Losing It All To Sprawl How Progress Ate My Cracker Landscape:

Losing It All to Sprawl Bill Belleville, 2006-03-27 Losing It All to Sprawl is the poignant chronicle of award winning nature writer Bill Belleville and how he came to understand and love his historic Cracker farmhouse and relic neighborhood in central Florida even as it was all wiped out from under him Belleville's narrative is eloquent informed and impassioned a saga in which tractors and backhoes trample through the woods next to his home in order to build the backbone of Florida sprawl the mall As heavy machinery encircles Belleville and his community the noise growing louder and closer displacing everything Belleville has called home for the past fifteen years he tells a story that is much older 10 000 years older The story stretches back to the Timucua and the Mayaca living in harmony with Florida's environment the conquistadors who expected much from but also feared this land of flowers the turn of the century tourists modernizing and climatizing the state the original Cracker families who lived in Belleville's farmhouse In stark contrast to this millennia long transformation is the whiplash of unbridled growth and development that threatens the nearby wilderness of the Wekiva River system consuming Belleville's home and ultimately his very sense of place In Florida one of the nation's fastest growing states and where local and state governments encourage growth balancing use with preservation is an uphill battle Sprawl spreads into the countryside consuming not just natural lands but Old Florida neighborhoods and their unique history In Losing It All to Sprawl Belleville accounts for the impacts social political natural personal that a community in the crosshairs of unsustainable growth ultimately must bear but he also offers Floridians and anyone facing the blight of urban confusion the hope that can be found in the rediscovery and appreciation of the natural landscape Backcountry Lawman Bob H. Lee, 2013-03-12 With thirty years of backcountry patrol experience in Florida Bob Lee has lived through incidents of legend including one of the biggest environmental busts in Florida history His fascinating memoir reveals the danger and the humor in the unsung exploits of game wardens Nature's Writers Donald S. Clark, 2024-09-03 A photographic celebration of the landscapes that have influenced some of America's most important nature writers from John Muir to Terry Tempest Williams to Barbara Kingsolver Since 2019 Donald S. Clark has documented the places that have been instrumental in influencing the lives and words of both historic and contemporary nature and environmental writers throughout the United States While we have always felt their passionate connection to their own environments no book has ever made this visual connection between writers and their land before the relationship between prose and place Featuring more than 40 of America's most important writers the content is as far reaching as America itself from sea to shining sea forest to prairie and mountain to coastline Accompanying each gallery of stunning photography is a selected excerpt by the writer about their land With the increasingly noticeable effects of climate change the significance of these writers and their personal connections to the environment is even more timely This unique and compelling story of the land and how it has inspired some of our greatest poets and authors will make a wonderful gift for budding environmentalists students of nature writing or anyone interested

Braddock, Christoph Irmscher, 2009 A landmark collection of essays on the intersections of visual art cultural studies and environmental history in America Issues of ecology both as they appear in the works of nature writers and in the works of literary writers for whom place and the land are central issues have long been of interest to literary critics and have given rise over the last two decades to the now firmly established field of ecocriticism The essays in this volume written by art historians and literary critics seek to bring the study of American art into the expanding discourse of ecocriticism A Keener Perception offers a series of case studies on topics ranging from John White's watercolors of the Carolina landscape executed during Sir Walter Raleigh's 1585 Roanoke expedition to photographs by environmental activist Eliot Porter Rather than merely resurrect past instances of ecologically attuned art this volume features essays that resituate many canonical figures such as Thomas Eakins Aaron Douglas and Thomas Cole in an ecocritical light by which they have yet to be viewed Studying such artists and artworks through an ecocritical lens not only provides a better understanding of these works and the American landscape but also brings a new interpretive paradigm to the field of art history a field that many of these critics believe would do well to embrace environmental concerns as a vital area of research In highlighting the work of scholars who bring ecological agendas to their study of American art as well as providing models for literary scholars who might like to better incorporate the visual arts into their own scholarship and teaching A Keener Perception is truly a landmark collection timely consequential and controversial

Ditch of Dreams Steven Noll, David Tegeder, 2009 Traces the long standing effort to build a canal across Florida The book reveals much about competing visions of progress economic growth and environmental preservation in the fragile ecosystem of Florida as well as the ins and outs of politics influence and power in the Sunshine State The history of the canal is not just a story of Florida's past but a compelling lesson for its future Choice, 2006
