Rescuing History From The Nation:

Rescuing History from the Nation Prasenjit Duara, 1996-11-20 Prasenjit Duara offers the first systematic account of the relationship between the nation state nationalism and the concept of linear history Focusing primarily on China and including discussion of India Duara argues that many historians of postcolonial nation states have adopted a linear evolutionary history of the Enlightenment colonial model As a result they have written repressive exclusionary and incomplete accounts The backlash against such histories has resulted in a tendency to view the past as largely constructed imagined or invented In this book Duara offers a way out of the impasse between constructionism and the evolving nation he redefines history as a series of multiple often conflicting narratives produced simultaneously at national local and transnational levels In a series of closely linked case studies he considers such examples as the very different histories produced by Chinese nationalist reformers and partisans of popular religions the conflicting narratives of statist nationalists and of advocates of federalism in early twentieth century China He demonstrates the necessity of incorporating contestation appropriation repression and the return of the repressed subject into any account of the past that will be meaningful to the present Duara demonstrates how to write histories that resist being pressed into the service of the national subject in its progress or stalled progress toward modernity Knowing how to Know Narmala Halstead, Eric Hirsch, Judith Okely, 2008 Through the idea of the extended field this volume examines current issues in fieldwork and ethnography and provides new insights into the problems of ethnographic knowledge construction It is a text for new fieldworkers established researchers and those looking for material to support modules on these issues Nine anthropologists reflect on their experiential processes of knowing by considering how different aspects of fieldwork and the writing up process informed their accounts Drawing on both theory and empirical material this volume actively engages with the dilemmas faced by fieldworkers and relates them to current debates and the notion of crisis in academe whilst illustrating the complexities of knowing how to know by probing material from different historical periods and various regions BOOK JACKET RESCUING HISTORY FROM THE NATION, 2003 Rescuing History from the Nation-state Prasenjit Duara, 1992 RESCUING HISTORY FROM THE NATION, 2003 Inventing China through History Q. Edward Wang, 2001-01-01 A critical examination of the rise of national history in early twentieth century China Rescued from the Nation Steven Kemper, 2015-01-13 Anagarika Dharmapala is one of the most galvanizing figures in Sri Lanka's recent turbulent history He is widely regarded as the nationalist hero who saved the Sinhala people from cultural collapse and whose protestant reformation of Buddhism drove monks toward increased political involvement and ethnic confrontation Yet as tied to Sri Lankan nationalism as Dharmapala is in popular memory he spent the vast majority of his life abroad engaging other concerns In Rescued from the Nation Steven Kemper reevaluates this important figure in the light of an unprecedented number of his writings ones that paint a picture not of a nationalist zealot but of a spiritual seeker earnest in his pursuit of salvation Drawing on huge stores of source materials nearly one hundred diaries and notebooks Kemper reconfigures Dharmapala as a world renouncer first and a political activist second Following Dharmapala on his travels between East Asia South Asia Europe and the United States he traces his lifelong project of creating a unified Buddhist world recovering the place of the Buddha's Enlightenment and imitating the Buddha's life course The result is a needed corrective to Dharmapala's embattled legacy one that resituates Sri Lanka's political awakening within the religious one that was Dharmapala's life project

Nation and the Writing of History in China and Britain, 1880-1930 Asier Hernández Aguirresarobe, 2022-08-19 Nation and the Writing of History in China and Britain explores through a comparative approach the reception of the nationalist worldview and its effects on the practice of history in China and Britain This book proposes that nationalism rather than a political doctrine is a way of making sense of the world which results from the combination of a set of definite assumptions The work analyzes how each one of these premises was accepted and negotiated by literati intellectuals historians and other scholars in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries The results of this research showcase how the reception of the new nationalist worldview crucially affected images of the past the present and the future in both societies and decisively framed cultural social and political debate In addition they likewise evidence the fundamental role that historical narratives play in the crystallization of national identities This book is perfect for readers interested in China and Britain during this time period but also to anyone attracted to new ways of conceiving nationalism and its role in our world

Empire to Nation Joseph W. Esherick, Eric Van Young, Hasan Kayali, 2006-05-04 The fall of empires and the rise of nation states was a defining political transition in the making of the modern world As United States imperialism becomes a popular focus of debate we must understand how empire the nineteenth century's dominant form of large scale political organization had disappeared by the end of the twentieth century Here ten prominent specialists discuss the empire to nation transition in comparative perspective Chapters on Latin America the Middle East Eastern Europe Russia and China illustrate both the common features and the diversity of the transition Questioning the sharpness of the break implied by the empire nation binary the contributors explore the many ways in which empires were often nation like and nations behaved imperially While previous studies have focused on the rise and fall of empires or on nationalism and the process of nation building this intriguing volume concentrates on the empire to nation transition itself Understanding this transition allows us to better interpret the contemporary political order and new forms of global hegemony

Focus: Music, Nationalism, and the Making of the New Europe Philip V. Bohlman, 2010-09-13 Two decades after the fall of communism in Eastern Europe and one decade into the twenty first century European music remains one of the most powerful forces for shaping nationalism Using intensive fieldwork throughout Europe from participation in alpine foot pilgrimages to studies of the grandest music spectacle anywhere in the world the Eurovision Song Contest Philip V Bohlman reveals the ways in which music and nationalism intersect in the shaping of the New Europe Focus Music Nationalism and the Making of the New Europe begins with the emergence of the European nation state in the Middle Ages and extends across long periods during which Europe's nations used music to compete for land and language and to expand the colonial reach of Europe to the entire world Bohlman contrasts the national and the nationalist in music examining the ways in which their impact on society can be positive and negative beneficial for European cultural policy and dangerous in times when many European borders are more fragile than ever The New Europe of the twenty first century is more varied more complex and more politically volatile than ever and its music resonates fully with these transformations
