Salinity Crisis Landscapes Communities And Politics:

The Salinity Crisis Quentin Beresford, 2001 Focuses on dryland salinity in W A s wheatbelt

Irrigation, Salinity, and Rural Communities in Australia's Murray-Darling Basin, 1945-2020 Daniel Rothenburg, 2023-01-13 This book explores the issue of salinization in the context of contemporary conflicts about irrigation water and the environment in Australia considering the Murray Darling Basin in particular It provides an environmental and social history charting the transformation of rural communities in the basin through the salinization of soils and water Focusing on the Goulburn Murray Irrigation district in the southwest of the Murray Darling basin the largest irrigation district in Australia it explores the history of state directed large scale engineering in the district where the environment has been altered dramatically to facilitate white agricultural settlement inland Changes to the landscape led to extensive salinization however a significant environmental threat in Australia This book traces the impact of these changes on rural communities taking a bottom up approach highlighting the connections between environmental social and political change It provides an important reflection on the importance of environmental history for facing the challenges posed by anthropogenic climate change

Water Politics in the Murray-Darling Basin Daniel Connell, 2007 In January 2007 the Australian Prime Minister John Howard announced a 10 billion plan to reform rural water management Most of the effort will focus on the Murray Darling Basin In this book Daniel Connell explains why there is a crisis in the Murray Darling He highlights the disastrous consequences of a century of fitful reluctant co operation between the six governments responsible for the region Connell argues that a new institutional system is essential but a Commonwealth takeover is not the best answer Instead the Commonwealth government should use its constitutional and financial power to force the States to adopt national policies and stick to them whatever the local politics The States would continue to play a substantial role but the controls would be tighter the framework more comprehensive He also shows how the National Water Initiative the great blueprint for water reform has stalled with many of its most important recommendations ignored So far the public debate about the future of the Murray Darling Basin has concentrated on new technical projects and increased water trading Connell argues that unless institutional change is given priority hundreds of millions of dollars of annual investment will be frittered away and the crisis will continue

Handbook of Engineering Hydrology (Three-Volume Set) Saeid Eslamian, 2018-10-03 While most books examine only the classical aspects of hydrology this three volume set covers multiple aspects of hydrology and includes contributions from experts from more than 30 countries It examines new approaches addresses growing concerns about hydrological and ecological connectivity and considers the worldwide impact of climate change

Green Urbanism Down Under Timothy Beatley, Peter Newman, 2012-09-26 In this immensely practical book Timothy Beatley sets out to answer a simple question what can Americans learn from Australians about greening city life Green Urbanism Down Under reports on the current state of sustainability practice in Australia and the many lessons that U S residents can learn from the best Australian programs and initiatives Australia is similar to the United States in many ways especially in its energy footprint For example Australia's per capita greenhouse gas emissions are second only to those of the United States A similar percentage of its residents live in cities 85 percent in Australia vs 80 percent in the United States And it suffers from parallel problems of air and water pollution a national dependence on automobiles and high fossil fuel consumption Still after traveling throughout Australia Beatley finds that there are myriad creative responses to these problems and that they offer instructive examples for the United States Green Urbanism Down Under is a very readable collection of solutions Although many of these innovative solutions are little known outside Australia they all present practical possibilities for U S cities Beatley describes green transport projects city farms renewable energy plans green living programs and much more He considers a host of public policy initiatives and scrutinizes regional and state planning efforts for answers In closing he shares his impressions about how Australian results might be applied to U S problems This is a unique book hopeful constructive and filled with ideas that have been proven to work It is a must read for anyone who cares about the future of American cities Organic Agriculture in the Tropics and Subtropics Christian Hülsebusch,2007 Soil Science: Agricultural and Environmental Prospectives Khalid Rehman Hakeem,Javaid Akhtar,Muhammad Sabir,2016-08-01 Soil is the most important natural non renewable resource developed over a longer period of time due to weathering of rocks and subsequently enrichment of organic matter Soil provides habitat for numerous microorganisms and serves as a natural medium for plant growth thereby providing the plants with anchorage nutrients and water to sustain the growth Soil also serves as a universal sink for all types of pollutants purifies ground water and is a major reserve of carbon in the universe The role of soils to provide ecosystem services maintenance of environmental human health and ensuring the food security makes it as the most important and basic natural resource Soil Science helps us to elaborate and understand how the soils provide all these services Soil Science also provides us the basic knowledge dealing with the origin of the soil parent material weathering of parent material and the formation of soils morphological physico chemical and biological features of soils classification of soils and role of soils in the provision and maintenance of ecosystem services food security and environmental quality This book encompasses the various processes functions and behaviour of soils very comprehensively to acquaint the students of soil plant and environmental sciences about their role to perform different agricultural and environmental functions Developing Australia's Regions Andrew Beer,Alaric Maude,Bill Pritchard,2003 This is a book that recognises that regions matter what takes place in our diverse regions fundamentally determines the nation's quality of life It delves behind the headlines and speeches and considers the true state of Australia's metropolitan and non metropolitan regions and what can be done to improve their economic social and environmental wellbeing This practical book draws upon regional development theory and national and international experience to set out the principles and strategies that can be used to establish a stronger future for our regions back cover Climate, Science, and Colonization Emily O'Gorman,Matthew Henry,2014-09-17 Offering new historical understandings of human responses to climate and climate change this cutting edge volume explores the dynamic relationship between settlement climate and colonization covering everything from the physical impact of climate on agriculture and land development to the development of folk and government meteorologies

The Memory of Trees Viki Cramer, 2023-06-27 Most Australians see their world through eucalypts From towering forests to straggly woodlands in city parks by the coast and in the bush these are the trees that inhabit our familiar landscapes and national psyche Yet the resilience of our eucalypt ecosystems is being tested by logging and land clearing disease and drought fire and climate change In many places they are a faded remnant of those known by past generations How important is the memory of these trees In search of answers Viki Cramer takes us on a journey through the richest botanical corner of the continent exploring forests of rugged jarrah and majestic karri woodlands of enduring salmon gum and burnished bark gimlet Spending time with the people caring for these precious places she interrogates the decisions of the past takes a measure of the present and glimpses hope for the landscapes of tomorrow The Memory of Trees will make you look anew at the trees and environments that sustain us and show the many ways that together we can ensure their future

Biological Diversity L. N. Petrov, 2003 One of the cornerstones of life s wonders is the vast array of species filling the planet From plants to animals to humans there is no shortage of beings to provide spice of life variety is said to be Periodically scientists announce the discovery of a new form of life so it seems as if Earth is capable of producing new species just to keep us on our toes At times the immense breadth of living things can even feel overwhelming as one pauses to ponder how numerically insignificant humans are when compared to the insect population Given the biological diversity of the planet it is incumbent upon humans to safeguard the natural beauty of the environment To that end conservation takes on special importance necessitating the balancing of industrial expansion with preserving the flora and fauna surrounding us This book is an important tool in understanding and researching the many different life forms spanning the globe Collected here is a substantial and carefully selected listing of relevant literature on biological diversity and its conservation Following this bibliography are author title and subject indexes to allow for further access to this information The sheer bulk of the works about biological diversity can be so intimidating that a book such as this one becomes useful in sorting through the resources about the importance of life's variety Wild Forestry Alan Drengson, Duncan Taylor, 2008-10-01 In this groundbreaking anthology the author offers new hope for those who love trees and forests These essays are by leading experts This work draws on the knowledge of indigenous people and the traditional role that forests and trees have played in their lives It shows that sustainable forestry and conservation is possible The authors also cover the role of trees in global warming BellaOnline Connie Krochmal There is an emerging revolution in wild forest relationships Wild forestry has evolved from ecoforestry going far beyond merely having a minimum impact on the world to sustaining and promoting forest health along with biological and cultural diversity Wild forestry promotes the responsible use of forests connects indigenous knowledge systems and unites a great variety of local practices tailored to unique forests around the world Prize winning experts dedicated to reconciliation in human wild forest relationships have contributed their stories to this comprehensive in depth anthology The authors give accounts of how wild forestry is being practiced around the world with such diverse activities as Wild farming Wild crafting Adventure therapy Restoration Permaculture Ecosystem restoration Education Wild Forestry is presented in eight thematic sections that discuss topics as varied as tree meditation wild humans and ecophobia Case studies from the Amazon Australia Norway and Thailand illustrate how wild forestry principles are adapted to different cultures and how emerging practices are fusing ancient knowledge systems with contemporary ecological studies Wild Forestry is a fascinating and informative walk in the woods for everyone concerned about biodiversity ancient forests indigenous cultures and endangered species Alan Drengson is professor emeritus of philosophy at the University of Victoria an author and one of the founders of the Ecoforestry Institute Duncan Taylor is an assistant professor of environmental studies at the University of Victoria the founder of Earth Day Canada and an author Drengson and Taylor are co editors of Ecoforestry The Art and Science of Sustainable Forest Use New Society Publishers

The SAGE Handbook of Social Anthropology Richard Fardon, Oliva Harris, Trevor H J Marchand, Cris Shore, Veronica Strang, Richard Wilson, Mark Nuttall, 2012-07-25 In two volumes the SAGE Handbook of Social Anthropology provides the definitive overview of contemporary research in the discipline It explains the what where and how of current and anticipated work in Social Anthropology With 80 authors contributing more than 60 chapters this is the most comprehensive and up to date statement of research in Social Anthropology available and the essential point of departure for future projects The Handbook is divided into four sections Part I Interfaces examines Social Anthropology's disciplinary connections from Art and Literature to Politics and Economics from Linguistics to Biomedicine from History to Media Studies Part II Places examines place region culture and history from regional area studies to a globalized world Part III Methods examines issues of method from archives to war zones from development projects to art objects and from ethics to comparison Part IV Futures anticipates anthropologies to come in the Brain Sciences in post Development in the Body and Health and in new Technologies and Materialities Edited by the leading figures in social anthropology the Handbook includes a substantive

introduction by Richard Fardon a think piece by Jean and John Comaroff and a concluding last word on futures by Marilyn Strathern The authors each at the leading edge of the discipline contribute in depth chapters on both the foundational ideas and the latest research Comprehensive and detailed this magisterial Handbook overviews the last 25 years of the social anthropological imagination It will speak to scholars in Social Anthropology and its many related disciplines Australia, New Zealand, and the Pacific Donald S. Garden, 2005-08-19 A fascinating study of the environmental history of Australia New Zealand and the islands of the Pacific from the time of the dinosaurs to the present day Of interest to students and academics alike this book provides a much needed synthesis of the recent literature on the environmental history of Australia and Oceania Part of ABC CLIO's Nature and Human Societies series this book maps out the key trends in the region's environmental history charting the creation of the Australian continent from the ancient land mass of Gondwanaland to the arrival of humans Especially fascinating are the chapters highlighting how successive waves of human migration created environmental havoc throughout the region leading to the collapse of the Easter Island civilization and the spread of nonindigenous flora and fauna From the controversies over the reasons why creatures such as the marsupial lion and the giant kangaroo became extinct to such contemporary problems as deforestation and global warming this book contains sobering lessons for us all Disasters that Changed Australia Richard Evans, 2009 From natural phenomenon such as Cyclone Tracy and the Ash Wednesday and Black Friday fires to key moments in our military history such as Flanders in 1917 and the fall of Singapore this is an essential guide to understanding the people the ideas and the events that defined the course of Australia's history Agroforestry for Natural Resource Management Ian Nuberg, Brendan George, Rowan Reid, 2009-05-18 In its early days agroforestry may have been viewed as the domain of the landcare enthusiast Today integrating trees and shrubs into productive farming systems is seen as a core principle of sustainable agriculture Agroforestry for Natural Resource Management provides the foundation for an understanding of agroforestry practice in both high and low rainfall zones across Australia Three major areas are discussed environmental functions of trees in the landscape ecosystem mimicry hydrology protection of crops animals and soil biodiversity aesthetics productive functions of trees timber firewood pulp fodder integrated multi products and the implementation of agroforestry design evaluation establishment adoption policy support The book also includes a DVD that features videos on forest measurement and harvesting a Farm Forestry Toolbox and many regionally specific agroforestry resources Written by leading researchers and practitioners from around Australia Agroforestry for Natural Resource Management will be an essential resource for students in agroforestry courses as well as a valuable introduction to the field for professionals in related areas Sustainability and Change in Rural Australia Chris Cocklin, Jacqui Dibden, 2005 By addressing themes such as social and economic change government policy and gender relations this volume tackles the thematic complexities of sustainability It attempts to understand how small rural communities have survived in the past what factors shaped them and how these factors will impact on their future survival Plant Abiotic Stress Tolerance Mirza Hasanuzzaman, Khalid Rehman Hakeem, Kamrun Nahar, Hesham F. Alharby, 2019-04-04 Plants have to manage a series of environmental stresses throughout their entire lifespan. Among these abiotic stresses is the most detrimental one that is responsible for nearly 50% of crop yield reduction and appears to be a potential threat to global food security in coming decades. Plant growth and development reduces drastically due to adverse effects of abiotic stresses. It has been estimated that crops can exhibit only 30% of their genetic potentiality under abiotic stress conditions. So this is a fundamental need to understand the stress responses to facilitate breeders to develop stress resistant and stress tolerant cultivars along with good management practices to withstand abiotic stresses. Also a holistic approach to understanding the molecular and biochemical interactions of plants is important to implement the knowledge of resistance mechanisms under abiotic stresses. Agronomic practices like selecting cultivars that are tolerant to a wide range of climatic conditions, planting date, irrigation scheduling, fertilizer management could be some of the effective short term adaptive tools to fight against abiotic stresses. In addition, systems biology and omics approaches in recent studies offer a long term opportunity at the molecular level in dealing with abiotic stresses. The genetic approach, for example, selection and identification of major conditioning genes by linkage mapping and quantitative trait loci (QTL) production of mutant genes and transgenic introduction of novel genes has imparted some tolerant characteristics in crop varieties from their wild ancestors. Recently, research has revealed the interactions between micro RNAs (miRNAs) and plant stress responses exposed to salinity, freezing stress, and dehydration. Accordingly, transgenic approaches to generate stress tolerant plants are one of the most interesting researches to date. This book presents the recent development of agronomic and molecular approaches in conferring plant abiotic stress tolerance in an organized way. The present volume will be of great interest among research students and teaching community and can also be used as reference material by professional researchers.
