Edward Said's Rhetoric of the Secular Mathieu E. Courville, 2011-10-20 Edward Said's Rhetoric of the Secular provides an important new reading of Edward W Said's work emphasizing not only the distinction but also the fuzzy borders between representations of the religious and the secular found within and throughout his oeuvre and at the core of some of his most customary rhetorical strategies Mathieu Courville begins by examining Said's own reflections on his life before moving on to key debates about Said's work within Religious Studies and Middle Eastern Studies and his relationship to French critical theorists Through close attention to Said's use of the literal and the figurative when dealing with religious national and cultural matters Courville discerns a pattern that illuminates what Said means by secular Said's work shows that the secular is not the utter opposite of religion in the modern globalized world but may exist in a productive tension with it

Self-Translation Anthony Cordingley,2013-01-03 A study of the multilingual cultural contexts and the hybrid identities created when writers self translate (M)Other Tongues Juliane Prade,2020-05-15 M Other Tongues Literary Reflexions on a Difficult Distinction examines a key problem of literary criticism the differentiation between languages is at the same time necessary and impossible It is indispensable in order to read a text yet literary texts are precisely those that question this distinction articulating the link between languages and cultures as well as the inherent strangeness of even one s own mother tongue M Other Tongues explores texts from the 16th century to the 21st century focusing on different aspects of one main feature of literary texts formally as well as semantically they transcend the rules and conventions of the language they speak Crossing cultural borders is commonly discussed in historical social linguistic and psychoanalytical terms whether it be as post colonialism exilic or diasporic identities creoles or the displaced other within the own M Other Tongues argues that rather than being mere evidence in the theoretical analysis of cultural transitions literary texts are a unique medium to reflect such processes as they challenge and modify the notion of language itself The book discusses texts written mainly in English French and German but also in Spanish and the complex formerly known as Yugoslavian M Other Tongues shows that such distinctions between languages are precise since they can be exemplified with an indefinite number of words and rules and still remain uncertain because they cannot be abstracted from these examples What separates the mother tongue from other tongues is indeed precise uncertainty
