Research In Economic Anthropology A Research Annual Volume 10 1988:

Beyond the Green Myth Peter G. Sercombe, Bernard Sellato, 2008-03-18 Borneo with its tales of White Rajahs and tribes of headhunters has long excited the Western imagination Today however there is another green imagination at work Mention of the island is more likely to evoke images of tropical deforestation and concern about the cruel dispossession and displacement of indigenous peoples who once lived in relative harmony with their environment It is perhaps not suprising then that most books dealing with the nomadic hunter gatherers of Borneo have principally been pictorial studies There is indeed a dearth of scholarship regarding these peoples a situation that this first ever comprehensive review of nomadic groups in the Borneo rain forest aims to rectify Presenting a wealth of new research contributed by an international team of scholars the volume covers all of those parts of Borneo where nomads called Penan Punan or by various other names are or were known to exist and provides a comparative historical ecological study of these groups The study is primarily concerned with issues of modernization including the monetary economy formalized institutions centralized power structures contractual relationships and extraction activities and development policies The impact of these policies is analyzed with special regard to the natural environment inhabited by these small scale societies as well as the use of its resources The book has no stiff theoretical orientation but informs ongoing debates about changing forms of ethnicity relations between minorities and the state minorities rights and survival native discourse the sustainability of tropical forest use and the neo romantic environmentalist myth of so called wise traditional peoples Index of Conference Proceedings ,1993

Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 1996-06 The End of Tradition? Nezar AlSayyad, 2004 Rooted in real world observations this book questions the concept of tradition In his introduction Nezar AlSayyad discusses the meanings of the word tradition and the current debates about the end of tradition Thereafter the book is divided into three parts The Economics of Ecosystems and Biodiversity: Ecological and Economic Foundations Pushpam Kumar, 2012-12-20 Human well being relies critically on ecosystem services provided by nature Examples include water and air quality regulation nutrient cycling and decomposition plant pollination and flood control all of which are dependent on biodiversity They are predominantly public goods with limited or no markets and do not command any price in the conventional economic system so their loss is often not detected and continues unaddressed and unabated This in turn not only impacts human well being but also seriously undermines the sustainability of the economic system It is against this background that TEEB The Economics of Ecosystems and Biodiversity project was set up in 2007 and led by the United Nations Environment Programme to provide a comprehensive global assessment of economic aspects of these issues This book written by a team of international experts represents the scientific state of the art providing a comprehensive assessment of the fundamental ecological and economic principles of measuring and valuing ecosystem services and biodiversity and showing how these can be mainstreamed into public policies This volume and subsequent TEEB outputs will provide the authoritative knowledge and guidance to drive forward the biodiversity conservation agenda for the next decade A Sense of Belonging Stephen Friend, 2022-03-10 Exploring the relationship between identity and religion in British Fishing Communities during the 19th and early 20th centuries this volume focuses on three communities in the UK Scarborough Filey and Grimsby The study offers a brief overview of the development of these communities and outlines the nature of the relationship between institutionalised and popular religion It explores religion as a range of discourses or narratives that provide us with a way of viewing this matrix of meaning that has had a significant influence on the construction and maintenance of identity It also examines the role of ritual and performance both of which have been shown to play an important part in the daily lives of community members not least in helping to provide and reinforce a sense of security stability and belonging

Anthropology Newsletter ,1988 Settlements, Kinship and Hunting Grounds in Traditional Greenland Robert Petersen, 2003 HIV/AIDS and the Social Consequences of Untamed Biomedicine Graham Fordham, 2014-11-13 Drawing on the case of HIV AIDS in Thailand this book examines how anthropological and other interpretative social science research has been utilized in modeling the AIDS epidemic and in the design and implementation of interventions It argues that much social science research has been complicit with the forces that generated the epidemic and with the social control agendas of the state and that as such it has increased the weight of structural violence bearing upon the afflicted The book also questions claims of Thai AIDS control success arguing that these can only be made at the cost of excluding categories such as intravenous drug users the incarcerated and homosexuals who continue to experience extraordinarily high levels of levels of HIV infection Considered deviant and undeserving these persons have deliberately been excluded from harm reduction programs Overall this work argues for the untapped potential of anthropological research in the health field a confident anthropology rooted in ethnography and a critical reflexivity Crucially it argues that in context of interdisciplinary collaborations anthropological research must refuse relegation to the status of an adjunct discipline and must be free epistemologically and methodologically from the universalizing assumptions and practices of biomedicine An Economic Philosophy of Production, Work and Consumption Rodney Edvinsson, 2022-08-01 An Economic Philosophy of Production Work and Consumption presents a new transhistorical framework of defining production work and consumption It shows that they all share the common feature of intentional physical transformation of something external to the agent at some point in time The book opens with a discussion of various theoretical traditions within economics spanning mainstream and heterodox perspectives and problems with production definitions in use today Next the author outlines various definitions in a more formal manner and provides a discussion on measurement and the production boundary Unproductive work is redefined as socially reproductive i e such that would not be performed on a Robinson Crusoe Island Finally the volume applies the new conceptual framework to various historical cases and discusses the future of production work and consumption This essential volume will be of interest to scholars of economic philosophy and methodology the history of economic thought economic
