Nuer Religion:

Nuer Religion Edward Evan Evans-Pritchard, 1956 Nuer Religion E. E. Evans-Pritchard, 2015-06-26

Excerpt from Nuer Religion I have previously written two books on the Nuer a cattle herding people dwelling in the swamps and savannah of the southern Anglo Egyptian Sudan The Nuer A Description of the Modes of Livelihood and Political Institutions of a Nilotic People was published in 1940 and Kinship and Marriage among the Nuer in 1951 The present volume Nuer Religion completes a study of the Nuer which began in 1930 Accounts of religion in writings on the Nuer are generally meagre and superficial The only detailed treatment is in Father J P Crazzolara's Zur Gesellschaft und Religion der Nuer 1953 much of which appeared earlier in volume viii of Father W Schmidt's Der Ursprung der Gottesidee 1949 Those who read his account will see that it differs in many respects from what I now present though less with regard to fact than in emphasis and interpretation Although Nuer religious ideas and practices were a part of their way of life which greatly interested me it was that to which I was able to give least attention during my short residence of a year in Nuerland It was necessary to learn their language and to study their manner of livelihood and their family kinship and political activities before giving close attention to the more difficult problems of their religious thought These tasks all the heavier in the arduous conditions in which they had to be carried out left me little time to pursue anything which could be called a systematic inquiry into religious matters What I record I witnessed myself or is information given spontaneously during talks about other and more practical affairs or in comment on some event or experience Such observations may however be more valuable in a study of religious thought than those derived from purposive inquiry This is especially so when a people lack as the Nuer do anything which offers easy scope for such an inquiry for they have nothing which can properly be called dogma liturgy and sacraments in sensu stricto and they lack a developed religious cult and mythology This is doubtless one of the reasons why for the most part those who have written about the Nuer have said so little about their religion About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Nuer Religion (Classic Reprint) E. E. Evans-Pritchard, 2017-09-16 Excerpt from Nuer Religion This difficulty is not easily overcome because it is not merely a matter of definitions but involves also personal judgement It would be useless to deny this and rash to ignore it It may be said that in describing and interpreting a primitive religion it should make no difference whether the writer is an agnostic or a Christian Jew Muslim Hindu or whatever he may be but in fact it makes a great deal of difference for even in a descriptive study judgement can in no way be avoided Those who give assent to the religious beliefs of their own people feel and think and therefore also write differently about the beliefs of other peoples from those who do not give assent to them This is not the place to discuss further this difficulty I merely wish to recognize that it exists and that it introduces into writings about religion complications which are not present when writing about for example kinship or husbandry I am of course well aware that Nuer religion is very unlike what we know in general about Negro religions One cannot even say that it is a typical Nilotic religion It is certainly very unlike the religion of the Anuak of the Luo of Kenya of the Acholi of the Alur or of the Shilluk Indeed only the religion Of the Dinka can be said to have strongly marked affinities with it and it can be further said that in some respects the religions of these two peoples resemble less other Negro religions than some of the historic religions They have features which bring to mind the Hebrews of the Old Testament Professor C G Seligman clearly sensed this as his account of the Dinka and Nuer shows and Iviiss Ray Huffman an American Presbyterian missionary who spent many years among the Nuer remarks that the missionary feels as if he were living in Old Testament times and in a way this is true 1 When therefore I sometimes draw comparisons between Nuer and Hebrew conceptions it is no mere whim but is because I myself find it helpful and I think others may do so too in trying to understand Nuer ideas to note this likeness to something with which we are ourselves familiar without being too intimately involved in it About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The Slain God Timothy Larsen,2014-08-28 Throughout its entire history the discipline of anthropology has been perceived as undermining or even discrediting Christian faith Many of its most prominent theorists have been agnostics who assumed that ethnographic findings and theories had exposed religious beliefs to be untenable E B Tylor the founder of the discipline in Britain lost his faith through studying anthropology James Frazer saw the material that he presented in his highly influential work The Golden Bough as demonstrating that Christian thought was based on the erroneous thought patterns of savages On the other hand some of the most eminent anthropologists have been Christians including E E Evans Pritchard Mary Douglas Victor Turner and Edith Turner Moreover they openly presented articulate reasons for how their religious convictions cohered with their professional work Despite being a major site of friction between faith and modern thought the relationship between anthropology and Christianity has never before been the subject of a book length study In this groundbreaking work Timothy Larsen examines the point where doubt and faith collide with anthropological theory and evidence Essays on the Political Economy of Rural Africa Robert H. Bates,1987-04-20 The essays in this volume represent a dialogue between theory and data The theory is drawn from a branch of contemporary political economy which can also be labeled the collective choice school The data are drawn from Africa The book extends the methods of reasoning developed in collective choice from their original base the advanced industrial democracies to new territory the literature on rural Africa Such as extension challenges the power of this form of political economy It also enriches it for the central questions which motivate readers consider the importance of contemporary archaeological discoveries and juxtapose them with the biblical narrative to understand ancient Israelite religions The Ideology of Religious Studies Timothy Fitzgerald, 2003-10-16 In recent years there has been an intensifying debate within the religious studies community about the validity of religion as an analytical category In this book Fitzgerald sides with those who argue that the concept of religion itself should be abandoned On the basis of his own research in India and Japan and through a detailed analysis of the use of religion in a wide range of scholarly texts the author maintains that the comparative study of religion is really a form of liberal ecumenical theology By pretending to be a science religion significantly distorts socio cultural analysis He suggests however that religious studies can be represented in a way which opens up new and productive theoretical connections with anthropology and cultural and literary studies Nuer Religion Edward Evan Evans-Pritchard, 1962 The Routledge Handbook of Translation and Religion Hephzibah Israel, 2022-12-19 The Routledge Handbook of Translation and Religion is the first to bring together an

Living with Concepts Andrew Brandel, Marco Motta, 2021-06-15 This volume examines an often taken for granted concept that of the concept itself How do we picture what concepts are what they do how they arise in the course of everyday life Challenging conventional approaches that treat concepts as mere tools at our disposal for analysis or as straightforwardly equivalent to signs to be deciphered the anthropologists and philosophers in this volume turn instead to the ways concepts are already intrinsically embedded in our forms of life and how they constitute the very substrate of our existence as humans who lead lives in language Attending to our ordinary lives with concepts requires not an ascent from the rough ground of reality into the skies of theory but rather acceptance of the fact that thinking is congenital to living with and through concepts The volume offers a critical and timely intervention into both contemporary philosophy and anthropological theory by unsettling the distinction between thought and reality that continues to be too often assumed and showing how the supposed need to grasp reality may be replaced by an acknowledgement that we are in
