Maidstone - Staplehurst - Headcorn Streetmaster,2000-01-01 The Illustrated Guide to the London and Dover Railway; Accompanied by a ... Tourist's and Traveller's Directory to ... Kent, Surrey, and Sussex; Visitor's Notes to the Metropolis, Etc South Eastern Railway (Great Britain),1845 Bradshaw's monthly railway and steam navigation guide George Bradshaw,1862 A New Guide to Sandgate, Folkstone, Hythe,&c.&c. ... with a View of Sandgate, Etc ,1848 The World's First Railway System Mark Casson,2009-09-10 The British railway network was a monument to Victorian private enterprise Its masterpieces of civil engineering were emulated around the world But its performance was controversial praised for promoting a high density of lines it was also criticised for wasteful duplication of routes This is the first history of the British railway system written from a modern economic perspective It uses counterfactual analysis to construct an alternative network to represent the most efficient alternative rail network that could have been constructed given what was known at the time the first time this has been done It reveals how weaknesses in regulation and defects in government policy resulted in enormous inefficiency in the Victorian system that Britain lives with today British railway companies developed into powerful regional monopolies which then contested each other's territories When denied access to existing lines in rival territories they built duplicate lines instead Plans for an integrated national system sponsored by William Gladstone were blocked by Members of Parliament because of a perceived conflict with the local interests they represented Each town wanted more railways than its neighbours and so too many lines were built The costs of these surplus lines led ultimately to higher fares and freight charges which impaired the performance of the economy The book will be the definitive source of reference for those interested in the economic history of the British railway system It makes use of a major new historical source deposited railway plans integrates transport and local history through its regional analysis of the railway system and provides a comprehensive classified bibliography Out of the Hay and Into the Hops Celia Cordle,2011 Out of the Hay and into the Hops explores the history and development of hop cultivation in the Weald of Kent together with the marketing of this important crop in the Borough at Southwark where a significant proportion of Wealden hops were sold A picture emerges of the relationship between the two activities as well as of the impact this rural industry had upon the lives of the people engaged in it Dr Cordle draws extensively on personal accounts of hop work to evoke a way of life now lost for good Oral history together with evidence from farm books and other sources records how the steady routine of hop ploughing and dung spreading weeding and spraying contrasted with the bustle and excitement of hop picking bringing in as it did many itinerant workers from outside the community to help with the harvest and the anxious period of drying the crop For hops prey to the vagaries of weather and disease needed much care and attention to bring them to fruition In early times their cultivation provided work for more people than any other crop The diverse processes of hop cultivation are examined within the wider context of events such as the advent of rail and the effects of war as are changes to the working practices and technologies used and their reception and implementation in the Weald Meanwhile in the Borough an enclave of hop factors and merchants whose interests sometimes conflicted with those of the hop growers arose and then suffered decline A full account of this trade is presented including day to day working practices links with the Weald and the changes in hop marketing following Britain's entry into the European Economic Community This book provides readers with a fascinating analysis of some three hundred years of hop history in the Weald and the Borough Hops still grow in the Weald in the Borough the Le May facade and the gates of the Hop Exchange are reminders of former trade Book description 1847. *The Poll for the Knights of the Shire, to Represent the Western Division of the County of Kent, in the Fifth Parliament of the Reign of Queen Victoria, Including the Whole of the Registered Electors ...
