Escritores, editoriales y revistas del exilio republicano de 1939 Manuel Aznar Soler, 2006      Literatura española contemporánea (1898-1950) Juan Chabás, Carmen Valcárcel, 2001-01-01 Esta edición rescata una de las realizaciones más ambiciosas del exilio republicano y por extensión de la España de posguerra. Publicada en La Habana en 1952, la obra no puede comprenderse en su total significación sin atender al compromiso sociopolítico que representa así como al método que aplica que no son otros en primer lugar que la concreción de una crítica militante y en segundo la coherente conjunción de la Estilística y los principios de la doctrina marxista.

Theatre Censorship in Spain, 1931-1985 Catherine O'Leary, Michael Thompson, 2023-05-15 This is a comprehensive study of the impact of censorship on theatre in twentieth century Spain. It draws on extensive archival evidence, vivid personal testimonies and in-depth analysis of legislation to document the different kinds of theatre censorship practised during the Second Republic 1931-6, the civil war 1936-9, the Franco dictatorship 1939-75 and the transition to democracy 1975-85. Changes in criteria, administrative structures and personnel from these periods are traced in relation to wider political, social and cultural developments, and the responses of playwrights, directors and companies are explored. With a focus on censorship, new light is cast on particular theatre-makers and their work, the conditions in which all kinds of theatre were produced, the construction of genres and canons as well as on broader cultural history and changing ideological climate, all of which are linked to reflections on the nature of censorship and the relationship between culture and the state.

Coming Home? Vol. 1 Sharif Gemie, 2014-07-18 The wars of the twentieth century uprooted people on a previously unimaginable scale to the extent that being a refugee became an increasingly widespread experience. With the arrival of refugees, governments of host countries had to mediate between divided national populations: some wished to welcome those arriving in search of refuge; others preferred a strategy of exclusion or even expulsion. At the same time, refugees had to manage conflicts of the self as they responded to the loss of nationhood, families, socio-political networks, material goods and arguably also a sense of belonging or home. While return migration was usually perceived by governments and refugees alike as the best solution to the dilemmas of forced displacement, consensus about the timing and dynamics of how this would actually occur was very difficult to achieve. In practice, the return of refugees to their countries of origin rarely if ever produced a wholly satisfactory outcome. Conflicts clearly resulted in forced displacement, but it is equally true that forced displacement created conflicts. The complex inter-relationship of conflict, return migration and the sometimes chimerical but still compelling search for a sense of home is the central preoccupation of the contributors to the two volumes of the Coming Home series. Scholars from history, literature, cultural studies and sociology explore the tensions between nation-states and migrants as they have anticipated, implemented or challenged the process of return migration during the twentieth and twenty-first centuries. This book begins with Western Europe and progresses to Central and Eastern Europe.

from the period of the Spanish Civil War to the Cold War era whilst the second volume Coming home Vol 2 Conflict and Postcolonial Return Migration in the Context of France and North Africa shifts the focus to the colonial and post colonial framework of the French North African nexus What emerges from the two volumes of essays is that as ambiguous and sometimes ambivalent as home could appear it was nonetheless central to migrants preoccupations about returning
