Renegotiating Local Values:

Alternative Development Cathrine Brun, Piers Blaikie, 2016-03-23 This book brings together a collection of essays that discuss alternative development and its relevance for local global processes of marginalization and change in the Global South. Alternative development questions who the producers of development knowledges and practices are and aims at decentring development and geographical knowledge from the Anglo American centre and the Global North. It involves resistance to dominant political economic processes in order to further the possibilities for non exploitative and just forms of development. By discussing how to unravel marginalization and voice change through alternative methods actors and concepts the book provides useful guidance on understanding the relationship between theory and practice. The main strength of the book is that it calls for a central role for alternative development in the current development discourse most notably related to justice rights globalization forced migration conflict and climate change. The book provides new ways of engaging with alternative development thinking and making development alternatives relevant.

The Ethnopoetics of Space and Transformation Stuart C. Aitken, 2016-02-17 Change is inevitable we are told. A job is lost a couple falls in love children leave home an addict joins Narcotics Anonymous two nations go to war a family member's health deteriorates a baby is born a universal health care bill is voted into law. Life comprises events over which we have considerable partial or little or no control. The distance between the event and our daily lives suggests a quirky spatial politics. Our lives move forward depending upon how events play out in concert with our reactions to them. Drawing on nearly three decades of geographic projects that involve ethnographies and interviews with and stories about young people in North and South American Europe and Asia and using the innovative technique of ethnopoetry Aitken examines key life changing events to look at the interconnections between space politics change and emotions. Analysing the intricate spatial complexities of these events he explores the emotions that undergird the ways change takes place and the perplexing spatial politics that almost always accompany transformations. Aitken positions young people as effective agents of change without romanticizing their political involvement as fantasy and unrealistic dreaming. Going further he suggests that it is the emotional palpability of youth engagement and activism that makes it so potent and productive. Pulling on the spatial theories of de Certeau Deleuze Massey Agamben Rancière Žižek and Grosz amongst others Aitken argues that spaces are transformative to the degree that they open the political and he highlights the complexly interwoven political economic social and cultural practices that simultaneously embed and embolden people in places. If we think of spaces as events and events encourage change then spaces and people become other through complex relations. Taking poetry to be an emotive construction of language Aitken re visualizes contours and arranges people's words and gestures to Coming of Age in South and Southeast Asia Lenore Manderson, Pranee Liamputtong Rice, 2020-11-25 In recent years first feminist considerations and now concerns with HIV Aids have led to new approaches to the study of sexuality. The experience of puberty explorations with sexuality and

courtship and the pressure to reproduce are a few of the human tensions central to this volume ZAKAT POVERTY LINE AND POVERTY MEASUREMENT FOR EFFECTIVE ZAKAT DISTRIBUTION (Penerbit UMK) Ahmad Fahmee Mohd

Ali, Muhammad Ridhwan Ab. Aziz, Mohd Faisol Ibrahim, 2022-04-07 This book entitled Zakat Poverty Line and Poverty Measurement for Effective Zakat Distribution gives a new dimension for the Muslim ummah to understand the zakat poverty line and poverty measurement for effective and efficient zakat distribution among the asnaf Through this book the authors have tried to answer many questions regarding the zakat poverty line Do we understand the concept of poverty What are the main measurements for poverty How Islam looks at poverty and how to solve it Any specific and accurate tools to measure poverty in Islam In this book five most important topics related to poverty and zakat poverty line have been introduced to the readers Hopefully the publication of this book may benefit many of us to understand and trust zakat poverty line in order to distribute zakat more effectively in strengthening economy of the ummah in the future Historical Dictionary of Malaysia

Ooi Keat Gin, 2017-12-18 Malaysia is one of the most intriguing countries in Asia in many respects It consists of several distinct areas not only geographically but ethnically as well along with Malays and related groups the country has a very large Indian and Chinese population The spoken languages obviously vary at home although Bahasa Malaysia is the official language and nearly everyone speaks English There is also a mixture of religions with Islam predominating among the Malays and others Hinduism and Sikhism among the Indians mainly Daoism and Confucianism among the Chinese but also some Christians as well as older indigenous beliefs in certain places This second edition of Historical Dictionary of Malaysia contains a chronology an introduction appendixes and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 500 cross referenced entries on important personalities politics economy foreign relations religion and culture This book is an excellent resource for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about Malaysia Assembling Women Teri L.

Caraway, 2007 Despite the massive influx of women into the labor force as a result of globalization the gender inequalities at work have remained largely unchanged This book addresses two related questions What has prompted the feminization of manufacturing work in developing countries and why has it failed to significantly erode gender inequalities at work Teri L. Caraway offers case studies and in depth analysis of employment changes in Indonesia combined with cross national data to show that the feminization of the workplace produced by industrialization policies has reconfigured and reproduced rather than overturned gender divisions of labor at work Caraway challenges the conventional wisdom that export oriented industrialization and women s cheap labor are the driving forces behind feminization Instead she argues the answers can be found in weak unions and current social practice Caraway employs information about a wide range of industries capital intensive male dominated non export firms as well as female dominated labor intensive export oriented industries in arriving at her conclusions Her findings will prove discouraging to anyone who hopes that globalization has become a positive force in improving the lives of women workers Caraway s multilevel methodology for analyzing changes in gendered patterns of employment and her introduction of gendered discourses of work as a major explanatory variable will make Assembling Women a valuable resource for women's studies scholars, development economists, political scientists and sociologists as well as all with an interest in Southeast Asian Studies and labor and industrial relations

Rethinking Development in East Asia Pietro P. Masina, 2002 Masina reassesses the last thirty years of economic development in East Asia in light of recent dramatic events challenging scholars and policy makers to critically review development strategies

Politics in Malaysia Edmund Terence Gomez, 2007-04-11 Examining some of the most critical issues in Malaysian politics today including human rights, law and democracy, gender and Islam, this book explores the contours of the contemporary landscape of Malaysian politics, focusing especially on politics among the majority ethnic Malay community. In particular, the book explains why changes in patterns of political mobilization and the rhetoric of the dominant parties, particularly the PAS and UMNO, have been so limited despite the overt and growing dissatisfaction shown by Malaysians with the state of their political system and the ability of these parties to represent their interests. It considers the recent history of events and discourses within Malaysian society and UMNO and PAS and goes on to analyze why important transitions have occurred in society yet political parties have not adapted themselves to these changes and remained reticent about instituting meaningful reforms involving these matters

Women in Asia Barbara N. Ramusack, Sharon L. Sievers, 1999-06-22 Barbara N. Ramusack writes on South and Southeast Asia, surveying both the prescriptive roles and the lived experiences of women as well as the construction of gender from early states to the 1990s. Although both regions are home to Hindu, Buddhist and Muslim religious traditions and had extended trade relations, they reveal striking differences in the status and roles of women and the processes of cultural adaptation. Sharon Sievers presents an overview of women's participation in the histories of China, Japan and Korea from prehistory to the modern period that provides a framework for incorporating women into world history classrooms. It offers analyses on major issues derived from recent research and discusses such stereotypical cultural practices as footbinding, long seen as exotic in the West, in the context of women's lives.
