

Nurses and Political Action

- ★ Political-ethical conflict = conflict between one's ethical belief system and what one feels compelled to do or is told to do by someone in a position of power. Many conflicts exist in the nursing profession, which are of concern because quality patient care and public health are at stake, e.g.
- ★ the difference between historical ideas of what nursing was and the new image of what nursing has become,
- ★ the contrast between the perceived weakness of the female gender and the strength of the nursing profession as a whole (eg, the largest single sector of the health care industry), and
- ★ the inconsistency between the goals of the physician and institutional sectors of the health care industry with goals of the nursing profession.

for greater authority and independence The second era began in the mid 1980s when feminism grounded in the ethics of care appealed to a much broader group of caregivers and was incorporated into nursing education While nurses accepted aspects of feminism they did not necessarily identify as feminists Nonetheless they used passed on and developed feminist ideas that brought about nursing school curricula changes and the increase in self directed and specialized roles available to caregivers in the twenty first century Nursing Issues in the 21st Century Eleanor C.
