Dialogical Argumentation and Reasoning in Elementary Science Classrooms Mijung Kim, Wolff-Michael Roth, 2018-11-01 Science educators have come to recognize children's reasoning and problem solving skills as crucial ingredients of scientific literacy As a consequence there has been a concurrent widespread emphasis on argumentation as a way of developing critical and creative minds Argumentation has been of increasing interest in science education as a means of actively involving students in science and thereby as a means of promoting their learning reasoning and problem solving Many approaches to teaching argumentation place primacy on teaching the structure of the argumentative genre prior to and at the beginning of participating in argumentation Such an approach however is unlikely to succeed because to meaningfully learn the structure grammar of argumentation one already needs to be competent in argumentation This book offers a different approach to children's argumentation and reasoning based on dialogical relations as the origin of internal dialogue inner speech and higher psychological functions In this approach argumentation first exists as dialogical relation for participants who are in a dialogical relation with others and who employ argumentation for the purpose of the dialogical relation With the multimodality of dialogue this approach expands argumentation into another level of physicality of thinking reasoning and problem solving in classrooms By using empirical data from elementary classrooms this book explains how argumentation emerges and develops in and from classroom interactions by focusing on thinking and reasoning through in relations with others and the learning environment

Systematic Approaches to Argument by Analogy Henrique Jales Ribeiro, 2014-07-09
The present volume assembles a relevant set of studies of argument by analogy which address this topic in a systematic fashion either from an essentially theoretical perspective or from the perspective of it being applied to different fields like politics linguistics literature law medicine science in general and philosophy
All result from original research conducted by their authors for this publication
Thus broadly speaking this is an exception which we find worthy of occupying a special place in the sphere of the bibliography on the argument by analogy
In effect most of the contexts of the publications on this topic focus on specific areas for example everyday discourse science or law theory while underestimating or sometimes even ignoring other interdisciplinary scopes as is the case of literature medicine or philosophy
The idiosyncrasy of this volume is that the reader and the researcher may follow the development of different theoretical outlooks on argument by analogy while measuring the scope of its greater or lesser application to the aforementioned areas as a whole
