Sindias and the Raj Amar Farooqui,2011 Sindias and the Raj is a study of the Sindia state of Gwalior during the colonial period It traces the history of one of the leading princely states of the British Indian empire from its first major military encounter with the British at the beginning of the century to the eve of the Revolt of 1857 In doing so the book explores the fascinating factional conflicts at the Gwalior durbar and the connections these had with the politics of the powerful Sindia army It argues that the colonial subjugation of Gwalior was a long drawn process spread over nearly five decades and was not sufficiently achieved until the late 1850s certainly not in 1818 as is often assumed by standard histories of the state This resistance was largely due to the very strong tradition in the Gwalior territories of opposition to colonial intervention as seen in a series of popular uprisings during the first half of the century culminating in the events of 1857 58 The tradition was reinforced by the assertiveness vis a vis the East India Company of the dominant section of its ruling class which drew strength from a formidable fighting force comprising soldiers who upheld the legacy of the fierce turn of the century Anglo Maratha military conflict and which was sustained by a resilient economy that profited immensely from opium smuggling These are all linkages that have hitherto remained unexplored Sindias and the Raj also examines the political economy of princely Gwalior while paying close attention to the responses of various classes in the state to colonial intervention responses ranging from outright collaboration to armed conflict It also attempts a reappraisal of several facets of the history of Malwa in the colonial period including the history of the Pindaris and the trade in Malwa opium
