Reproducing The Womb Images Of Childbirth In Science Feminist Theory And Literature:

Reproducing the Womb Alice Elaine Adams, 1994 Alice E Adams crafts a subtle new response to the controversies surrounding reproductive freedom and the implications of medical technology She explores a spectrum of competing visions of childbearing from misogynistic nightmares of matriarchal control to feminist utopias Firmly rooted in political reality Adams offers innovative answers to the questions posed by the intimate interconnections and the perceived conflicts between fetus and mother individual and collective The Other Machine Dion Farquhar, 2014-04-23 With technological advances in reproduction no longer confined to the laboratory or involving only the isolated individual women and men are increasingly resorting to a variety of technologies unheard of a few decades ago to assist them in becoming parents The public at large and feminists as a group are confused and divided over how to view these technologies and over what positions to take on the moral and legal dilemmas they give rise to Farquhar argues that two perspectives have tended to dominate feminist discussions of these issues She labels these fundamental feminism and market liberalism By linking a theoretical approach with a practical set of issues Farquhar's The Other Machine provides a rigorous analysis of contemporary feminist debates

Glick,2018-10-18 In Infrahumanisms Megan H Glick considers how conversations surrounding nonhuman life have impacted a broad range of attitudes toward forms of human difference such as race sexuality and health She examines the history of human and nonhuman subjectivity as told through twentieth century scientific and cultural discourses that include pediatrics primatology eugenics exobiology and obesity research Outlining how the category of the human is continuously redefined in relation to the infrahuman a liminal position of speciation existing between the human and the nonhuman Glick reads a number of phenomena from early twentieth century efforts to define children and higher order primates as liminally human and the postwar cultural fascination with extraterrestrial life to anxieties over AIDS SARS and other cross species diseases In these cases the efforts to define a universal humanity create the means with which to reinforce notions of human difference and maintain human nonhuman hierarchies In foregrounding how evolving definitions of the human reflect shifting attitudes about social inequality Glick shows how the consideration of nonhuman subjectivities demands a rethinking of long held truths about biological meaning and difference

Giving Birth in Canada, 1900-1950 Wendy Mitchinson, 2002-01-01 A fascinating account of childbirth rituals in the first half of the twentieth century from the initial diagnosis of pregnancy through childbirth who was present and where it took place to the definition of what constituted a normal birth

Birth Passages Theresa M. Krier, 2001 Birth Passages offers a provocative and eloquent challenge to the nostalgia for the maternal sometimes influenced by classic Freudian theory which pervades many discourses Theresa M Krier suggests an alternative to the common characterizations of the maternal as a force inspiring both desire and dread a force that must be repressed if subjectivity and culture are to be established Instead drawing on the work of Melanie Klein D W Winnicott and Luce Irigaray Krier seeks to establish a new model of the relationship between mother and infant one in which birth is seen not as the tragic ending to the prenatal union but rather as the child's claiming both distance from and proximity to this parent Krier's insightful readings of poetic works from antiquity the Middle Ages and the Renaissance show these texts in opposition to their cultures insistent nostalgia for the maternal Their authors she maintains recognize such longing as a symptom of a glamorous but false and disabling fantasy In her analysis of the Song of Songs Lucretius's De rerum natura Chaucer's Parlement of Foules Spenser's Amoretti and Faerie Queene and Shakespeare's Love's Labor's Lost and The Winter's Tale Krier details how the writings represent the intersubjective nature of birth
