Schoeman, 1990

Aspects of Illegal, Unreported and Unregulated Fishing in the Southern Ocean Rachel Baird, 2007-06-01 IUU shing the elements of which are discussed in detail further below in this Part hinders the sustainable management of marine fisheries world wide. Southern Ocean fisheries and in particular the Patagonian Toothfish have been targeted by IUU shers. The text examines the response to the persistent problem of IUU shing in 1 the Southern Ocean by CCAMLR as the appropriate RFMO and Australia a State with vested interests in the Southern Ocean by virtue of the Heard and McDonald Islands EEZ. This examination represents original work not only in the context of 2 Southern Ocean fisheries but in the consideration of the linkages between regional and national measures to deter IUU shing. Faced with continued aggressive State inaction both the CCAMLR Commission and Australia have identified and applied a number of measures to deter IUU shing. These measures are examined in Parts 4 and 5 respectively. Indeed the lack of aggressive State enforcement and the development and persistence of IUU shing are inextricably linked a fact that will be pursued in depth in Part 2 along with the other factors identified as contributing to the development of IUU shing. South African national bibliography, 1997
