Genes, Women, Equality Mary Briody Mahowald, 1999-10-14 Genetics is not gender neutral in its impact Mahowald cites a wide range of biological and psychosocial examples that reveal its different impact on men and women especially with regard to reproduction and caregiving She examines the extent to which these differences are associated with gender injustice arguing for positions that reduce inequality between the sexes The critical perspective Mahowald brings to this analysis is an egalitarian interpretation of feminism that demands attention to inequalities arising from racism ethnocentrism ableism and classism as well as sexism Eschewing a notion of equality as sameness Mahowald defines equality as attribution of the same value to different objects Gender justice she claims imputes the same value to men and women despite their differences It can only be maximized by practical efforts to equalize the burdens and benefits associated with genetics The topics considered include participation in research allocation of genetic services cultural difference sex selection misattributed paternity prenatal and preimplantation diagnosis carrier testing genetic interventions genetic disabilities preferences for genetic ties to offspring genetic susceptibility to late onset disorders behavioral genetics genetic discrimination in employment and insurance and human cloning Cases both real and concocted are used to illustrate the questions addressed Ourselves Unborn Sara and practitioners working in this complex field The Impossibility of Motherhood Patrice DiQuinzio, 1999-09-13 An adequate analysis of experiences and situations specific to women especially mothering requires consideration of women s difference A focus on women s difference however jeopardizes feminism s claims of women s equal individualist subjectivity and risks recuperating the inequality and oppression of women especially the view that all women should be mothers want to be mothers and are most happy being mothers This book considers how thinkers including Simone de Beauvoir Julia Kristeva Nancy Choderow and Adrienne Rich struggle to negotiate this dilemma of difference in analyzing mothering encompassing the paradoxes concerning embodiment gender and representation they encounter Patrice Di Quinzio shows that mothering has been and will continue to be an intractable problem for feminist theory itself and suggests the political usefulness of an explicitly paradoxical politics of mothering The Ethics of Care Virginia Held, 2006 The author assesses the ethics of care as a promising alternative to the familiar moral theories that serve so inadequately to guide our lives Held examines what we
