Representing The Holocaust:

Representing the Holocaust Dominick LaCapra, 2016-11-01 Defying comprehension the tragic history of the Holocaust has been alternately repressed and canonized in postmodern Western culture Recently our interpretation of the Holocaust has been the center of bitter controversies from debates over Paul de Man's collaborationist journalism and Martin Heidegger's Nazi past to attempts by some historians to downplay the Holocaust's significance A major voice in current historiographical discussions Dominick LaCapra brings a new clarity to these issues as he examines the intersections between historical events and the theory through which we struggle to understand them In a series of essays three published here for the first time LaCapra explores the problems faced by historians critics and thinkers who attempt to grasp the Holocaust He considers the role of canon formation and the dynamic of revisionist historiography as well as critically analyzing responses to the discovery of de Man's wartime writings He also discusses Heidegger's involvement with National Socialism and he sheds light on postmodernist obsessions with such concepts as loss agora dispossession deferred meaning and the sublime Throughout LaCapra demonstrates that psychoanalysis is not merely a psychology of the individual but that its concepts have sociocultural dimensions and can help us perceive the relationship between the present and the past Many of our efforts to comprehend the Holocaust he shows continue to suffer from the traumatizing effects of its events and require a working through of that trauma if we are to gain a more profound understanding of the meaning of the Holocaust

Representing the Holocaust Sue Vice, 2003 Focusing upon central issues in Holocaust studies this collection of essays by British scholars charts British concerns surrounding the Holocaust It also honours the academic Bryan Burns and the work he carried out on the Holocaust Representing the German Nation Mary Fulbrook, 2000-12-15 Modern Germany with its ruptures from late unification in 1871 through to the formation of two opposing German states provides a case study for an analysis of the issue of representations of identity in Germany since the war Probing the Limits of Representation Saul Friedländer, 1992 German memory judicial interrogation and historical reconstruction writing perpetrator history from postwar testimony Christopher R Browning Historical emplotment and the problem of truth Hayden White On emplotment two kinds of ruin Perry Anderson History counterhistory and narrative Amos Funkenstein Just one witness Carlo Ginzburg Of plots witnesses and judgments Martin Jay Representing the Holocaust reflections on the historians debate Dominick LaCapra Historical understanding and counterrationality the Judenrat as epistemological vantage Dan Diner History beyond the pleasure principle some thoughts on the representation of trauma Eric L Santner Habermas enlightenment and antisemitism Vincent P Pecora Between image and phrase progressive history and the final solution as dispossession Sande Cohen Science modernity and the final solution Mario Biagioli Holocaust and the end of history postmodern historiography in cinema Anton Kaes Whose story is it anyway ideology and psychology in the representation of the Shoah in Israeli literature Yael S Feldman Translating Paul Celan's Todesfuge rhythm and repetition as metaphor John

Felstiner The grave in the air unbound metaphors in post Holocaust poetry Sidra DeKoven Ezrahi The dialectics of unspeakability language silence and the narratives of desubjectification Peter Haidu The representation of limits Berel Lang The book of the destruction Geoffrey H Hartman Representing Childhood and Atrocity Victoria Nesfield, Philip Smith, 2022-12-01 Atrocity presents a problem to the writer of children's literature To represent events of such terrible magnitude and impersonal will as the Holocaust the transatlantic slave trade or the Rwandan genocide such that they fit into a three act structure with a comprehensible moral and a happy ending is to do a disservice to the victims Yet to confront children with the fact of widescale violence without resolution is to confront them with realities that may be emotionally disturbing and even damaging Despite these challenges however there exists a considerable body of work for and about children that addresses atrocity To examine the ways in which writers and artists have attempted to address children's experience of atrocity this collection brings together original essays by an international group of scholars working in the fields of child studies children's literature comics studies education English literature and Holocaust genocide and memory studies It covers a broad geographical range and includes works by established authors and emerging voices

Representing the Holocaust Dominick LaCapra, 1996 Representing the Holocaust is an impressive book that will have a significant impact on the way historians think about the Holocaust and the writing of history LaCapra's precise and probing study explores the ways that the traumatic event inevitably disrupts the relationship between representation and memory He writes from the deep conviction that whatever historians might believe theory is indispensable for them Indeed his work best exemplifies the value of theory setting a standard for historiographical reflection that is not easily matched Anson Rabinbach The Cooper Union for the Advancement of Science and Art Selling the Holocaust Tim Cole, 2017-09-29 Cole shows us an Auschwitz land where tourists have become the ultimate ruberneckers passing by and gazing at someone else's tragedy He shows us a US Holocaust Museum that provides visitors with a virtual Holocaust experience Representing the Unimaginable Angela Stock, Cornelia Stott, 2007 Papers presented at a conference held at the Univ of Munich in May 2003
