Nurse And The Dying Patient:

The Nurse and the dying patient Jeanne Quint Benoliel, 1967      The Nurse and the Dying Patient Jeanne C. Quint, 1969      Nursing Support for Families of Dying Patients Rosemary McIntyre, 2001-11-28 When a patient has an advanced disease considerable demands are placed on the whole family Whilst coping with their own profound emotions close relatives commonly have to support their loved ones through a range of treatments as the disease progresses through stages of remission and recurrence until finally a shift to a palliative mode of treatment must be faced In such situations family roles and relationships are likely to be disrupted and family members coping resources can be stretched to the limit It is clear from this that by the time the terminal stage of the patient's illness is reached the family may have travelled a long and difficult road and close relatives are likely to be emotionally vulnerable and in need of support This study explores the needs of relatives of terminally ill patients and the concerns of nurses who provide care in the hospital The research data is used to design implement and evaluate clinical standards for improved family support      The Dying Patient: a Nursing Perspective Mary H. Browning, Edith Patton Lewis, 1972      Final Moments Deborah Witt Sherman, 2009-01-06 What was it like the first time a nurse witnessed death How do nurses cope with death when it becomes almost routine What lessons can we learn from their experiences Twenty five nurses from hospitals private practices and in home health care tell about their experiences with death Hear from people new to the field as well as those who have been in nursing for decades about how they deal with grief the controversies about end of life decisions the challenges of caring for people as they die and the harrowing experience of telling their family members Edited and introduced by a registered nurse the book is a resource for both nurses and anyone who wants to better understand death and dying      Compassionate Person-Centered Care for the Dying Bonnie Freeman, 2015-02-23 A milestone resource for palliative care nurses that facilitates evidence based compassionate and humanistic care of the dying A valuable contribution to the evolving field of palliative nursing care It is authored by a model for this field Bonnie Freeman and brings to the bedside what her practice embodies evidence based clinically expert care The CARES tool is a long needed resource and we are all grateful to the author for moving her passion to paper It will touch the lives and deaths of patients families and the nurses who care for them Betty Ferrell PhD RN MA FAAN FCPN CHPN Professor and Director Division of Nursing Research and Education City of Hope National Medical Center From the Foreword This groundbreaking reference for palliative care nurses is the first to provide realistic and achievable evidence based methods for incorporating compassionate and humanistic care of the dying into current standards of practice It builds on the author's research based CARES tool a reference that synthesizes five key elements demonstrated to enable a peaceful death as free from suffering as possible comfort airway management management of restlessness and delirium emotional and spiritual support and selfcare for nurses The book describes step by step how nurses can easily implement the basic tenets of the CARES tool into their end of life practice It provides a clearly defined plan that can be individualized for each patient and tailored to specific family needs and facilitates caring for the dying in the most respectful and humane way possible. The book identifies the most common symptom management needs in dying patients and describes in detail the five components of the CARES paradigm and how to implement them to enable a peaceful death and minimize suffering. It includes palliative care prompts founded on 29 evidence based recommendations and the National Consensus Project for Palliative Care Clinical Practice Guidelines. The resource also addresses the importance of the nurse to act as a patient advocate, how to achieve compassionate communication with the patient and family, and barriers and challenges to compassionate care. Case studies emphasize the importance of compassionate nursing care of the dying and how it can be effectively achieved. Key Features: Provides nurses with a clear understanding of the most common needs of the dying and supplies practical applications to facilitate and improve care. Clarifies the current and often complex literature on care of the dying. Includes case studies illustrating the most common needs of dying patients and how these are addressed effectively by the CARES tool. Based on extensive evidence as well as on the National Consensus Project for Palliative Care Clinical Practice Guidelines.

Nursing Care at the End of Life Joyce V Zerwekh, 2005-12-28. Nursing Care at the End of Life: Palliative Care for Patients and Families explores the deep issues of caring for the dying and suffering. The book is based on the Hospice Family Caregiving Model previously published by the author and focuses on the practice implications of care for the dying. The book is written in a clear and user friendly style and is ideal for undergraduate nursing students learning about dying, suffering and caring for individuals and their families.

Caring for the Dying Patient and the Family Janet Moscrop, Joy Robbins, 2013-11-11. This third edition of a popular textbook has been completely revised by the joint editors Janet Moscrop and Joy Robbins. As in previous editions the focus is on the person dying at home in residential care or in hospital and the emphasis is on teamwork in caring for the individual and their relatives and friends. Experts in all aspects of care have contributed to this complete revision of the previous text and each chapter is written by a different member of the multiprofessional team. The chapter on the terminal care of people suffering from AIDS has been enlarged and consideration is also given to care of those in the terminal stages of other non malignant diseases. Other new material includes chapters on complementary therapy, the use of the day centre, the value of volunteers, diversional therapy and respite care. The chapter on bereavement covers many aspects of grief and loss and there is a sensitive approach to the need for supporting staff in this specialized work. Consideration is also given to the needs of dying and grieving people from differing ethnic backgrounds with varying cultural expectations in a pluralistic society. The third edition offers a broad overview of the support given to the dying person and the carers by medical and nursing staff, physiotherapists, pharmacists, social workers, the chaplaincy and members of the pastoral care team. Students of all these disciplines should find this book both readable and informative.

Nursing the Dying Patient John Costello, 2004. This text introduces the reader to the key issues surrounding the care of the dying patient as well as highlighting the importance of context in the social management of dying. It provides a foundation
