Adolescent Identities Deborah L. Browning, 2013-04-15 Adolescent Identities draws the reader into the inner world of the adolescent to examine the process of identity formation through the various lenses of history anthropology sociology psychology and psychoanalysis The volume reveals there is no single normal adolescent nor is there a singular adolescent experience Editor Deborah L Browning illustrates that in the course of development each individual must integrate one s unique biologically given constitution and temperament personal life history and the influence of the social and cultural milieu The book consists of six sections arranged by concentric circles of influence from the most exterior identifiable and potentially overt and conscious to the most internal private and potentially unconscious concerns Opening papers are drawn from sociology European history and cross cultural anthropology and address the question of whether and how adolescence can be considered a stage in development The second section explores how visible or potentially knowable minority statuses are experienced and how these interact with individual identity processes Moving closer to the adolescent s interpersonal world the third section presents papers about intimate relationships between adolescents and about the conscious preoccupations of adolescents when they are alone Extensive excerpts of Erikson s most important contributions on identity formation and adolescence are offered in the fourth section Papers on the most internal private and potentially unconscious conflicts comprise the fifth section The book concludes with a section of papers on failed solutions to the challenge of adolescent identity consolidation homelessness drug abuse eating disorders and suicide Adolescent Identities provides mental health practitioners teachers and graduate students in both fields with a variety of perspectives on the internal experience of adolescents
