Leisure and the Motive to Volunteer: Theories of Serious, Casual, and Project-Based Leisure Robert A.

Stebbins,2015-10-29 Volunteering and its nonprofit organizations have commonly been analyzed in economic terms with volunteering being referred to as unpaid productive work This economic definition has been around far longer than that of volunteering conceived of as leisure which is discussed as the volitional definition By means of a lengthy literature review this book sets out the theoretical and empirical contributions of the serious leisure perspective to understanding volunteer motivation This second approach began more than 40 years ago It answers the key motivational question of why people engage in unpaid productive work laborious or not Since in this conception payment in cash or in kind is not an incentive to perform such work what encourages people to volunteer The serious leisure perspective unlike mainstream economics can shed considerable light on this question Active Ageing Andrea Principi, Per H. Jensen, Giovanni Lamura, 2014 Active ageing has become a key phrase in the discourses about healthy aging processes and one important way that it has been achieved in Europe is through the engagement of older people in volunteer work Active Ageing offers a much needed compendium of research on volunteerism among seniors Ranging across eight European countries the contributors highlight how different levels in the structure of volunteering from local to national interact and how these interactions either facilitate or hinder seniors inclusion in voluntary work They go on to offer policy suggestions for a more integrated strategy that can better support this unique group of volunteer workers Functional Performance in Older Adults Bette R Bonder, Vanina Dal Bello-Haas, 2008-10-31 The ideal resource for rehabilitation professionals who are working with or preparing to work with older adults It describes the normal aging process illustrates how health and social factors can impede an aging person's abilities and demonstrates how to develop mechanisms for maximizing the well being of older adults Productive Engagement in Later Life Nancy Morrow-Howell, Ada Mui, 2014-06-11 Productive Ageing is the involvement of older adults in society through employment volunteering caregiving education and skill building In 2020 there will be 248 million people in China aged 60 and over At the same time the birth rate continues to drop and family structures are being transformed In the face of such pressing demographic challenges the productive engagement of older adults is a clear cut strategy to strengthen families and communities while simultaneously promoting the health of older adults From a human capital perspective an ageing population represents resources to address societal needs and the active engagement of older adults can enhance and maintain the physical mental and cognitive health of the older adults The challenge is to develop policies that support productive engagement and implement evidence based programs that create opportunities for older adults in active engagement in the community Contributions of older adults will be necessary for social and economic development of families communities and society Productive Engagement in Later Life covers the 2009 China conference on productive aging and discusses how to initiate and build productive aging agenda in China and around the globe This book was originally published as a special issue of China Journal of Social Work Handbook on Women and Aging Jean M. Coyle, 2001-08-30 Expert contributors summarize current research on women and aging Encyclopedia of Biomedical Gerontology, 2019-11-20 Encyclopedia of Biomedical Gerontology Three Volume Set presents a wide range of topics ranging from what happens in the body during aging the reasons and mechanisms relating to those age related changes and their clinical psychological and social modulators and determinants The book covers the biological and medical aspects of gerontology within the general framework of the biological basis of assessing age biological mechanisms of aging age related changes in biological systems human age related diseases the biomedical practicality and impracticality of interventions and finally the ethics of intervention Provides a one stop resource to information written by world leading scholars in the field of biomedical gerontology Fills a critical gap of information in a field that has seen significant progress in the last 10 years

Volunteering As Leisure/leisure As Volunteering Robert A. Stebbins, Margaret Graham, 2004-04-07 Volunteerism is a topic of increasing importance in this age of budget cuts declining employment and amid the threat posed by other competing leisure pursuits There are both social and economic benefits of volunteering As we are becoming more reliant on volunteers there is a need for a better understanding of why people take up volunteering and how to recruit manage motivate and support volunteers most effectively In order for organisations that host volunteers to achieve the most from their volunteers they must understand how to give them the best leisure experience This book examines critical aspects of contemporary volunteerism from the perspective of a variety of volunteering contexts It will appeal to academic researchers and students in disciplines such as leisure recreation tourism management and sociology as well as practitioners in the voluntary sector including volunteers National and Local Government and those organising special events that depend on voluntary support
